

KENTUCKY DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

DIVISION OF EQUITY

Resource Center Directory

© Kentucky Department of Education
Division of Equity
1999

Karen Simms, Division Director
500 Mero Street, 16th Floor
Frankfort, Kentucky 40601

Written & Compiled by: Jean McComb
Edited by: Pam Rogers and Monica Murphy
Phone 502-564-2703 • Fax 502-564-2039 www.kde.state.ky.us/ohre/equity

Printed with State Funds

The Kentucky Department of Education does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, religion, age or disability in employment or the provisions of services.

CD ROM's

Call No. CD.0100.1

Title: Partners for Learning: Preparing Teachers to Involve Families

Author: Partnership for Family Involvement in Education

Keywords: parent involvement family community program administrator teacher professional development in service teacher preparation assistance district local school

Target Audience: District and School Teachers and Administrators

Abstract: This disk contains presentation materials on educator preparation for family involvement in education that include: speaker's notes and overheads in Microsoft PowerPoint 7.0, a QuickTime video clip from a teleconference hosted by Vice President Al Gore and U.S. Secretary of Education Richard W. Riley, and an HTML publication with examples of effective practice. These materials include work done by Teachers College Columbia University under contract to the US Dept. of Education.

Chapter 1 - Bibliographies and Catalogs

Title: 1999 Arts Resource Directory: Arts Education

Showcases

Author: Kentucky Center for the Arts

Keywords: kentucky artist directory resources

Target Audience: Teachers, Districts, Counselors, Parents and Communities

Abstract: This directory showcases artists available to work in the schools in Kentucky. It outlines their medium, contract fees, facility requirements and contact information.

Call No: BC.301.1

Title: Diversity Directory

Author: The Humanitarium Center for Culture and Diversity

Keywords: organizations directory catalog multiculturalism honor heritage diverse communities fayette county bluegrass lexington community involvement network resources culturally diverse

Target Audience: All of the General Population

Abstract: The Humanitarium Center for Culture and Diversity provides this September, 2000 issue of the Diversity Directory for the Bluegrass Region. This comprehensive resource provides the reader with information such as name, telephone #, fax #, address, website and a brief synopsis of organizations that promote multiculturalism and honor the rich heritage of Fayette County. This is a wonderful and up-to-date guide for locating organizations that represent community efforts in Fayette County. Educators attempting to get community involvement and input for diverse projects may want to look at this guide in order to get ideas for community contacts throughout the state. Fayette County educators will find this helpful as a map toward locating diverse community groups.

Title: Educational Programs That Work : The Catalogue of the National Diffusion Network

Author: National Diffusion Network

Keywords: education programs strategies projects approaches intervention enrichment math administration reform

Target Audience: District Administrators

Abstract: This document is a community workbook about the St. Paul public schools. It reviews certain needs of the schools, both immediate and long range. It also presents alternative ways of meeting those needs. The purpose of the publication is to help the community participate in making decisions. It is useful as a model for district wide change.

Title: Belle Case La Follette, 1859–1931: A Resource Guide

Author: Riley, Jocelyn

Keywords: women writers language arts history literature social studies government woman

Target Audience: Primary Students and Teachers

Abstract: This publication is designed for use by general readers, program presenters and classroom teachers. Two profiles; one written in 1924 and one written in our own time, introduce the reader to Belle Case La Follette and give a context for her work. Discussion questions follow all sections. The series of resource guides includes Mountain Wolf Woman, Votes for Women, Pioneer Women's Diaries, and Zona Gale: Her Life and Writings and may be borrowed individually or as a set.

Title: Bridges and Boundaries : African Americans and American Jews

Author: The Jewish Museum New York

Keywords: african american cultural identity lesson plans curriculum units of study social studies jewish jews blacks religion resource guide human rights civil rights holocaust history persecution oppression division

Target Audience: High School Students and Teachers

Abstract:: This resource guide enables educators who were unable to bring their students to the Jewish Museum in New York's exhibit of Bridges and Boundaries, to address in the classroom stereotyping, discrimination and prejudice, using a format similar to that of the exhibit. The guide contains introductory essays that have been excerpted from presentations made to teachers at the museum and are applicable to any multicultural learning experience. It also includes lesson plans with objectives, historical background, procedure information, visual literacy information, follow-up activities, student handouts, questions for discussion, student build bridges projects and resources for further investigation. This is an excellent high school curriculum piece and may be adapted for other grade levels.

Tit

CD ROM's

Call No. CD.0100.1

Title: Partners for Learning: Preparing Teachers to Involve Families

Author: Partnership for Family Involvement in Education

Keywords: parent involvement family community program administrator teacher professional development in service teacher preparation assistance district local school

Target Audience: District and School Teachers and Administrators

Abstract: This disk contains presentation materials on educator preparation for family involvement in education that include: speaker's notes and overheads in Microsoft PowerPoint 7.0, a QuickTime

literacy mentoring intergenerational extended school services community programs even start plan

Target Audience: All Ages of the General Public

Abstract: This National Diffusion Network resource was compiled to help public and private schools and districts identify suitable and workable programs. It identifies state programs and facilitators and provides highlights, contact numbers, office hours and names. Each of the identified programs within the catalog identifies the suitable audience, a program description, evidence of effectiveness, requirements of the program, cost, services and contacts. Programs are broken down into sections that include Gifted and Talented, Special Education, Migrant/ Adult / Higher Education, Career/ Vocational, Approved Programs that are no longer available, programs by state and programs by content area.

Title: Multicultural Projects Index

Author: Pilger, Mary Anne

Keywords: multicultural projects festivals cultures holidays international crafts guide

Target Audience: Teachers, Students and Parents

Abstract: This index to multicultural handicrafts, foods, games, and activities may be used by educators at all levels to assist children and young adults in finding the information they need to make items from different cultures of the world. The rewards of learning about the culture of one's own heritage, as well as that of others, will result in better understanding. This book will make the task of finding that special item an easier and more fruitful quest.

Title: Resource Center Directory

Author: McComb, Jean

Keywords: bibliography catalog resources curriculum reading material videos films abstracts information

Target Audience: General Public

Abstract: This annotated bibliography provides the reader with abstracts, target audience, author and title of all of the information contained in the Kentucky Department of Education's Division of Equity Resource Center lending library. It contains a glossary of terms and an index of the materials.

Title: Selected Publications of the U.S. Department of Education 1999 Catalog

Author: U.S. Department of Education

Keywords: federal publications education resources list civil rights college financial aid postsecondary institutions early childhood elementary secondary education reform improvement statistics research family business community parent involvement mathematics science reading literacy safe drug-free schools spanish language products teacher quality special education rehabilitative services technology town meetings

Target Audience: Adult Administrators, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: ED Publications is the Education Publications Center for the U.S. Department of Education. This catalog has information for anyone interested in education, including, teachers, parents, students, administrators, policymakers, teacher educators, researchers, journalists, librarians, and others. The catalog presents a list of selected Department products, most of which were published between 1996 and 1998, that are available free from ED Pubs while supplies last. These products are offered to help individuals, schools, colleges and communities address pressing education issues.

Title: The Access Resource Guide: An International Directory of Information on War, Peace and Security

Author: Kincade, William H / Hayner, Priscilla B.

Keywords: access war peace national security

Target Audience: Researchers, Teachers and General Public

Abstract: Recent decades have witnessed the emergence around the world of hundreds of new organizations and research centers concerned with security and peace. This resource guide is an annotated compilation of agencies and organizations with similar security and peace debates. The information is drawn from a computerized Resource Base (currently monitoring more than 1400 organizations and information resources across the spectrum of views.

Title: What Every Girl in School Needs to Know

Author: National Coalition of Girls' Schools

Keywords: education university college women girls gender,

Target Audience: High School Students, Counselors and Parents

Abstract: This publication is designed to offer information to girls researching college or alternative school settings. Parents and counselors will appreciate this information. This publication can help the reader find the way to some of the best places for girls to learn. The National Coalition of Girls' Schools is an organization of 65 girls' boarding and day, private and public schools from across the United States with affiliates in Canada and Australia. While differing in history, tradition, location, academic rigor, extracurricular activities, religious affiliation, size, and philosophies, coalition schools share a core belief in and commitment to the values and advantages of an all-girls school. The coalition is located at 228 Main Street in Concord, Massachusetts, 01742 and their telephone # is (508) 369-3452.

Chapter 2 - Development and Resources

CD-ROM

Title: Reducing Youth Violence : A Comprehensive Approach

Author: University of California, Office of Educational and Community Initiatives

Keywords: violence prevention crime juvenile justice system gangs guns drugs youth research contacts training technical assistance district local state school delinquency delinquent violent

Target Audience: Adult Teachers and Administrators

Abstract: The Minimum Requirements for using this CD ROM are Microsoft Windows 95, Windows 98 or Windows NT, Sound card, 16 bit color graphics (thousands of colors), 16x speed CD-ROM drive (32x recommended) and 32 MB RAM (64 MB recommended)

Reducing youth violence requires a comprehensive approach. This multimedia CD-ROM is organized around a range of strategies (improving the juvenile justice system; reducing gang, gun, and drug violence; providing opportunities for youth; strengthening families; and mobilizing communities) that together offer a comprehensive approach. Under each of these key strategies, thousands of pages offer useful information on youth violence and delinquency prevention, including (1) information derived from illustrative operational programs; (2) current data and information about research and evaluation; and (3) contacts for additional resources, training, and technical assistance. The CD-ROM provides the user with several easy ways to access the information, including searching by types of programs, documents, resources, and services. Users can download text and graphics and use them as templates for their own efforts to reduce youth violence and victimization in their communities. This CD ROM is provided by the US Department of Justice, Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention.

Print:

Title: 10 Effective Steps for Teaching At-Risk Students

Author: Epps, Elvis

Keywords: at risk motivate teaching students steps

Target Audience: Adult Teachers and Counselors

Abstract: This booklet is designed to provide the reader with ways to teach at-risk students. It is developed to be a useful tool in benefiting both teacher and student as learners together. Effective steps that will enhance teaching in a multicultural environment are provided.

Title: A.C.T.I.V.E. Sex Equity in Elementary School Physical Education

Author: Arnett, Chappelle / Adelberger, Audra

Keywords: sex equity women gender physical education

Target Audience: Adult Students and Teachers

Abstract: This packet includes two publications, a competency-based teacher education program and a workshop workbook. The information is developed to attain sex equity in elementary school physical education. The objectives are two fold: to develop a competency standard for physical education teachers in elementary schools and to develop a competency –based teacher education program. The workshop is designed for use as a one-day in-service session, a three to four day in-service course or a five to six session in-service course.

Call No. DR.220.1

Title: A Call to Commitment: Fathers' Involvement in Children's Learning

Author: U.S. Department of Education

Keywords: parent involvement father influence family participation education learning commitment mentor role models male

Target Audience: Parents, Teachers, Administrators and Community Leaders

Abstract: This publication is designed to inform, promote and celebrate fathers' increased participation in children's learning. The U.S. has seen a growth in programs to support fathers in becoming actively involved in their children's learning at school, at early childhood development centers, at childcare centers and throughout the community. The question is, How can we increase this momentum based upon what we have learned and accomplished? Section I of this publication provides the research content for the topic of fathers' involvement. Section II provides a discussion of strategies for improving and extending fathers' involvement in their children's education, whether they are resident or nonresident dads. Section III provides examples of programs that involve fathers in children's learning and their practices. A fact sheet on the Partnership for Family Involvement in Education and a form the reader may fill out to receive more information is included.

Title: A Costly Proposition, Sexual Harassment at Work

Author: BNA Communications Inc.

Keywords: sexual harassment work women equity violence

Target Audience: Professionals, Women, General Public, Districts and Teachers

Abstract: This participant's manual contains information on sexual harassment in the workplace. The manual will help the reader recognize and prevent sexual harassment at work. Sexual harassment is a form of sexual discrimination and, as such, is prohibited by Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the federal law that outlaws discrimination in employment on the basis of race, creed, color, national origin, or sex. This publication is designed to explore both the spirit and the letter of the law on sexual harassment at work. No single program can solve the complex behavior and organizational problems that give rise to sexual harassment and complicated work relationships. This program, however, offers you the opportunity to become more aware of the issues involved, and to understand the importance of resolving them.

Title: A Handbook for Teaching Vietnamese - Speaking
Students

Author: California State Department of Education

Keywords: vietnamese esl english second language limited proficiency asian

Target Audience: Teachers

Abstract: The rapid increase of minority language populations poses significant challenges to school districts. There have been insufficient bilingual resources to assist these children. To meet the need, the Department of Education, Office of Bilingual Bi-cultural Education of California developed a series of handbooks designed to assist bilingual/ESL teachers, counselors, school administrators, and teacher training institutions in establishing programmatic, curricular and instructional policies. These handbooks address the unique historical, sociocultural and linguistic characteristics of each group. They also provide educational resources such as community organizations and classroom instructional materials. It is the department's hope that these handbooks will help us improve educational services to Vietnamese language minority children. It is our intent to address some of those concerns.

Title: A Mindset for Math: Techniques for Identifying and Working with Math-Anxious Girls

Author: Genshaft, Judy / Naglieri, Jack / The Ohio State University / Women's Educational Equity Act Program, U.S. Department of Education

Keywords: girls women math anxiety treatment programs identifying fear intimidation

Target Audience: Teachers, Counselors and Administrators

Abstract: Math anxiety has been defined as an unspecified fear related to a mathematical experience. Girls in particular are affected by this anxiety. Described in this guide are the techniques used in a math-anxiety treatment project. All eighth- and tenth-grade students in two junior high schools and two high schools in a large urban school district were evaluated to determine their math-anxiety and math-achievement levels. 45 junior high and 45 high school girls were selected from this large pool of students. These young women participated in a six-week, twelve-lesson project designed to reduce anxiety and improve attitudes toward and achievement in mathematics.

Title: A World of Difference : Anti-bias Study Guide Secondary Level

Author: Anti-Defamation League

Keywords: anti bias bigotry prejudice hate violence name calling curriculum lesson plans high school study guide discrimination conflict

Age: High School Students and Teachers

Abstract: A World of Difference Institute Anti-Bias Study Guide has been prepared for educators to use primarily with students in grades 9-12 as supplementary material to enhance existing curricula. The materials have been designed to assist educators and students in exploring ways to ensure that the tenets of freedom and equality on which this country was built become realities. The Study Guide provides teachers with lessons in skills to encourage students to 1/ explore societal issues arising from bias, bigotry and discrimination 2/ improve critical-thinking skills 3/ examine diverse viewpoints and 4/ take leadership roles in promoting justice and equity in their schools, communities and society at large.

Title: A World of Difference : Anti-bias Study Guide Primary Level

Author: Anti-Defamation League

Keywords: anti bias bigotry prejudice hate violence name calling curriculum lesson plans primary study guide discrimination conflict

Age: Primary Students and Teachers

Abstract: A World of Difference Institute Anti-Bias Study Guide has been prepared for educators to use primarily with students in primary grades as supplementary material to enhance existing curricula. The materials have been designed to assist educators and students in exploring ways to ensure that the tenets of freedom and equality on which this country was built become realities. The Study Guide provides teachers with lessons in skills to encourage students to 1/ explore societal issues arising from bias, bigotry and discrimination 2/ improve critical-thinking skills 3/ examine diverse viewpoints and 4/ take leadership roles in promoting justice and equity in their schools, communities and society at large.

Title: Afro-American Literature: Drama, Nonfiction, Fiction,
Poetry

Author: Adams, William / Conn, Peter / Slepian, Barry

Keywords: black african american history literature drama nonfiction poetry writers

Target Audience: Middle School Students and Teachers

Abstract: This selection of African American literature is written by and about black americans. The aim is to present interesting works by well-known and respected writers rather than an historical approach to the study of literature. A series of questions for discussion and composition are presented to provoke thinking around the general themes of the works presented. The set includes a teachers guide and student guide for fiction, nonfiction, and drama and poetry. There are four drama teacher's guides and two student guides, three fiction teachers guides and one student guide, three nonfiction teacher guides and one student guide and three teachers guides for poetry. The set is appropriate for middle school.

Title: After-School Program: Keeping Children Safe and Smart

Author: Chung, An-Me

Keywords: extended school after school programs latch key kids children safety achievement learning community at-risk

Target Audience: Adult Administrators, Teachers, Parents, Community Leaders and Districts

Abstract: Today, more than 28 million school-age children have parents who work outside the home. An estimated five to seven million, and as many as 15 million "latch key children" return to an empty home after school. When the school bell rings, the anxiety for parents often just begins. They worry about whether their children are safe, whether they are susceptible to drugs and crime. In response to this pressing concern, many communities have created after-school programs to keep children and youth out of trouble and engaged in activities that help them learn. This focuses exclusively on the benefits children receive in terms of increased safety, reduced risk-taking, and improved learning. Topics covered include the potential of after school programs for keeping children on the right track, enhancing academic achievement, supporting social development and relationships with adults and peers, strengthening schools, families and communities and components of exemplary programs that work. The publication provides additional resources for communities who are considering putting programs together. Included in resources are names, addresses and websites

Title: AlphaBlack Culture Beginning Activity Book

Author: Isaac, Mia

Keywords: beginning culture pre-school kindergarten alphabet self esteem

Target Audience: K - Primary Students and Teachers

Abstract: This publication is written from an African American point of view and will provide an alphabet with statements on each card to aid in the development of self-esteem. It will rebuild and rekindle respect, allow us to dream, set goals, and accomplish what we set out to do. It will help teachers and parents help children recognize what is in all of us as well as where we have come from. This resource is appropriate for preschool - primary grades.

Title: Americans All

Author: National Education Program

Keywords: immigration immigrants asian european mexican latino african native indian photographs puerto rican black timeline teacher's guide curriculum resource books ethnic student materials ellis island statue of liberty angel island simulation the peopling of america synoptic history music posters

Target Audience: Middle School Teachers and Students

Abstract: This extensive teacher tool kit contains a teacher's manual, a teacher's guide, information on American immigration, a timeline, sheet music for America's people, a collection of photographs and posters, information on African Americans, Native Americans, Asian Americans, European Americans, Mexican Americans and Puerto Rican Americans. It also includes information on the Statue of Liberty, Ellis Island, Angel Island, simulation of the people coming to and living within America and a synoptic history. The entire packet comes in an easy to handle toolkit with identification tabs for easy access. The teacher's guide, resource books, ethnic booklets and student materials will prove useful in grades 7 - 9.

Title: An Antiracist / Multicultural Education Interdisciplinary curriculum development and implementation Pilot-Study with Teachers

Author: Donaldson, Karen

Keywords: racism racist antiracist multicultural education interdisciplinary curriculum units of study university research teacher bias black african american minority institutional racism

Target Audience: Adult Researchers, Teachers, Educators and Administrators

Abstract: The purpose of this handbook is to assist teachers in addressing racism within themselves, their students, the curriculum, and the total school environment. In today's society, it is necessary to include the contributions and experiences of many cultures, thereby enabling the future success of all students; however, many teachers are not equipped to teach a multicultural or issue-related curriculum. With regard to racism, most teachers are unaware of the existence of racism in schools, how it is manifested, and how it may affect student learning. Yet, throughout our nation, schools report racist acts on a regular basis. Although many institutions and educators desire anti-racist alternatives, very little research and even less instruction exists in the areas of teacher and student racism awareness and anti-racist curriculum implementation. It is, therefore, imperative to begin such research and implementation, thus creating models to be used nation-wide. This handbook is one such model. The four components in the handbook will be (1) Racism Awareness, (2) Racism in United States Schools, (3) Understanding Racism Through Students' Eyes, and (4) Antiracist Lesson Ideas for K-12 Classrooms. Each component is designed to enhance racism awareness and antiracist instruction.

Call No. DR.219.1

Title: An Idea Book on Planning : Implementing Schoolwide Programs

Author: Pechman, Ellen

Keywords: programs research based practices goals planning district consolidated planning team technical assistance data collection analysis goal setting funds school improvement accountability standards tools resources

Target Audience: Adult Administrators, Policy Makers, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: This book focuses on the issues of school wide program planning and combining resources. It contains many examples from various schools that illustrate the issues discussed. Thorough assessment of needs and school wide planning are essential for comprehensively upgrading the effectiveness of a school. Two appendices in Volume 1 provide tools for planning school wide programs and extensive information about print, video, and internet resources available to planners. This resource may be drawn upon for guidance examples of successes within schools that include low achieving students toward improvement and the meeting challenges of current standards.

Call No. DR.217.1

Title: Anti-Bias Curriculum : Tools for Empowering Young Children

Author: Derman-Sparks, Louise

Keywords: prejudice racism curriculum tools empower early childhood education oppression fairness units of study resource teacher primary climate disabilities gender cultural stereotype activism holiday celebrations parents problem solving implementation evaluation strategies clubs support groups plan stories themes sexism

Target Audience: Pre-K – Primary Teachers and Parents

Abstract: Anti-bias curriculum embraces an educational philosophy as well as specific techniques and content. The publication is value base: Differences are good; oppressive ideas and behaviors are not. It sets up a creative tension between respecting differences and not accepting unfair beliefs and acts. It asks teachers and children to confront troublesome issues rather than covering them up. An anti-bias perspective is integral to all aspects of daily classroom life. This publication is not a recipe book. Using its principles and methodology, teachers (and parents who choose to use the book) must recreate anti-bias curriculum in their setting in relation to specific groups of children and families. Through anti-bias curriculum, teachers enable every child to achieve the ultimate goal of early childhood education; the development of each child to her or his fullest potential.

Title: Appalachian Idea Book

Author: Costanzo, Tina / Napier, Felicia / Voris, Connie / Sapona, Regina / Lane, Chet / Starner, Nancy / DuPriest, Cheryl / Knipfer, Brenda

Keywords: appalachian activities urban appalachia eastern kentucky heritage

Target Audience: Primary Students, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: This publication is a collection of ideas that will help teachers as they work toward developing an awareness of the Appalachian culture within their students. Many sources were used; books, songs, poetry, personal accounts of urban Appalachians and ideas from committee members. The book includes activities targeted for students in kindergarten through third grade. Teachers at other grade levels are welcome to use the book.

Title: Around the World with Western Union

Author: Glover, Terry

Keywords: learning journal international work book western union study buddies

Target Audience: Primary Students, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: This booklet is intended primarily for use by students participating in the Western Union Study Buddies tutoring program. Western Union has granted permission for reproduction of this booklet for use with students.

Title: Assertion Skills for Young Women

Author: NiCarthy, Ginny

Keywords: assertion skills women gender social communication

Target Audience: High School – Adult Students and Teachers

Abstract: This publication is for anyone who wants to help young women become assertive and especially for people who work with young women in trouble. It is for people who want to teach assertiveness to individuals or groups and people who have had some training as well as those who are new to the subject.

Title: Basis for Decision

Author: St. Paul Public Schools

Keywords: district change policy decision making school boards long range plan administrative administration reform

Target Audience: District Administrators

Abstract: This document is a community workbook about the St. Paul public schools. It reviews certain needs of the schools, both immediate and long range. It also presents alternative ways of meeting those needs. The purpose of the publication is to help the community participate in making decisions. It is useful as a model for district wide change.

Title: Belle Case La Follette, 1859–1931: A Resource Guide

Author: Riley, Jocelyn

Keywords: women writers language arts history literature social studies government woman

Target Audience: Primary Students and Teachers

Abstract: This publication is designed for use by general readers, program presenters and classroom teachers. Two profiles; one written in 1924 and one written in our own time, introduce the reader to Belle Case La Follette and give a context for her work. Discussion questions follow all sections. The series of resource guides includes Mountain Wolf Woman, Votes for Women, Pioneer Women's Diaries, and Zona Gale: Her Life and Writings and may be borrowed individually or as a set.

Title: Bridges and Boundaries : African Americans and American Jews

Author: The Jewish Museum New York

Keywords: african american cultural identity lesson plans curriculum units of study social studies jewish jews blacks religion resource guide human rights civil rights holocaust history persecution oppression division

Target Audience: High School Students and Teachers

Abstract:: This resource guide enables educators who were unable to bring their students to the Jewish Museum in New York's exhibit of Bridges and Boundaries, to address in the classroom stereotyping, discrimination and prejudice, using a format similar to that of the exhibit. The guide contains introductory essays that have been excerpted from presentations made to teachers at the museum and are applicable to any multicultural learning experience. It also includes lesson plans with objectives, historical background, procedure information, visual literacy information, follow-up activities, student handouts, questions for discussion, student build bridges projects and resources for further investigation. This is an excellent high school curriculum piece and may be adapted for other grade levels.

Tit
CD ROM's

Call No. CD.0100.1

Title: Partners for Learning: Preparing Teachers to Involve Families

Author: Partnership for Family Involvement in Education

Keywords: parent involvement family community program administrator teacher professional development in service teacher preparation assistance district local school

Target Audience: District and School Teachers and Administrators

Abstract: This disk contains presentation materials on educator preparation for family involvement in education that include: speaker's notes and overheads in Microsoft PowerPoint 7.0, a QuickTime video clip from a teleconference hosted by Vice President Al Gore and U.S. Secretary of Education Richard W. Riley, and an HTML publication with examples of effective practice. These materials include work done by Teachers College Columbia University under contract to the US Dept. of Education.

Chapter 1 - Bibliographies and Catalogs

Title: 1999 Arts Resource Directory: Arts Education

Showcases

Author: Kentucky Center for the Arts

Keywords: kentucky artist directory resources

Target Audience: Teachers, Districts, Counselors, Parents and Communities

Abstract: This directory showcases artists available to work in the schools in Kentucky. It outlines their medium, contract fees, facility requirements and contact information.

Call No: BC.301.1

Title: Diversity Directory

Author: The Humanitarium Center for Culture and Diversity

Keywords: organizations directory catalog multiculturalism honor heritage diverse communities
fayette county bluegrass lexington community involvement network resources culturally diverse

Target Audience: All of the General Population

Abstract: The Humanitarium Center for Culture and Diversity provides this September, 2000 issue of the Diversity Directory for the Bluegrass Region. This comprehensive resource provides the reader with information such as name, telephone #, fax #, address, website and a brief synopsis of organizations that promote multiculturalism and honor the rich heritage of Fayette County. This is a wonderful and up-to-date guide for locating organizations that represent community efforts in Fayette County. Educators attempting to get community involvement and input for diverse projects may want to look at this guide in order to get ideas for community contacts throughout the state. Fayette County educators will find this helpful as a map toward locating diverse community groups.

Title: Educational Programs That Work : The Catalogue of the National Diffusion Network

Author: National Diffusion Network

Keywords: education programs strategies projects approaches intervention enrichment math
literacy mentoring intergenerational extended school services community programs even start plan

Target Audience: All Ages of the General Public

Abstract: This National Diffusion Network resource was compiled to help public and private schools and districts identify suitable and workable programs. It identifies state programs and facilitators and provides highlights, contact numbers, office hours and names. Each of the identified programs within the catalog identifies the suitable audience, a program description, evidence of effectiveness, requirements of the program, cost, services and contacts. Programs are broken down into sections that include Gifted and Talented, Special Education, Migrant/ Adult / Higher Education, Career/ Vocational, Approved Programs that are no longer available, programs by state and programs by content area.

Title: Multicultural Projects Index

Author: Pilger, Mary Anne

Keywords: multicultural projects festivals cultures holidays international crafts guide

Target Audience: Teachers, Students and Parents

Abstract: This index to multicultural handicrafts, foods, games, and activities may be used by educators at all levels to assist children and young adults in finding the information they need to make items from different cultures of the world. The rewards of learning about the culture of one's own heritage, as well as that of others, will result in better understanding. This book will make the task of finding that special item an easier and more fruitful quest.

Title: Resource Center Directory

Author: McComb, Jean

Keywords: bibliography catalog resources curriculum reading material videos films abstracts
information

Target Audience: General Public

Abstract: This annotated bibliography provides the reader with abstracts, target audience, author and title of all of the information contained in the Kentucky Department of Education's Division of Equity Resource Center lending library. It contains a glossary of terms and an index of the materials.

Title: Selected Publications of the U.S. Department of Education 1999 Catalog

Author: U.S. Department of Education

Keywords: federal publications education resources list civil rights college financial aid postsecondary institutions early childhood elementary secondary education reform improvement statistics research family business community parent involvement mathematics science reading literacy safe drug-free schools spanish language products teacher quality special education rehabilitative services technology town meetings

Target Audience: Adult Administrators, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: ED Publications is the Education Publications Center for the U.S. Department of Education. This catalog has information for anyone interested in education, including, teachers, parents, students, administrators, policymakers, teacher educators, researchers, journalists, librarians, and others. The catalog presents a list of selected Department products, most of which were published between 1996 and 1998, that are available free from ED Pubs while supplies last. These products are offered to help individuals, schools, colleges and communities address pressing education issues.

Title: The Access Resource Guide: An International Directory of Information on War, Peace and Security

Author: Kincade, William H / Hayner, Priscilla B.

Keywords: access war peace national security

Target Audience: Researchers, Teachers and General Public

Abstract: Recent decades have witnessed the emergence around the world of hundreds of new organizations and research centers concerned with security and peace. This resource guide is an annotated compilation of agencies and organizations with similar security and peace debates. The information is drawn from a computerized Resource Base (currently monitoring more than 1400 organizations and information resources across the spectrum of views.

Title: What Every Girl in School Needs to Know

Author: National Coalition of Girls' Schools

Keywords: education university college women girls gender,

Target Audience: High School Students, Counselors and Parents

Abstract: This publication is designed to offer information to girls researching college or alternative school settings. Parents and counselors will appreciate this information. This publication can help the reader find the way to some of the best places for girls to learn. The National Coalition of Girls' Schools is an organization of 65 girls' boarding and day, private and public schools from across the United States with affiliates in Canada and Australia. While differing in history, tradition, location, academic rigor, extracurricular activities, religious affiliation, size, and philosophies, coalition schools share a core belief in and commitment to the values and advantages of an all-girls school. The coalition is located at 228 Main Street in Concord, Massachusetts, 01742 and their telephone # is (508) 369-3452.

Chapter 2 - Development and Resources

CD-ROM

Title: Reducing Youth Violence : A Comprehensive Approach

Author: University of California, Office of Educational and Community Initiatives

Keywords: violence prevention crime juvenile justice system gangs guns drugs youth research contacts training technical assistance district local state school delinquency delinquent violent

Target Audience: Adult Teachers and Administrators

Abstract: The Minimum Requirements for using this CD ROM are Microsoft Windows 95, Windows 98 or Windows NT, Sound card, 16 bit color graphics (thousands of colors), 16x speed CD-ROM drive (32x recommended) and 32 MB RAM (64 MB recommended)

Reducing youth violence requires a comprehensive approach. This multimedia CD-ROM is organized around a range of strategies (improving the juvenile justice system; reducing gang, gun, and drug violence; providing opportunities for youth; strengthening families; and mobilizing communities) that together offer a comprehensive approach. Under each of these key strategies, thousands of pages offer useful information on youth violence and delinquency prevention, including (1) information derived from illustrative operational programs; (2) current data and information about research and evaluation; and (3) contacts for additional resources, training, and technical assistance. The CD-ROM provides the user with several easy ways to access the information, including searching by types of programs, documents, resources, and services. Users can download text and graphics and use them as templates for their own efforts to reduce youth violence and victimization in their communities. This CD ROM is provided by the US Department of Justice, Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention.

Print:

Title: 10 Effective Steps for Teaching At-Risk Students

Author: Epps, Elvis

Keywords: at risk motivate teaching students steps

Target Audience: Adult Teachers and Counselors

Abstract: This booklet is designed to provide the reader with ways to teach at-risk students. It is developed to be a useful tool in benefiting both teacher and student as learners together. Effective steps that will enhance teaching in a multicultural environment are provided.

Title: A.C.T.I.V.E. Sex Equity in Elementary School Physical Education

Author: Arnett, Chappelle / Adelberger, Audra

Keywords: sex equity women gender physical education

Target Audience: Adult Students and Teachers

Abstract: This packet includes two publications, a competency-based teacher education program and a workshop workbook. The information is developed to attain sex equity in elementary school physical education. The objectives are two fold: to develop a competency standard for physical education teachers in elementary schools and to develop a competency –based teacher education program. The workshop is designed for use as a one-day in-service session, a three to four day in-service course or a five to six session in-service course.

Call No. DR.220.1

Title: A Call to Commitment: Fathers' Involvement in Children's Learning

Author: U.S. Department of Education

Keywords: parent involvement father influence family participation education learning commitment mentor role models male

Target Audience: Parents, Teachers, Administrators and Community Leaders

Abstract: This publication is designed to inform, promote and celebrate fathers' increased participation in children's learning. The U.S. has seen a growth in programs to support fathers in becoming actively involved in their children's learning at school, at early childhood development centers, at childcare centers and throughout the community. The question is, How can we increase this momentum based upon what we have learned and accomplished? Section I of this publication provides the research content for the topic of fathers' involvement. Section II provides a discussion of strategies for improving and extending fathers' involvement in their children's education, whether they are resident or nonresident dads. Section III provides examples of programs that involve fathers in children's learning and their practices. A fact sheet on the Partnership for Family Involvement in Education and a form the reader may fill out to receive more information is included.

Title: A Costly Proposition, Sexual Harassment at Work

Author: BNA Communications Inc.

Keywords: sexual harassment work women equity violence

Target Audience: Professionals, Women, General Public, Districts and Teachers

Abstract: This participant's manual contains information on sexual harassment in the workplace. The manual will help the reader recognize and prevent sexual harassment at work. Sexual harassment is a form of sexual discrimination and, as such, is prohibited by Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the federal law that outlaws discrimination in employment on the basis of race, creed, color, national origin, or sex. This publication is designed to explore both the spirit and the letter of the law on sexual harassment at work. No single program can solve the complex behavior and organizational problems that give rise to sexual harassment and complicated work relationships. This program, however, offers you the opportunity to become more aware of the issues involved, and to understand the importance of resolving them.

Title: A Handbook for Teaching Vietnamese - Speaking
Students

Author: California State Department of Education

Keywords: vietnamese esl english second language limited proficiency asian

Target Audience: Teachers

Abstract: The rapid increase of minority language populations poses significant challenges to school districts. There have been insufficient bilingual resources to assist these children. To meet the need, the Department of Education, Office of Bilingual Bi-cultural Education of California developed a series of handbooks designed to assist bilingual/ESL teachers, counselors, school administrators, and teacher training institutions in establishing programmatic, curricular and instructional policies. These handbooks address the unique historical, sociocultural and linguistic characteristics of each group. They also provide educational resources such as community organizations and classroom instructional materials. It is the department's hope that these handbooks will help us improve educational services to Vietnamese language minority children. It is our intent to address some of those concerns.

Title: A Mindset for Math: Techniques for Identifying and Working with Math-Anxious Girls

Author: Genshaft, Judy / Naglieri, Jack / The Ohio State University / Women's
Educational Equity Act Program, U.S. Department of Education
Keywords: girls women math anxiety treatment programs identifying fear intimidation

Target Audience: Teachers, Counselors and Administrators

Abstract: Math anxiety has been defined as an unspecified fear related to a mathematical experience. Girls in particular are affected by this anxiety. Described in this guide are the techniques used in a math-anxiety treatment project. All eighth- and tenth-grade students in two junior high schools and two high schools in a large urban school district were evaluated to determine their math-anxiety and math-achievement levels. 45 junior high and 45 high school girls were selected from this large pool of students. These young women participated in a six-week, twelve-lesson project designed to reduce anxiety and improve attitudes toward and achievement in mathematics.

Title: A World of Difference : Anti-bias Study Guide Secondary Level

Author: Anti-Defamation League

Keywords: anti bias bigotry prejudice hate violence name calling curriculum lesson plans high school study guide discrimination conflict

Age: High School Students and Teachers

Abstract: A World of Difference Institute Anti-Bias Study Guide has been prepared for educators to use primarily with students in grades 9-12 as supplementary material to enhance existing curricula. The materials have been designed to assist educators and students in exploring ways to ensure that the tenets of freedom and equality on which this country was built become realities. The Study Guide provides teachers with lessons in skills to encourage students to 1/ explore societal issues arising from bias, bigotry and discrimination 2/ improve critical-thinking skills 3/ examine diverse viewpoints and 4/ take leadership roles in promoting justice and equity in their schools, communities and society at large.

Title: A World of Difference : Anti-bias Study Guide Primary Level

Author: Anti-Defamation League

Keywords: anti bias bigotry prejudice hate violence name calling curriculum lesson plans primary study guide discrimination conflict

Age: Primary Students and Teachers

Abstract: A World of Difference Institute Anti-Bias Study Guide has been prepared for educators to use primarily with students in primary grades as supplementary material to enhance existing curricula. The materials have been designed to assist educators and students in exploring ways to ensure that the tenets of freedom and equality on which this country was built become realities. The Study Guide provides teachers with lessons in skills to encourage students to 1/ explore societal issues arising from bias, bigotry and discrimination 2/ improve critical-thinking skills 3/ examine diverse viewpoints and 4/ take leadership roles in promoting justice and equity in their schools, communities and society at large.

Title: Afro-American Literature: Drama, Nonfiction, Fiction,
Poetry

Author: Adams, William / Conn, Peter / Slepian, Barry

Keywords: black african american history literature drama nonfiction poetry writers

Target Audience: Middle School Students and Teachers

Abstract: This selection of African American literature is written by and about black americans. The aim is to present interesting works by well-known and respected writers rather than an historical approach to the study of literature. A series of questions for discussion and composition are presented to provoke thinking around the general themes of the works presented. The set includes a teachers guide and student guide for fiction, nonfiction, and drama and poetry. There are four drama teacher's guides and two student guides, three fiction teachers guides and one student guide, three nonfiction teacher guides and one student guide and three teachers guides for poetry. The set is appropriate for middle school.

Title: After-School Program: Keeping Children Safe and Smart

Author: Chung, An-Me

Keywords: extended school after school programs latch key kids children safety achievement learning community at-risk

Target Audience: Adult Administrators, Teachers, Parents, Community Leaders and Districts

Abstract: Today, more than 28 million school-age children have parents who work outside the home. An estimated five to seven million, and as many as 15 million "latch key children" return to an empty home after school. When the school bell rings, the anxiety for parents often just begins. They worry about whether their children are safe, whether they are susceptible to drugs and crime. In response to this pressing concern, many communities have created after-school programs to keep children and youth out of trouble and engaged in activities that help them learn. This focuses exclusively on the benefits children receive in terms of increased safety, reduced risk-taking, and improved learning. Topics covered include the potential of after school programs for keeping children on the right track, enhancing academic achievement, supporting social development and relationships with adults and peers, strengthening schools, families and communities and components of exemplary programs that work. The publication provides additional resources for communities who are considering putting programs together. Included in resources are names, addresses and websites

Title: AlphaBlack Culture Beginning Activity Book

Author: Isaac, Mia

Keywords: beginning culture pre-school kindergarten alphabet self esteem

Target Audience: K - Primary Students and Teachers

Abstract: This publication is written from an African American point of view and will provide an alphabet with statements on each card to aid in the development of self-esteem. It will rebuild and rekindle respect, allow us to dream, set goals, and accomplish what we set out to do. It will help teachers and parents help children recognize what is in all of us as well as where we have come from. This resource is appropriate for preschool - primary grades.

Title: Americans All

Author: National Education Program

Keywords: immigration immigrants asian european mexican latino african native indian photographs puerto rican black timeline teacher's guide curriculum resource books ethnic student materials ellis island statue of liberty angel island simulation the peopling of america synoptic history music posters

Target Audience: Middle School Teachers and Students

Abstract: This extensive teacher tool kit contains a teacher's manual, a teacher's guide, information on American immigration, a timeline, sheet music for America's people, a collection of photographs and posters, information on African Americans, Native Americans, Asian Americans, European Americans, Mexican Americans and Puerto Rican Americans. It also includes information on the Statue of Liberty, Ellis Island, Angel Island, simulation of the people coming to and living within America and a synoptic history. The entire packet comes in an easy to handle toolkit with identification tabs for easy access. The teacher's guide, resource books, ethnic booklets and student materials will prove useful in grades 7 - 9.

Title: An Antiracist / Multicultural Education Interdisciplinary curriculum development and implementation Pilot-Study with Teachers

Author: Donaldson, Karen

Keywords: racism racist antiracist multicultural education interdisciplinary curriculum units of study university research teacher bias black african american minority institutional racism

Target Audience: Adult Researchers, Teachers, Educators and Administrators

Abstract: The purpose of this handbook is to assist teachers in addressing racism within themselves, their students, the curriculum, and the total school environment. In today's society, it is necessary to include the contributions and experiences of many cultures, thereby enabling the future success of all students; however, many teachers are not equipped to teach a multicultural or issue-related curriculum. With regard to racism, most teachers are unaware of the existence of racism in schools, how it is manifested, and how it may affect student learning. Yet, throughout our nation, schools report racist acts on a regular basis. Although many institutions and educators desire anti-racist alternatives, very little research and even less instruction exists in the areas of teacher and student racism awareness and anti-racist curriculum implementation. It is, therefore, imperative to begin such research and implementation, thus creating models to be used nation-wide. This handbook is one such model. The four components in the handbook will be (1) Racism Awareness, (2) Racism in United States Schools, (3) Understanding Racism Through Students' Eyes, and (4) Antiracist Lesson Ideas for K-12 Classrooms. Each component is designed to enhance racism awareness and antiracist instruction.

Call No. DR.219.1

Title: An Idea Book on Planning : Implementing Schoolwide Programs

Author: Pechman, Ellen

Keywords: programs research based practices goals planning district consolidated planning team technical assistance data collection analysis goal setting funds school improvement accountability standards tools resources

Target Audience: Adult Administrators, Policy Makers, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: This book focuses on the issues of school wide program planning and combining resources. It contains many examples from various schools that illustrate the issues discussed. Thorough assessment of needs and school wide planning are essential for comprehensively upgrading the effectiveness of a school. Two appendices in Volume 1 provide tools for planning school wide programs and extensive information about print, video, and internet resources available to planners. This resource may be drawn upon for guidance examples of successes within schools that include low achieving students toward improvement and the meeting challenges of current standards.

Call No. DR.217.1

Title: Anti-Bias Curriculum : Tools for Empowering Young Children

Author: Derman-Sparks, Louise

Keywords: prejudice racism curriculum tools empower early childhood education oppression fairness units of study resource teacher primary climate disabilities gender cultural stereotype activism holiday celebrations parents problem solving implementation evaluation strategies clubs support groups plan stories themes sexism

Target Audience: Pre-K – Primary Teachers and Parents

Abstract: Anti-bias curriculum embraces an educational philosophy as well as specific techniques and content. The publication is value base: Differences are good; oppressive ideas and behaviors are not. It sets up a creative tension between respecting differences and not accepting unfair beliefs and acts. It asks teachers and children to confront troublesome issues rather than covering them up. An anti-bias perspective is integral to all aspects of daily classroom life. This publication is not a recipe book. Using its principles and methodology, teachers (and parents who choose to use the book) must recreate anti-bias curriculum in their setting in relation to specific groups of children and families. Through anti-bias curriculum, teachers enable every child to achieve the ultimate goal of early childhood education; the development of each child to her or his fullest potential.

Title: Appalachian Idea Book

Author: Costanzo, Tina / Napier, Felicia / Voris, Connie / Sapona, Regina / Lane, Chet / Starner, Nancy / DuPriest, Cheryl / Knipfer, Brenda

Keywords: appalachian activities urban appalachia eastern kentucky heritage

Target Audience: Primary Students, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: This publication is a collection of ideas that will help teachers as they work toward developing an awareness of the Appalachian culture within their students. Many sources were used; books, songs, poetry, personal accounts of urban Appalachians and ideas from committee members. The book includes activities targeted for students in kindergarten through third grade. Teachers at other grade levels are welcome to use the book.

Title: Around the World with Western Union

Author: Glover, Terry

Keywords: learning journal international work book western union study buddies

Target Audience: Primary Students, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: This booklet is intended primarily for use by students participating in the Western Union Study Buddies tutoring program. Western Union has granted permission for reproduction of this booklet for use with students.

Title: Assertion Skills for Young Women

Author: NiCarthy, Ginny

Keywords: assertion skills women gender social communication

Target Audience: High School – Adult Students and Teachers

Abstract: This publication is for anyone who wants to help young women become assertive and especially for people who work with young women in trouble. It is for people who want to teach assertiveness to individuals or groups and people who have had some training as well as those who are new to the subject.

Title: Basis for Decision

Author: St. Paul Public Schools

Keywords: district change policy decision making school boards long range plan administrative administration reform

Target Audience: District Administrators

Abstract: This document is a community workbook about the St. Paul public schools. It reviews certain needs of the schools, both immediate and long range. It also presents alternative ways of meeting those needs. The purpose of the publication is to help the community participate in making decisions. It is useful as a model for district wide change.

Title: Belle Case La Follette, 1859–1931: A Resource Guide

Author: Riley, Jocelyn

Keywords: women writers language arts history literature social studies government woman

Target Audience: Primary Students and Teachers

Abstract: This publication is designed for use by general readers, program presenters and classroom teachers. Two profiles; one written in 1924 and one written in our own time, introduce the reader to Belle Case La Follette and give a context for her work. Discussion questions follow all sections. The series of resource guides includes Mountain Wolf Woman, Votes for Women, Pioneer Women's Diaries, and Zona Gale: Her Life and Writings and may be borrowed individually or as a set.

Title: Bridges and Boundaries : African Americans and American Jews

Author: The Jewish Museum New York

Keywords: african american cultural identity lesson plans curriculum units of study social studies jewish jews blacks religion resource guide human rights civil rights holocaust history persecution oppression division

Target Audience: High School Students and Teachers

Abstract:: This resource guide enables educators who were unable to bring their students to the Jewish Museum in New York's exhibit of Bridges and Boundaries, to address in the classroom stereotyping, discrimination and prejudice, using a format similar to that of the exhibit. The guide contains introductory essays that have been excerpted from presentations made to teachers at the museum and are applicable to any multicultural learning experience. It also includes lesson plans with objectives, historical background, procedure information, visual literacy information, follow-up activities, student handouts, questions for discussion, student build bridges projects and resources for further investigation. This is an excellent high school curriculum piece and may be adapted for other grade levels.

Tit

CD ROM's

Call No. CD.0100.1

Title: Partners for Learning: Preparing Teachers to Involve Families

Author: Partnership for Family Involvement in Education

Keywords: parent involvement family community program administrator teacher professional development in service teacher preparation assistance district local school

Target Audience: District and School Teachers and Administrators

Abstract: This disk contains presentation materials on educator preparation for family involvement in education that include: speaker's notes and overheads in Microsoft PowerPoint 7.0, a QuickTime video clip from a teleconference hosted by Vice President Al Gore and U.S. Secretary of Education Richard W. Riley, and an HTML publication with examples of effective practice. These materials include work done by Teachers College Columbia University under contract to the US Dept. of Education.

Chapter 1 - Bibliographies and Catalogs

Title: 1999 Arts Resource Directory: Arts Education

Showcases

Author: Kentucky Center for the Arts

Keywords: kentucky artist directory resources

Target Audience: Teachers, Districts, Counselors, Parents and Communities

Abstract: This directory showcases artists available to work in the schools in Kentucky. It outlines their medium, contract fees, facility requirements and contact information.

Call No: BC.301.1

Title: Diversity Directory

Author: The Humanitarium Center for Culture and Diversity

Keywords: organizations directory catalog multiculturalism honor heritage diverse communities fayette county bluegrass lexington community involvement network resources culturally diverse

Target Audience: All of the General Population

Abstract: The Humanitarium Center for Culture and Diversity provides this September, 2000 issue of the Diversity Directory for the Bluegrass Region. This comprehensive resource provides the reader with information such as name, telephone #, fax #, address, website and a brief synopsis of organizations that promote multiculturalism and honor the rich heritage of Fayette County. This is a wonderful and up-to-date guide for locating organizations that represent community efforts in Fayette County. Educators attempting to get community involvement and input for diverse projects may want to look at this guide in order to get ideas for community contacts throughout the state. Fayette County educators will find this helpful as a map toward locating diverse community groups.

Title: Educational Programs That Work : The Catalogue of the National Diffusion Network

Author: National Diffusion Network

Keywords: education programs strategies projects approaches intervention enrichment math literacy mentoring intergenerational extended school services community programs even start plan

Target Audience: All Ages of the General Public

Abstract: This National Diffusion Network resource was compiled to help public and private schools and districts identify suitable and workable programs. It identifies state programs and facilitators and provides highlights, contact numbers, office hours and names. Each of the identified programs within the catalog identifies the suitable audience, a program description, evidence of effectiveness, requirements of the program, cost, services and contacts. Programs are broken down into sections that include Gifted and Talented, Special Education, Migrant/ Adult / Higher Education, Career/Vocational, Approved Programs that are no longer available, programs by state and programs by content area.

Title: Multicultural Projects Index

Author: Pilger, Mary Anne

Keywords: multicultural projects festivals cultures holidays international crafts guide

Target Audience: Teachers, Students and Parents

Abstract: This index to multicultural handicrafts, foods, games, and activities may be used by educators at all levels to assist children and young adults in finding the information they need to make items from different cultures of the world. The rewards of learning about the culture of one's own heritage, as well as that of others, will result in better understanding. This book will make the task of finding that special item an easier and more fruitful quest.

Title: Resource Center Directory

Author: McComb, Jean

Keywords: bibliography catalog resources curriculum reading material videos films abstracts information

Target Audience: General Public

Abstract: This annotated bibliography provides the reader with abstracts, target audience, author and title of all of the information contained in the Kentucky Department of Education's Division of Equity Resource Center lending library. It contains a glossary of terms and an index of the materials.

Title: Selected Publications of the U.S. Department of Education 1999 Catalog

Author: U.S. Department of Education

Keywords: federal publications education resources list civil rights college financial aid postsecondary institutions early childhood elementary secondary education reform improvement statistics research family business community parent involvement mathematics science reading literacy safe drug-free schools spanish language products teacher quality special education rehabilitative services technology town meetings

Target Audience: Adult Administrators, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: ED Publications is the Education Publications Center for the U.S. Department of Education. This catalog has information for anyone interested in education, including, teachers, parents, students, administrators, policymakers, teacher educators, researchers, journalists, librarians, and others. The catalog presents a list of selected Department products, most of which were published between 1996 and 1998, that are available free from ED Pubs while supplies last. These products are offered to help individuals, schools, colleges and communities address pressing education issues.

Title: The Access Resource Guide: An International Directory of Information on War, Peace and Security

Author: Kincade, William H / Hayner, Priscilla B.

Keywords: access war peace national security

Target Audience: Researchers, Teachers and General Public

Abstract: Recent decades have witnessed the emergence around the world of hundreds of new organizations and research centers concerned with security and peace. This resource guide is an annotated compilation of agencies and organizations with similar security and peace debates. The information is drawn from a computerized Resource Base (currently monitoring more than 1400 organizations and information resources across the spectrum of views.

Title: What Every Girl in School Needs to Know

Author: National Coalition of Girls' Schools

Keywords: education university college women girls gender,

Target Audience: High School Students, Counselors and Parents

Abstract: This publication is designed to offer information to girls researching college or alternative school settings. Parents and counselors will appreciate this information. This publication can help the reader find the way to some of the best places for girls to learn. The National Coalition of Girls' Schools is an organization of 65 girls' boarding and day, private and public schools from across the United States with affiliates in Canada and Australia. While differing in history, tradition, location, academic rigor, extracurricular activities, religious affiliation, size, and philosophies, coalition schools share a core belief in and commitment to the values and advantages of an all-girls school. The coalition is located at 228 Main Street in Concord, Massachusetts, 01742 and their telephone # is (508) 369-3452.

Chapter 2 - Development and Resources

CD-ROM

Title: Reducing Youth Violence : A Comprehensive Approach

Author: University of California, Office of Educational and Community Initiatives

Keywords: violence prevention crime juvenile justice system gangs guns drugs youth research contacts training technical assistance district local state school delinquency delinquent violent

Target Audience: Adult Teachers and Administrators

Abstract: The Minimum Requirements for using this CD ROM are Microsoft Windows 95, Windows 98 or Windows NT, Sound card, 16 bit color graphics (thousands of colors), 16x speed CD-ROM drive (32x recommended) and 32 MB RAM (64 MB recommended)

Reducing youth violence requires a comprehensive approach. This multimedia CD-ROM is organized around a range of strategies (improving the juvenile justice system; reducing gang, gun, and drug violence; providing opportunities for youth; strengthening families; and mobilizing communities) that together offer a comprehensive approach. Under each of these key strategies, thousands of pages offer useful information on youth violence and delinquency prevention, including (1) information derived from illustrative operational programs; (2) current data and information about research and evaluation; and (3) contacts for additional resources, training, and technical assistance. The CD-ROM provides the user with several easy ways to access the information, including searching by types of programs, documents, resources, and services. Users can download text and graphics and use them as templates for their own efforts to reduce youth violence and victimization in their communities. This CD ROM is provided by the US Department of Justice, Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention.

Print:

Title: 10 Effective Steps for Teaching At-Risk Students

Author: Epps, Elvis

Keywords: at risk motivate teaching students steps

Target Audience: Adult Teachers and Counselors

Abstract: This booklet is designed to provide the reader with ways to teach at-risk students. It is developed to be a useful tool in benefiting both teacher and student as learners together. Effective steps that will enhance teaching in a multicultural environment are provided.

Title: A.C.T.I.V.E. Sex Equity in Elementary School Physical Education

Author: Arnett, Chappelle / Adelberger, Audra

Keywords: sex equity women gender physical education

Target Audience: Adult Students and Teachers

Abstract: This packet includes two publications, a competency-based teacher education program and a workshop workbook. The information is developed to attain sex equity in elementary school physical education. The objectives are two fold: to develop a competency standard for physical education teachers in elementary schools and to develop a competency –based teacher education program. The workshop is designed for use as a one-day in-service session, a three to four day in-service course or a five to six session in-service course.

Call No. DR.220.1

Title: A Call to Commitment: Fathers' Involvement in Children's Learning

Author: U.S. Department of Education

Keywords: parent involvement father influence family participation education learning commitment mentor role models male

Target Audience: Parents, Teachers, Administrators and Community Leaders

Abstract: This publication is designed to inform, promote and celebrate fathers' increased participation in children's learning. The U.S. has seen a growth in programs to support fathers in becoming actively involved in their children's learning at school, at early childhood development centers, at childcare centers and throughout the community. The question is, How can we increase this momentum based upon what we have learned and accomplished? Section I of this publication provides the research content for the topic of fathers' involvement. Section II provides a discussion of strategies for improving and extending fathers' involvement in their children's education, whether they are resident or nonresident dads. Section III provides examples of programs that involve fathers in children's learning and their practices. A fact sheet on the Partnership for Family Involvement in Education and a form the reader may fill out to receive more information is included.

Title: A Costly Proposition, Sexual Harassment at Work

Author: BNA Communications Inc.

Keywords: sexual harassment work women equity violence

Target Audience: Professionals, Women, General Public, Districts and Teachers

Abstract: This participant's manual contains information on sexual harassment in the workplace. The manual will help the reader recognize and prevent sexual harassment at work. Sexual harassment is a form of sexual discrimination and, as such, is prohibited by Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the federal law that outlaws discrimination in employment on the basis of race, creed, color, national origin, or sex. This publication is designed to explore both the spirit and the letter of the law on sexual harassment at work. No single program can solve the complex behavior and organizational problems that give rise to sexual harassment and complicated work relationships. This program, however, offers you the opportunity to become more aware of the issues involved, and to understand the importance of resolving them.

Title: A Handbook for Teaching Vietnamese - Speaking

Students

Author: California State Department of Education

Keywords: vietnamese esl english second language limited proficiency asian

Target Audience: Teachers

Abstract: The rapid increase of minority language populations poses significant challenges to school districts. There have been insufficient bilingual resources to assist these children. To meet the need, the Department of Education, Office of Bilingual Bi-cultural Education of California developed a series of handbooks designed to assist bilingual/ESL teachers, counselors, school administrators, and teacher training institutions in establishing programmatic, curricular and instructional policies.

These handbooks address the unique historical, sociocultural and linguistic characteristics of each group. They also provide educational resources such as community organizations and classroom instructional materials. It is the department's hope that these handbooks will help us improve educational services to Vietnamese language minority children. It is our intent to address some of those concerns.

Title: A Mindset for Math: Techniques for Identifying and Working with Math-Anxious Girls

Author: Genshaft, Judy / Naglieri, Jack / The Ohio State University / Women's Educational Equity Act Program, U.S. Department of Education

Keywords: girls women math anxiety treatment programs identifying fear intimidation

Target Audience: Teachers, Counselors and Administrators

Abstract: Math anxiety has been defined as an unspecified fear related to a mathematical experience. Girls in particular are affected by this anxiety. Described in this guide are the techniques used in a math-anxiety treatment project. All eighth- and tenth-grade students in two junior high schools and two high schools in a large urban school district were evaluated to determine their math-anxiety and math-achievement levels. 45 junior high and 45 high school girls were selected from this large pool of students. These young women participated in a six-week, twelve-lesson project designed to reduce anxiety and improve attitudes toward and achievement in mathematics.

Title: A World of Difference : Anti-bias Study Guide Secondary Level

Author: Anti-Defamation League

Keywords: anti bias bigotry prejudice hate violence name calling curriculum lesson plans high school study guide discrimination conflict

Age: High School Students and Teachers

Abstract: A World of Difference Institute Anti-Bias Study Guide has been prepared for educators to use primarily with students in grades 9-12 as supplementary material to enhance existing curricula. The materials have been designed to assist educators and students in exploring ways to ensure that the tenets of freedom and equality on which this country was built become realities. The Study Guide provides teachers with lessons in skills to encourage students to 1/ explore societal issues arising from bias, bigotry and discrimination 2/ improve critical-thinking skills 3/ examine diverse viewpoints and 4/ take leadership roles in promoting justice and equity in their schools, communities and society at large.

Title: A World of Difference : Anti-bias Study Guide Primary Level
Author: Anti-Defamation League
Keywords: anti bias bigotry prejudice hate violence name calling curriculum lesson plans primary study guide discrimination conflict
Age: Primary Students and Teachers

Abstract: A World of Difference Institute Anti-Bias Study Guide has been prepared for educators to use primarily with students in primary grades as supplementary material to enhance existing curricula. The materials have been designed to assist educators and students in exploring ways to ensure that the tenets of freedom and equality on which this country was built become realities. The Study Guide provides teachers with lessons in skills to encourage students to 1/ explore societal issues arising from bias, bigotry and discrimination 2/ improve critical-thinking skills 3/ examine diverse viewpoints and 4/ take leadership roles in promoting justice and equity in their schools, communities and society at large.

Title: Afro-American Literature: Drama, Nonfiction, Fiction,
Poetry
Author: Adams, William / Conn, Peter / Slepian, Barry
Keywords: black african american history literature drama nonfiction poetry writers
Target Audience: Middle School Students and Teachers

Abstract: This selection of African American literature is written by and about black americans. The aim is to present interesting works by well-known and respected writers rather than an historical approach to the study of literature. A series of questions for discussion and composition are presented to provoke thinking around the general themes of the works presented. The set includes a teachers guide and student guide for fiction, nonfiction, and drama and poetry. There are four drama teacher's guides and two student guides, three fiction teachers guides and one student guide, three nonfiction teacher guides and one student guide and three teachers guides for poetry. The set is appropriate for middle school.

Title: After-School Program: Keeping Children Safe and Smart
Author: Chung, An-Me
Keywords: extended school after school programs latch key kids children safety achievement learning community at-risk
Target Audience: Adult Administrators, Teachers, Parents, Community Leaders and Districts
Abstract: Today, more than 28 million school-age children have parents who work outside the home. An estimated five to seven million, and as many as 15 million "latch key children" return to an empty home after school. When the school bell rings, the anxiety for parents often just begins. They worry about whether their children are safe, whether they are susceptible to drugs and crime. In response to this pressing concern, many communities have created after-school programs to keep children and youth out of trouble and engaged in activities that help them learn. This focuses exclusively on the benefits children receive in terms of increased safety, reduced risk-taking, and improved learning. Topics covered include the potential of after school programs for keeping children on the right track, enhancing academic achievement, supporting social development and relationships with adults and peers, strengthening schools, families and communities and components of exemplary programs that work. The publication provides additional resources for communities who are considering putting programs together. Included in resources are names, addresses and websites

Title: AlphaBlack Culture Beginning Activity Book
Author: Isaac, Mia
Keywords: beginning culture pre-school kindergarten alphabet self esteem
Target Audience: K - Primary Students and Teachers

Abstract: This publication is written from an African American point of view and will provide an alphabet with statements on each card to aid in the development of self-esteem. It will rebuild and rekindle respect, allow us to dream, set goals, and accomplish what we set out to do. It will help teachers and parents help children recognize what is in all of us as well as where we have come from. This resource is appropriate for preschool - primary grades.

Title: Americans All
Author: National Education Program
Keywords: immigration immigrants asian european mexican latino african native indian photographs puerto rican black timeline teacher's guide curriculum resource books ethnic student materials ellis island statue of liberty angel island simulation the peopling of america synoptic history music posters

Target Audience: Middle School Teachers and Students

Abstract: This extensive teacher tool kit contains a teacher's manual, a teacher's guide, information on American immigration, a timeline, sheet music for America's people, a collection of photographs and posters, information on African Americans, Native Americans, Asian Americans, European Americans, Mexican Americans and Puerto Rican Americans. It also includes information on the Statue of Liberty, Ellis Island, Angel Island, simulation of the people coming to and living within America and a synoptic history. The entire packet comes in an easy to handle toolkit with identification tabs for easy access. The teacher's guide, resource books, ethnic booklets and student materials will prove useful in grades 7 - 9.

Title: An Antiracist / Multicultural Education Interdisciplinary curriculum development and implementation Pilot-Study with Teachers

Author: Donaldson, Karen

Keywords: racism racist antiracist multicultural education interdisciplinary curriculum units of study university research teacher bias black african american minority institutional racism

Target Audience: Adult Researchers, Teachers, Educators and Administrators

Abstract: The purpose of this handbook is to assist teachers in addressing racism within themselves, their students, the curriculum, and the total school environment. In today's society, it is necessary to include the contributions and experiences of many cultures, thereby enabling the future success of all students; however, many teachers are not equipped to teach a multicultural or issue-related curriculum. With regard to racism, most teachers are unaware of the existence of racism in schools, how it is manifested, and how it may affect student learning. Yet, throughout our nation, schools report racist acts on a regular basis. Although many institutions and educators desire anti-racist alternatives, very little research and even less instruction exists in the areas of teacher and student racism awareness and anti-racist curriculum implementation. It is, therefore, imperative to begin such research and implementation, thus creating models to be used nation-wide. This handbook is one such model. The four components in the handbook will be (1) Racism Awareness, (2) Racism in United States Schools, (3) Understanding Racism Through Students' Eyes, and (4) Antiracist Lesson

Ideas for K-12 Classrooms. Each component is designed to enhance racism awareness and antiracist instruction.

Call No. DR.219.1

Title: An Idea Book on Planning : Implementing Schoolwide Programs

Author: Pechman, Ellen

Keywords: programs research based practices goals planning district consolidated planning team technical assistance data collection analysis goal setting funds school improvement accountability standards tools resources

Target Audience: Adult Administrators, Policy Makers, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: This book focuses on the issues of school wide program planning and combining resources. It contains many examples from various schools that illustrate the issues discussed. Thorough assessment of needs and school wide planning are essential for comprehensively upgrading the effectiveness of a school. Two appendices in Volume 1 provide tools for planning school wide programs and extensive information about print, video, and internet resources available to planners. This resource may be drawn upon for guidance examples of successes within schools that include low achieving students toward improvement and the meeting challenges of current standards.

Call No. DR.217.1

Title: Anti-Bias Curriculum : Tools for Empowering Young Children

Author: Derman-Sparks, Louise

Keywords: prejudice racism curriculum tools empower early childhood education oppression fairness units of study resource teacher primary climate disabilities gender cultural stereotype activism holiday celebrations parents problem solving implementation evaluation strategies clubs support groups plan stories themes sexism

Target Audience: Pre-K – Primary Teachers and Parents

Abstract: Anti-bias curriculum embraces an educational philosophy as well as specific techniques and content. The publication is value base: Differences are good; oppressive ideas and behaviors are not. It sets up a creative tension between respecting differences and not accepting unfair beliefs and acts. It asks teachers and children to confront troublesome issues rather than covering them up. An anti-bias perspective is integral to all aspects of daily classroom life. This publication is not a recipe book. Using its principles and methodology, teachers (and parents who choose to use the book) must recreate anti-bias curriculum in their setting in relation to specific groups of children and families. Through anti-bias curriculum, teachers enable every child to achieve the ultimate goal of early childhood education; the development of each child to her or his fullest potential.

Title: Appalachian Idea Book

Author: Costanzo, Tina / Napier, Felicia / Voris, Connie / Sapona, Regina / Lane, Chet / Starnier, Nancy / DuPriest, Cheryl / Knipfer, Brenda

Keywords: appalachian activities urban appalachia eastern kentucky heritage

Target Audience: Primary Students, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: This publication is a collection of ideas that will help teachers as they work toward developing an awareness of the Appalachian culture within their students. Many sources were used; books, songs, poetry, personal accounts of urban Appalachians and ideas from committee members.

The book includes activities targeted for students in kindergarten through third grade. Teachers at other grade levels are welcome to use the book.

Title: Around the World with Western Union
Author: Glover, Terry
Keywords: learning journal international work book western union study buddies
Target Audience: Primary Students, Teachers and Parents
Abstract: This booklet is intended primarily for use by students participating in the Western Union Study Buddies tutoring program. Western Union has granted permission for reproduction of this booklet for use with students.

Title: Assertion Skills for Young Women
Author: NiCarthy, Ginny
Keywords: assertion skills women gender social communication
Target Audience: High School – Adult Students and Teachers
Abstract: This publication is for anyone who wants to help young women become assertive and especially for people who work with young women in trouble. It is for people who want to teach assertiveness to individuals or groups and people who have had some training as well as those who are new to the subject.

Title: Basis for Decision
Author: St. Paul Public Schools
Keywords: district change policy decision making school boards long range plan administrative administration reform
Target Audience: District Administrators
Abstract: This document is a community workbook about the St. Paul public schools. It reviews certain needs of the schools, both immediate and long range. It also presents alternative ways of meeting those needs. The purpose of the publication is to help the community participate in making decisions. It is useful as a model for district wide change.

Title: Belle Case La Follette, 1859–1931: A Resource Guide
Author: Riley, Jocelyn
Keywords: women writers language arts history literature social studies government woman
Target Audience: Primary Students and Teachers
Abstract: This publication is designed for use by general readers, program presenters and classroom teachers. Two profiles; one written in 1924 and one written in our own time, introduce the reader to Belle Case La Follette and give a context for her work. Discussion questions follow all sections. The series of resource guides includes Mountain Wolf Woman, Votes for Women, Pioneer Women's Diaries, and Zona Gale: Her Life and Writings and may be borrowed individually or as a set.

Title: Bridges and Boundaries : African Americans and American Jews
Author: The Jewish Museum New York
Keywords: african american cultural identity lesson plans curriculum units of study social studies jewish jews blacks religion resource guide human rights civil rights holocaust history persecution oppression division
Target Audience: High School Students and Teachers
Abstract:: This resource guide enables educators who were unable to bring their students to the Jewish Museum in New York's exhibit of Bridges and Boundaries, to address in the classroom stereotyping, discrimination and prejudice, using a format similar to that of the exhibit. The guide contains introductory essays that have been excerpted from presentations made to teachers at the museum and are applicable to any multicultural learning experience. It also includes lesson plans with objectives, historical background, procedure information, visual literacy information, follow-up activities, student handouts, questions for discussion, student build bridges projects and resources for further investigation. This is an excellent high school curriculum piece and may be adapted for other grade levels.

Tit
CD ROM's

Call No. CD.0100.1

Title: Partners for Learning: Preparing Teachers to Involve Families

Author: Partnership for Family Involvement in Education

Keywords: parent involvement family community program administrator teacher professional development in service teacher preparation assistance district local school

Target Audience: District and School Teachers and Administrators

Abstract: This disk contains presentation materials on educator preparation for family involvement in education that include: speaker's notes and overheads in Microsoft PowerPoint 7.0, a QuickTime video clip from a teleconference hosted by Vice President Al Gore and U.S. Secretary of Education Richard W. Riley, and an HTML publication with examples of effective practice. These materials include work done by Teachers College Columbia University under contract to the US Dept. of Education.

Chapter 1 - Bibliographies and Catalogs

Title: 1999 Arts Resource Directory: Arts Education
Showcases

Author: Kentucky Center for the Arts

Keywords: kentucky artist directory resources

Target Audience: Teachers, Districts, Counselors, Parents and Communities

Abstract: This directory showcases artists available to work in the schools in Kentucky. It outlines their medium, contract fees, facility requirements and contact information.

Call No: BC.301.1

Title: Diversity Directory

Author: The Humanitarian Center for Culture and Diversity

Keywords: organizations directory catalog multiculturalism honor heritage diverse communities fayette county bluegrass lexington community involvement network resources culturally diverse

Target Audience: All of the General Population

Abstract: The Humanitarian Center for Culture and Diversity provides this September, 2000 issue of the Diversity Directory for the Bluegrass Region. This comprehensive resource provides the reader with information such as name, telephone #, fax #, address, website and a brief synopsis of organizations that promote multiculturalism and honor the rich heritage of Fayette County. This is a wonderful and up-to-date guide for locating organizations that represent community efforts in Fayette County. Educators attempting to get community involvement and input for diverse projects may want to look at this guide in order to get ideas for community contacts throughout the state. Fayette County educators will find this helpful as a map toward locating diverse community groups.

Title: Educational Programs That Work : The Catalogue of the National Diffusion Network

Author: National Diffusion Network

Keywords: education programs strategies projects approaches intervention enrichment math literacy mentoring intergenerational extended school services community programs even start plan

Target Audience: All Ages of the General Public

Abstract: This National Diffusion Network resource was compiled to help public and private schools and districts identify suitable and workable programs. It identifies state programs and facilitators and provides highlights, contact numbers, office hours and names. Each of the identified programs within the catalog identifies the suitable audience, a program description, evidence of effectiveness, requirements of the program, cost, services and contacts. Programs are broken down into sections that include Gifted and Talented, Special Education, Migrant/ Adult / Higher Education, Career/ Vocational, Approved Programs that are no longer available, programs by state and programs by content area.

Title: Multicultural Projects Index

Author: Pilger, Mary Anne

Keywords: multicultural projects festivals cultures holidays international crafts guide

Target Audience: Teachers, Students and Parents

Abstract: This index to multicultural handicrafts, foods, games, and activities may be used by educators at all levels to assist children and young adults in finding the information they need to make items from different cultures of the world. The rewards of learning about the culture of one's own heritage, as well as that of others, will result in better understanding. This book will make the task of finding that special item an easier and more fruitful quest.

Title: Resource Center Directory

Author: McComb, Jean

Keywords: bibliography catalog resources curriculum reading material videos films abstracts information

Target Audience: General Public

Abstract: This annotated bibliography provides the reader with abstracts, target audience, author and title of all of the information contained in the Kentucky Department of Education's Division of Equity Resource Center lending library. It contains a glossary of terms and an index of the materials.

Title: Selected Publications of the U.S. Department of Education 1999 Catalog

Author: U.S. Department of Education

Keywords: federal publications education resources list civil rights college financial aid postsecondary institutions early childhood elementary secondary education reform improvement statistics research family business community parent involvement mathematics science reading literacy safe drug-free schools spanish language products teacher quality special education rehabilitative services technology town meetings

Target Audience: Adult Administrators, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: ED Publications is the Education Publications Center for the U.S. Department of Education. This catalog has information for anyone interested in education, including, teachers, parents, students, administrators, policymakers, teacher educators, researchers, journalists, librarians, and others. The catalog presents a list of selected Department products, most of which were published between 1996 and 1998, that are available free from ED Pubs while supplies last. These products are offered to help individuals, schools, colleges and communities address pressing education issues.

Title: The Access Resource Guide: An International Directory of Information on War, Peace and Security

Author: Kincade, William H / Hayner, Priscilla B.

Keywords: access war peace national security

Target Audience: Researchers, Teachers and General Public

Abstract: Recent decades have witnessed the emergence around the world of hundreds of new organizations and research centers concerned with security and peace. This resource guide is an annotated compilation of agencies and organizations with similar security and peace debates. The information is drawn from a computerized Resource Base (currently monitoring more than 1400 organizations and information resources across the spectrum of views.

Title: What Every Girl in School Needs to Know

Author: National Coalition of Girls' Schools

Keywords: education university college women girls gender,

Target Audience: High School Students, Counselors and Parents

Abstract: This publication is designed to offer information to girls researching college or alternative school settings. Parents and counselors will appreciate this information. This publication can help the reader find the way to some of the best places for girls to learn. The National Coalition of Girls' Schools is an organization of 65 girls' boarding and day, private and public schools from across the United States with affiliates in Canada and Australia. While differing in history, tradition, location, academic rigor, extracurricular activities, religious affiliation, size, and philosophies, coalition schools share a core belief in and commitment to the values and advantages of an all-girls school. The coalition is located at 228 Main Street in Concord, Massachusetts, 01742 and their telephone # is (508) 369-3452.

Chapter 2 - Development and Resources

CD-ROM

Title: Reducing Youth Violence : A Comprehensive Approach

Author: University of California, Office of Educational and Community Initiatives

Keywords: violence prevention crime juvenile justice system gangs guns drugs youth research contacts training technical assistance district local state school delinquency delinquent violent

Target Audience: Adult Teachers and Administrators

Abstract: The Minimum Requirements for using this CD ROM are Microsoft Windows 95, Windows 98 or Windows NT, Sound card, 16 bit color graphics (thousands of colors), 16x speed CD-ROM drive (32x recommended) and 32 MB RAM (64 MB recommended)

Reducing youth violence requires a comprehensive approach. This multimedia CD-ROM is organized around a range of strategies (improving the juvenile justice system; reducing gang, gun, and drug violence; providing opportunities for youth; strengthening families; and mobilizing communities) that together offer a comprehensive approach. Under each of these key strategies, thousands of pages offer useful information on youth violence and delinquency prevention, including (1) information derived from illustrative operational programs; (2) current data and information about research and evaluation; and (3) contacts for additional resources, training, and technical assistance. The CD-ROM provides the user with several easy ways to access the information, including searching by types of programs, documents, resources, and services. Users can download text and graphics and use them as templates for their own efforts to reduce youth violence and victimization in their communities. This CD ROM is provided by the US Department of Justice, Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention.

Print:

Title: 10 Effective Steps for Teaching At-Risk Students

Author: Epps, Elvis

Keywords: at risk motivate teaching students steps

Target Audience: Adult Teachers and Counselors

Abstract: This booklet is designed to provide the reader with ways to teach at-risk students. It is developed to be a useful tool in benefiting both teacher and student as learners together. Effective steps that will enhance teaching in a multicultural environment are provided.

Title: A.C.T.I.V.E. Sex Equity in Elementary School Physical Education

Author: Arnett, Chappelle / Adelberger, Audra

Keywords: sex equity women gender physical education

Target Audience: Adult Students and Teachers

Abstract: This packet includes two publications, a competency-based teacher education program and a workshop workbook. The information is developed to attain sex equity in elementary school physical education. The objectives are two fold: to develop a competency standard for physical education teachers in elementary schools and to develop a competency –based teacher education program. The workshop is designed for use as a one-day in-service session, a three to four day in-service course or a five to six session in-service course.

Call No. DR.220.1

Title: A Call to Commitment: Fathers' Involvement in Children's Learning

Author: U.S. Department of Education

Keywords: parent involvement father influence family participation education learning commitment mentor role models male

Target Audience: Parents, Teachers, Administrators and Community Leaders

Abstract: This publication is designed to inform, promote and celebrate fathers' increased participation in children's learning. The U.S. has seen a growth in programs to support fathers in becoming actively involved in their children's learning at school, at early childhood development centers, at childcare centers and throughout the community. The question is, How can we increase this momentum based upon what we have learned and accomplished? Section I of this publication provides the research content for the topic of fathers' involvement. Section II provides a discussion of strategies for improving and extending fathers' involvement in their children's education, whether they are resident or nonresident dads. Section III provides examples of programs that involve fathers in children's learning and their practices. A fact sheet on the Partnership for Family Involvement in Education and a form the reader may fill out to receive more information is included.

Title: A Costly Proposition, Sexual Harassment at Work

Author: BNA Communications Inc.

Keywords: sexual harassment work women equity violence

Target Audience: Professionals, Women, General Public, Districts and Teachers

Abstract: This participant's manual contains information on sexual harassment in the workplace. The manual will help the reader recognize and prevent sexual harassment at work. Sexual harassment is a form of sexual discrimination and, as such, is prohibited by Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the federal law that outlaws discrimination in employment on the basis of race, creed, color, national origin, or sex. This publication is designed to explore both the spirit and the letter of the law on sexual harassment at work. No single program can solve the complex behavior and organizational problems that give rise to sexual harassment and complicated work relationships. This program, however, offers you the opportunity to become more aware of the issues involved, and to understand the importance of resolving them.

Title: A Handbook for Teaching Vietnamese - Speaking

Students

Author: California State Department of Education

Keywords: vietnamese esl english second language limited proficiency asian

Target Audience: Teachers

Abstract: The rapid increase of minority language populations poses significant challenges to school districts. There have been insufficient bilingual resources to assist these children. To meet the need, the Department of Education, Office of Bilingual Bi-cultural Education of California developed a series of handbooks designed to assist bilingual/ESL teachers, counselors, school administrators, and teacher training institutions in establishing programmatic, curricular and instructional policies. These handbooks address the unique historical, sociocultural and linguistic characteristics of each group. They also provide educational resources such as community organizations and classroom instructional materials. It is the department's hope that these handbooks will help us improve educational services to Vietnamese language minority children. It is our intent to address some of those concerns.

Title: A Mindset for Math: Techniques for Identifying and Working with Math-Anxious Girls

Author: Genshaft, Judy / Naglieri, Jack / The Ohio State University / Women's Educational Equity Act Program, U.S. Department of Education

Keywords: girls women math anxiety treatment programs identifying fear intimidation

Target Audience: Teachers, Counselors and Administrators

Abstract: Math anxiety has been defined as an unspecified fear related to a mathematical experience. Girls in particular are affected by this anxiety. Described in this guide are the techniques used in a math-anxiety treatment project. All eighth- and tenth-grade students in two junior high schools and two high schools in a large urban school district were evaluated to determine their math-anxiety and math-achievement levels. 45 junior high and 45 high school girls were selected from this large pool of students. These young women participated in a six-week, twelve-lesson project designed to reduce anxiety and improve attitudes toward and achievement in mathematics.

Title: A World of Difference : Anti-bias Study Guide Secondary Level

Author: Anti-Defamation League

Keywords: anti bias bigotry prejudice hate violence name calling curriculum lesson plans high school study guide discrimination conflict

Age: High School Students and Teachers

Abstract: A World of Difference Institute Anti-Bias Study Guide has been prepared for educators to use primarily with students in grades 9-12 as supplementary material to enhance existing curricula. The materials have been designed to assist educators and students in exploring ways to ensure that the tenets of freedom and equality on which this country was built become realities. The Study Guide provides teachers with lessons in skills to encourage students to 1/ explore societal issues arising from bias, bigotry and discrimination 2/ improve critical-thinking skills 3/ examine diverse viewpoints and 4/ take leadership roles in promoting justice and equity in their schools, communities and society at large.

Title: A World of Difference : Anti-bias Study Guide Primary Level

Author: Anti-Defamation League

Keywords: anti bias bigotry prejudice hate violence name calling curriculum lesson plans primary study guide discrimination conflict

Age: Primary Students and Teachers

Abstract: A World of Difference Institute Anti-Bias Study Guide has been prepared for educators to use primarily with students in primary grades as supplementary material to enhance existing curricula. The materials have been designed to assist educators and students in exploring ways to ensure that the tenets of freedom and equality on which this country was built become realities. The Study Guide provides teachers with lessons in skills to encourage students to 1/ explore societal issues arising from bias, bigotry and discrimination 2/ improve critical-thinking skills 3/ examine diverse viewpoints and 4/ take leadership roles in promoting justice and equity in their schools, communities and society at large.

Title: Afro-American Literature: Drama, Nonfiction, Fiction,

Poetry

Author: Adams, William / Conn, Peter / Slepian, Barry

Keywords: black african american history literature drama nonfiction poetry writers

Target Audience: Middle School Students and Teachers

Abstract: This selection of African American literature is written by and about black americans. The aim is to present interesting works by well-known and respected writers rather than an historical approach to the study of literature. A series of questions for discussion and composition are presented to provoke thinking around the general themes of the works presented. The set includes a teachers guide and student guide for fiction, nonfiction, and drama and poetry. There are four drama teacher's guides and two student guides, three fiction teachers guides and one student guide, three nonfiction teacher guides and one student guide and three teachers guides for poetry. The set is appropriate for middle school.

Title: After-School Program: Keeping Children Safe and Smart

Author: Chung, An-Me

Keywords: extended school after school programs latch key kids children safety achievement learning community at-risk

Target Audience: Adult Administrators, Teachers, Parents, Community Leaders and Districts

Abstract: Today, more than 28 million school-age children have parents who work outside the home. An estimated five to seven million, and as many as 15 million "latch key children" return to an empty home after school. When the school bell rings, the anxiety for parents often just begins. They worry about whether their children are safe, whether they are susceptible to drugs and crime. In response to this pressing concern, many communities have created after-school programs to keep children and youth out of trouble and engaged in activities that help them learn. This focuses exclusively on the benefits children receive in terms of increased safety, reduced risk-taking, and improved learning. Topics covered include the potential of after school programs for keeping children on the right track, enhancing academic achievement, supporting social development and relationships with adults and peers, strengthening schools, families and communities and components of exemplary programs that work. The publication provides additional resources for communities who are considering putting programs together. Included in resources are names, addresses and websites

Title: AlphaBlack Culture Beginning Activity Book

Author: Isaac, Mia

Keywords: beginning culture pre-school kindergarten alphabet self esteem

Target Audience: K - Primary Students and Teachers

Abstract: This publication is written from an African American point of view and will provide an alphabet with statements on each card to aid in the development of self-esteem. It will rebuild and rekindle respect, allow us to dream, set goals, and accomplish what we set out to do. It will help teachers and parents help children recognize what is in all of us as well as where we have come from. This resource is appropriate for preschool - primary grades.

Title: Americans All

Author: National Education Program

Keywords: immigration immigrants asian european mexican latino african native indian photographs puerto rican black timeline teacher's guide curriculum resource books ethnic student materials ellis island statue of liberty angel island simulation the peopling of america synoptic history music posters

Target Audience: Middle School Teachers and Students

Abstract: This extensive teacher tool kit contains a teacher's manual, a teacher's guide, information on American immigration, a timeline, sheet music for America's people, a collection of photographs and posters, information on African Americans, Native Americans, Asian Americans, European Americans, Mexican Americans and Puerto Rican Americans. It also includes information on the Statue of Liberty, Ellis Island, Angel Island, simulation of the people coming to and living within America and a synoptic history. The entire packet comes in an easy to handle toolkit with identification tabs for easy access. The teacher's guide, resource books, ethnic booklets and student materials will prove useful in grades 7 - 9.

Title: An Antiracist / Multicultural Education Interdisciplinary curriculum development and implementation Pilot-Study with Teachers

Author: Donaldson, Karen

Keywords: racism racist antiracist multicultural education interdisciplinary curriculum units of study university research teacher bias black african american minority institutional racism

Target Audience: Adult Researchers, Teachers, Educators and Administrators

Abstract: The purpose of this handbook is to assist teachers in addressing racism within themselves, their students, the curriculum, and the total school environment. In today's society, it is necessary to include the contributions and experiences of many cultures, thereby enabling the future success of all students; however, many teachers are not equipped to teach a multicultural or issue-related curriculum. With regard to racism, most teachers are unaware of the existence of racism in schools, how it is manifested, and how it may affect student learning. Yet, throughout our nation, schools report racist acts on a regular basis. Although many institutions and educators desire anti-racist alternatives, very little research and even less instruction exists in the areas of teacher and student racism awareness and anti-racist curriculum implementation. It is, therefore, imperative to begin such research and implementation, thus creating models to be used nation-wide. This handbook is one such model. The four components in the handbook will be (1) Racism Awareness, (2) Racism in United States Schools, (3) Understanding Racism Through Students' Eyes, and (4) Antiracist Lesson Ideas for K-12 Classrooms. Each component is designed to enhance racism awareness and antiracist instruction.

Call No. DR.219.1

Title: An Idea Book on Planning : Implementing Schoolwide Programs

Author: Pechman, Ellen

Keywords: programs research based practices goals planning district consolidated planning team technical assistance data collection analysis goal setting funds school improvement accountability standards tools resources

Target Audience: Adult Administrators, Policy Makers, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: This book focuses on the issues of school wide program planning and combining resources. It contains many examples from various schools that illustrate the issues discussed. Thorough assessment of needs and school wide planning are essential for comprehensively upgrading the effectiveness of a school. Two appendices in Volume 1 provide tools for planning school wide programs and extensive information about print, video, and internet resources available to planners. This resource may be drawn upon for guidance examples of successes within schools that include low achieving students toward improvement and the meeting challenges of current standards.

Call No. DR.217.1

Title: Anti-Bias Curriculum : Tools for Empowering Young Children

Author: Derman-Sparks, Louise

Keywords: prejudice racism curriculum tools empower early childhood education oppression fairness units of study resource teacher primary climate disabilities gender cultural stereotype activism holiday celebrations parents problem solving implementation evaluation strategies clubs support groups plan stories themes sexism

Target Audience: Pre-K – Primary Teachers and Parents

Abstract: Anti-bias curriculum embraces an educational philosophy as well as specific techniques and content. The publication is value base: Differences are good; oppressive ideas and behaviors are not. It sets up a creative tension between respecting differences and not accepting unfair beliefs and acts. It asks teachers and children to confront troublesome issues rather than covering them up. An anti-bias perspective is integral to all aspects of daily classroom life. This publication is not a recipe book. Using its principles and methodology, teachers (and parents who choose to use the book) must recreate anti-bias curriculum in their setting in relation to specific groups of children and families. Through anti-bias curriculum, teachers enable every child to achieve the ultimate goal of early childhood education; the development of each child to her or his fullest potential.

Title: Appalachian Idea Book

Author: Costanzo, Tina / Napier, Felicia / Voris, Connie / Sapona, Regina / Lane, Chet / Starner, Nancy / DuPriest, Cheryl / Knipfer, Brenda

Keywords: appalachian activities urban appalachia eastern kentucky heritage

Target Audience: Primary Students, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: This publication is a collection of ideas that will help teachers as they work toward developing an awareness of the Appalachian culture within their students. Many sources were used; books, songs, poetry, personal accounts of urban Appalachians and ideas from committee members. The book includes activities targeted for students in kindergarten through third grade. Teachers at other grade levels are welcome to use the book.

Title: Around the World with Western Union

Author: Glover, Terry

Keywords: learning journal international work book western union study buddies

Target Audience: Primary Students, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: This booklet is intended primarily for use by students participating in the Western Union Study Buddies tutoring program. Western Union has granted permission for reproduction of this booklet for use with students.

Title: Assertion Skills for Young Women

Author: NiCarthy, Ginny

Keywords: assertion skills women gender social communication

Target Audience: High School – Adult Students and Teachers

Abstract: This publication is for anyone who wants to help young women become assertive and especially for people who work with young women in trouble. It is for people who want to teach assertiveness to individuals or groups and people who have had some training as well as those who are new to the subject.

Title: Basis for Decision

Author: St. Paul Public Schools

Keywords: district change policy decision making school boards long range plan administrative administration reform

Target Audience: District Administrators

Abstract: This document is a community workbook about the St. Paul public schools. It reviews certain needs of the schools, both immediate and long range. It also presents alternative ways of meeting those needs. The purpose of the publication is to help the community participate in making decisions. It is useful as a model for district wide change.

Title: Belle Case La Follette, 1859–1931: A Resource Guide
Author: Riley, Jocelyn
Keywords: women writers language arts history literature social studies government woman
Target Audience: Primary Students and Teachers
Abstract: This publication is designed for use by general readers, program presenters and classroom teachers. Two profiles; one written in 1924 and one written in our own time, introduce the reader to Belle Case La Follette and give a context for her work. Discussion questions follow all sections. The series of resource guides includes Mountain Wolf Woman, Votes for Women, Pioneer Women's Diaries, and Zona Gale: Her Life and Writings and may be borrowed individually or as a set.

Title: Bridges and Boundaries : African Americans and American Jews
Author: The Jewish Museum New York
Keywords: african american cultural identity lesson plans curriculum units of study social studies jewish jews blacks religion resource guide human rights civil rights holocaust history persecution oppression division
Target Audience: High School Students and Teachers
Abstract:: This resource guide enables educators who were unable to bring their students to the Jewish Museum in New York's exhibit of Bridges and Boundaries, to address in the classroom stereotyping, discrimination and prejudice, using a format similar to that of the exhibit. The guide contains introductory essays that have been excerpted from presentations made to teachers at the museum and are applicable to any multicultural learning experience. It also includes lesson plans with objectives, historical background, procedure information, visual literacy information, follow-up activities, student handouts, questions for discussion, student build bridges projects and resources for further investigation. This is an excellent high school curriculum piece and may be adapted for other grade levels.

Tit
CD ROM's

Call No. CD.0100.1
Title: Partners for Learning: Preparing Teachers to Involve Families
Author: Partnership for Family Involvement in Education
Keywords: parent involvement family community program administrator teacher professional development in service teacher preparation assistance district local school
Target Audience: District and School Teachers and Administrators
Abstract: This disk contains presentation materials on educator preparation for family involvement in education that include: speaker's notes and overheads in Microsoft PowerPoint 7.0, a QuickTime video clip from a teleconference hosted by Vice President Al Gore and U.S. Secretary of Education Richard W. Riley, and an HTML publication with examples of effective practice. These materials include work done by Teachers College Columbia University under contract to the US Dept. of Education.

Chapter 1 - Bibliographies and Catalogs

Title: 1999 Arts Resource Directory: Arts Education

Showcases

Author: Kentucky Center for the Arts
Keywords: kentucky artist directory resources
Target Audience: Teachers, Districts, Counselors, Parents and Communities
Abstract: This directory showcases artists available to work in the schools in Kentucky. It outlines their medium, contract fees, facility requirements and contact information.

Call No: BC.301.1

Title: Diversity Directory

Author: The Humanitarium Center for Culture and Diversity
Keywords: organizations directory catalog multiculturalism honor heritage diverse communities fayette county bluegrass lexington community involvement network resources culturally diverse
Target Audience: All of the General Population

Abstract: The Humanitarium Center for Culture and Diversity provides this September, 2000 issue of the Diversity Directory for the Bluegrass Region. This comprehensive resource provides the reader with information such as name, telephone #, fax #, address, website and a brief synopsis of organizations that promote multiculturalism and honor the rich heritage of Fayette County. This is a wonderful and up-to-date guide for locating organizations that represent community efforts in Fayette County. Educators attempting to get community involvement and input for diverse projects may want to look at this guide in order to get ideas for community contacts throughout the state. Fayette County educators will find this helpful as a map toward locating diverse community groups.

Title: Educational Programs That Work : The Catalogue of the National Diffusion Network

Author: National Diffusion Network
Keywords: education programs strategies projects approaches intervention enrichment math literacy mentoring intergenerational extended school services community programs even start plan
Target Audience: All Ages of the General Public

Abstract: This National Diffusion Network resource was compiled to help public and private schools and districts identify suitable and workable programs. It identifies state programs and facilitators and provides highlights, contact numbers, office hours and names. Each of the identified programs within the catalog identifies the suitable audience, a program description, evidence of effectiveness, requirements of the program, cost, services and contacts. Programs are broken down into sections that include Gifted and Talented, Special Education, Migrant/ Adult / Higher Education, Career/ Vocational, Approved Programs that are no longer available, programs by state and programs by content area.

Title: Multicultural Projects Index

Author: Pilger, Mary Anne
Keywords: multicultural projects festivals cultures holidays international crafts guide
Target Audience: Teachers, Students and Parents

Abstract: This index to multicultural handicrafts, foods, games, and activities may be used by educators at all levels to assist children and young adults in finding the information they need to make items from different cultures of the world. The rewards of learning about the culture of one's own heritage, as well as that of others, will result in better understanding. This book will make the task of finding that special item an easier and more fruitful quest.

Title: Resource Center Directory

Author: McComb, Jean

Keywords: bibliography catalog resources curriculum reading material videos films abstracts information

Target Audience: General Public

Abstract: This annotated bibliography provides the reader with abstracts, target audience, author and title of all of the information contained in the Kentucky Department of Education's Division of Equity Resource Center lending library. It contains a glossary of terms and an index of the materials.

Title: Selected Publications of the U.S. Department of Education 1999 Catalog

Author: U.S. Department of Education

Keywords: federal publications education resources list civil rights college financial aid postsecondary institutions early childhood elementary secondary education reform improvement statistics research family business community parent involvement mathematics science reading literacy safe drug-free schools spanish language products teacher quality special education rehabilitative services technology town meetings

Target Audience: Adult Administrators, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: ED Publications is the Education Publications Center for the U.S. Department of Education. This catalog has information for anyone interested in education, including, teachers, parents, students, administrators, policymakers, teacher educators, researchers, journalists, librarians, and others. The catalog presents a list of selected Department products, most of which were published between 1996 and 1998, that are available free from ED Pubs while supplies last. These products are offered to help individuals, schools, colleges and communities address pressing education issues.

Title: The Access Resource Guide: An International Directory of Information on War, Peace and Security

Author: Kincade, William H / Hayner, Priscilla B.

Keywords: access war peace national security

Target Audience: Researchers, Teachers and General Public

Abstract: Recent decades have witnessed the emergence around the world of hundreds of new organizations and research centers concerned with security and peace. This resource guide is an annotated compilation of agencies and organizations with similar security and peace debates. The information is drawn from a computerized Resource Base (currently monitoring more than 1400 organizations and information resources across the spectrum of views.

Title: What Every Girl in School Needs to Know

Author: National Coalition of Girls' Schools

Keywords: education university college women girls gender,

Target Audience: High School Students, Counselors and Parents

Abstract: This publication is designed to offer information to girls researching college or alternative school settings. Parents and counselors will appreciate this information. This publication can help the reader find the way to some of the best places for girls to learn. The National Coalition of Girls' Schools is an organization of 65 girls' boarding and day, private and public schools from across the United States with affiliates in Canada and Australia. While differing in history, tradition, location, academic rigor, extracurricular activities, religious affiliation, size, and philosophies, coalition schools share a core belief in and commitment to the values and advantages of an all-girls school. The coalition is located at 228 Main Street in Concord, Massachusetts, 01742 and their telephone # is (508) 369-3452.

Chapter 2 - Development and Resources

CD-ROM

Title: Reducing Youth Violence : A Comprehensive Approach

Author: University of California, Office of Educational and Community Initiatives

Keywords: violence prevention crime juvenile justice system gangs guns drugs youth research contacts training technical assistance district local state school delinquency delinquent violent

Target Audience: Adult Teachers and Administrators

Abstract: The Minimum Requirements for using this CD ROM are Microsoft Windows 95, Windows 98 or Windows NT, Sound card, 16 bit color graphics (thousands of colors), 16x speed CD-ROM drive (32x recommended) and 32 MB RAM (64 MB recommended)

Reducing youth violence requires a comprehensive approach. This multimedia CD-ROM is organized around a range of strategies (improving the juvenile justice system; reducing gang, gun, and drug violence; providing opportunities for youth; strengthening families; and mobilizing communities) that together offer a comprehensive approach. Under each of these key strategies, thousands of pages offer useful information on youth violence and delinquency prevention, including (1) information derived from illustrative operational programs; (2) current data and information about research and evaluation; and (3) contacts for additional resources, training, and technical assistance. The CD-ROM provides the user with several easy ways to access the information, including searching by types of programs, documents, resources, and services. Users can download text and graphics and use them as templates for their own efforts to reduce youth violence and victimization in their communities. This CD ROM is provided by the US Department of Justice, Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention.

Print:

Title: 10 Effective Steps for Teaching At-Risk Students

Author: Epps, Elvis

Keywords: at risk motivate teaching students steps

Target Audience: Adult Teachers and Counselors

Abstract: This booklet is designed to provide the reader with ways to teach at-risk students. It is developed to be a useful tool in benefiting both teacher and student as learners together. Effective steps that will enhance teaching in a multicultural environment are provided.

Title: A.C.T.I.V.E. Sex Equity in Elementary School Physical Education

Author: Arnett, Chappelle / Adelberger, Audra

Keywords: sex equity women gender physical education

Target Audience: Adult Students and Teachers

Abstract: This packet includes two publications, a competency-based teacher education program and a workshop workbook. The information is developed to attain sex equity in elementary school physical education. The objectives are two fold: to develop a competency standard for physical education teachers in elementary schools and to develop a competency –based teacher education program. The workshop is designed for use as a one-day in-service session, a three to four day in-service course or a five to six session in-service course.

Call No. DR.220.1

Title: A Call to Commitment: Fathers' Involvement in Children's Learning

Author: U.S. Department of Education

Keywords: parent involvement father influence family participation education learning commitment mentor role models male

Target Audience: Parents, Teachers, Administrators and Community Leaders

Abstract: This publication is designed to inform, promote and celebrate fathers' increased participation in children's learning. The U.S. has seen a growth in programs to support fathers in becoming actively involved in their children's learning at school, at early childhood development centers, at childcare centers and throughout the community. The question is, How can we increase this momentum based upon what we have learned and accomplished? Section I of this publication provides the research content for the topic of fathers' involvement. Section II provides a discussion of strategies for improving and extending fathers' involvement in their children's education, whether they are resident or nonresident dads. Section III provides examples of programs that involve fathers in children's learning and their practices. A fact sheet on the Partnership for Family Involvement in Education and a form the reader may fill out to receive more information is included.

Title: A Costly Proposition, Sexual Harassment at Work

Author: BNA Communications Inc.

Keywords: sexual harassment work women equity violence

Target Audience: Professionals, Women, General Public, Districts and Teachers

Abstract: This participant's manual contains information on sexual harassment in the workplace. The manual will help the reader recognize and prevent sexual harassment at work. Sexual harassment is a form of sexual discrimination and, as such, is prohibited by Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the federal law that outlaws discrimination in employment on the basis of race, creed, color, national origin, or sex. This publication is designed to explore both the spirit and the letter of the law on sexual harassment at work. No single program can solve the complex behavior and organizational problems that give rise to sexual harassment and complicated work relationships. This program, however, offers you the opportunity to become more aware of the issues involved, and to understand the importance of resolving them.

Title: A Handbook for Teaching Vietnamese - Speaking
Students

Author: California State Department of Education

Keywords: vietnamese esl english second language limited proficiency asian

Target Audience: Teachers

Abstract: The rapid increase of minority language populations poses significant challenges to school districts. There have been insufficient bilingual resources to assist these children. To meet the need, the Department of Education, Office of Bilingual Bi-cultural Education of California developed a series of handbooks designed to assist bilingual/ESL teachers, counselors, school administrators, and teacher training institutions in establishing programmatic, curricular and instructional policies.

These handbooks address the unique historical, sociocultural and linguistic characteristics of each group. They also provide educational resources such as community organizations and classroom instructional materials. It is the department's hope that these handbooks will help us improve educational services to Vietnamese language minority children. It is our intent to address some of those concerns.

Title: A Mindset for Math: Techniques for Identifying and Working with Math-Anxious Girls

Author: Genshaft, Judy / Naglieri, Jack / The Ohio State University / Women's Educational Equity Act Program, U.S. Department of Education

Keywords: girls women math anxiety treatment programs identifying fear intimidation

Target Audience: Teachers, Counselors and Administrators

Abstract: Math anxiety has been defined as an unspecified fear related to a mathematical experience. Girls in particular are affected by this anxiety. Described in this guide are the techniques used in a math-anxiety treatment project. All eighth- and tenth-grade students in two junior high schools and two high schools in a large urban school district were evaluated to determine their math-anxiety and math-achievement levels. 45 junior high and 45 high school girls were selected from this large pool of students. These young women participated in a six-week, twelve-lesson project designed to reduce anxiety and improve attitudes toward and achievement in mathematics.

Title: A World of Difference : Anti-bias Study Guide Secondary Level

Author: Anti-Defamation League

Keywords: anti bias bigotry prejudice hate violence name calling curriculum lesson plans high school study guide discrimination conflict

Age: High School Students and Teachers

Abstract: A World of Difference Institute Anti-Bias Study Guide has been prepared for educators to use primarily with students in grades 9-12 as supplementary material to enhance existing curricula. The materials have been designed to assist educators and students in exploring ways to ensure that the tenets of freedom and equality on which this country was built become realities. The Study Guide provides teachers with lessons in skills to encourage students to 1/ explore societal issues arising from bias, bigotry and discrimination 2/ improve critical-thinking skills 3/ examine diverse viewpoints and 4/ take leadership roles in promoting justice and equity in their schools, communities and society at large.

Title: A World of Difference : Anti-bias Study Guide Primary Level

Author: Anti-Defamation League

Keywords: anti bias bigotry prejudice hate violence name calling curriculum lesson plans primary study guide discrimination conflict

Age: Primary Students and Teachers

Abstract: A World of Difference Institute Anti-Bias Study Guide has been prepared for educators to use primarily with students in primary grades as supplementary material to enhance existing curricula. The materials have been designed to assist educators and students in exploring ways to ensure that the tenets of freedom and equality on which this country was built become realities. The Study Guide provides teachers with lessons in skills to encourage students to 1/ explore societal issues arising from bias, bigotry and discrimination 2/ improve critical-thinking skills 3/ examine diverse viewpoints and 4/ take leadership roles in promoting justice and equity in their schools, communities and society at large.

Title: Afro-American Literature: Drama, Nonfiction, Fiction,
Poetry

Author: Adams, William / Conn, Peter / Slepian, Barry

Keywords: black african american history literature drama nonfiction poetry writers

Target Audience: Middle School Students and Teachers

Abstract: This selection of African American literature is written by and about black americans. The aim is to present interesting works by well-known and respected writers rather than an historical approach to the study of literature. A series of questions for discussion and composition are presented to provoke thinking around the general themes of the works presented. The set includes a teachers guide and student guide for fiction, nonfiction, and drama and poetry. There are four drama teacher's guides and two student guides, three fiction teachers guides and one student guide, three nonfiction teacher guides and one student guide and three teachers guides for poetry. The set is appropriate for middle school.

Title: After-School Program: Keeping Children Safe and Smart

Author: Chung, An-Me

Keywords: extended school after school programs latch key kids children safety achievement learning community at-risk

Target Audience: Adult Administrators, Teachers, Parents, Community Leaders and Districts

Abstract: Today, more than 28 million school-age children have parents who work outside the home. An estimated five to seven million, and as many as 15 million "latch key children" return to an empty home after school. When the school bell rings, the anxiety for parents often just begins. They worry about whether their children are safe, whether they are susceptible to drugs and crime. In response to this pressing concern, many communities have created after-school programs to keep children and youth out of trouble and engaged in activities that help them learn. This focuses exclusively on the benefits children receive in terms of increased safety, reduced risk-taking, and improved learning. Topics covered include the potential of after school programs for keeping children on the right track, enhancing academic achievement, supporting social development and relationships with adults and peers, strengthening schools, families and communities and components of exemplary programs that work. The publication provides additional resources for communities who are considering putting programs together. Included in resources are names, addresses and websites

Title: AlphaBlack Culture Beginning Activity Book

Author: Isaac, Mia

Keywords: beginning culture pre-school kindergarten alphabet self esteem

Target Audience: K - Primary Students and Teachers

Abstract: This publication is written from an African American point of view and will provide an alphabet with statements on each card to aid in the development of self -esteem. It will rebuild and rekindle respect, allow us to dream, set goals, and accomplish what we set out to do. It will help teachers and parents help children recognize what is in all of us as well as where we have come from. This resource is appropriate for preschool - primary grades.

Title: Americans All

Author: National Education Program

Keywords: immigration immigrants asian european mexican latino african native indian photographs puerto rican black timeline teacher's guide curriculum resource books ethnic student materials ellis island statue of liberty angel island simulation the peopling of america synoptic history music posters

Target Audience: Middle School Teachers and Students

Abstract: This extensive teacher tool kit contains a teacher's manual, a teacher's guide, information on American immigration, a timeline, sheet music for America's people, a collection of photographs and posters, information on African Americans, Native Americans, Asian Americans, European Americans, Mexican Americans and Puerto Rican Americans. It also includes information on the Statue of Liberty, Ellis Island, Angel Island, simulation of the people coming to and living within America and a synoptic history. The entire packet comes in an easy to handle toolkit with identification tabs for easy access. The teacher's guide, resource books, ethnic booklets and student materials will prove useful in grades 7 - 9.

Title: An Antiracist / Multicultural Education Interdisciplinary curriculum development and implementation Pilot-Study with Teachers

Author: Donaldson, Karen

Keywords: racism racist antiracist multicultural education interdisciplinary curriculum units of study university research teacher bias black african american minority institutional racism

Target Audience: Adult Researchers, Teachers, Educators and Administrators

Abstract: The purpose of this handbook is to assist teachers in addressing racism within themselves, their students, the curriculum, and the total school environment. In today's society, it is necessary to include the contributions and experiences of many cultures, thereby enabling the future success of all students; however, many teachers are not equipped to teach a multicultural or issue-related curriculum. With regard to racism, most teachers are unaware of the existence of racism in schools, how it is manifested, and how it may affect student learning. Yet, throughout our nation, schools report racist acts on a regular basis. Although many institutions and educators desire anti-racist alternatives, very little research and even less instruction exists in the areas of teacher and student racism awareness and anti-racist curriculum implementation. It is, therefore, imperative to begin such research and implementation, thus creating models to be used nation-wide. This handbook is one such model. The four components in the handbook will be (1) Racism Awareness, (2) Racism in United States Schools, (3) Understanding Racism Through Students' Eyes, and (4) Antiracist Lesson Ideas for K-12 Classrooms. Each component is designed to enhance racism awareness and antiracist instruction.

Call No. DR.219.1

Title: An Idea Book on Planning : Implementing Schoolwide Programs

Author: Pechman, Ellen

Keywords: programs research based practices goals planning district consolidated planning team technical assistance data collection analysis goal setting funds school improvement accountability standards tools resources

Target Audience: Adult Administrators, Policy Makers, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: This book focuses on the issues of school wide program planning and combining resources. It contains many examples from various schools that illustrate the issues discussed. Thorough assessment of needs and school wide planning are essential for comprehensively upgrading the effectiveness of a school. Two appendices in Volume 1 provide tools for planning school wide programs and extensive information about print, video, and internet resources available to planners. This resource may be drawn upon for guidance examples of successes within schools that include low achieving students toward improvement and the meeting challenges of current standards.

Call No. DR.217.1

Title: Anti-Bias Curriculum : Tools for Empowering Young Children

Author: Derman-Sparks, Louise

Keywords: prejudice racism curriculum tools empower early childhood education oppression fairness units of study resource teacher primary climate disabilities gender cultural stereotype activism holiday celebrations parents problem solving implementation evaluation strategies clubs support groups plan stories themes sexism

Target Audience: Pre-K – Primary Teachers and Parents

Abstract: Anti-bias curriculum embraces an educational philosophy as well as specific techniques and content. The publication is value base: Differences are good; oppressive ideas and behaviors are not. It sets up a creative tension between respecting differences and not accepting unfair beliefs and acts. It asks teachers and children to confront troublesome issues rather than covering them up. An anti-bias perspective is integral to all aspects of daily classroom life. This publication is not a recipe book. Using its principles and methodology, teachers (and parents who choose to use the book) must recreate anti-bias curriculum in their setting in relation to specific groups of children and families. Through anti-bias curriculum, teachers enable every child to achieve the ultimate goal of early childhood education; the development of each child to her or his fullest potential.

Title: Appalachian Idea Book

Author: Costanzo, Tina / Napier, Felicia / Voris, Connie / Sapona, Regina / Lane, Chet / Starner, Nancy / DuPriest, Cheryl / Knipfer, Brenda

Keywords: appalachian activities urban appalachia eastern kentucky heritage

Target Audience: Primary Students, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: This publication is a collection of ideas that will help teachers as they work toward developing an awareness of the Appalachian culture within their students. Many sources were used; books, songs, poetry, personal accounts of urban Appalachians and ideas from committee members. The book includes activities targeted for students in kindergarten through third grade. Teachers at other grade levels are welcome to use the book.

Title: Around the World with Western Union

Author: Glover, Terry

Keywords: learning journal international work book western union study buddies

Target Audience: Primary Students, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: This booklet is intended primarily for use by students participating in the Western Union Study Buddies tutoring program. Western Union has granted permission for reproduction of this booklet for use with students.

Title: Assertion Skills for Young Women

Author: NiCarthy, Ginny

Keywords: assertion skills women gender social communication

Target Audience: High School – Adult Students and Teachers

Abstract: This publication is for anyone who wants to help young women become assertive and especially for people who work with young women in trouble. It is for people who want to teach assertiveness to individuals or groups and people who have had some training as well as those who are new to the subject.

Title: Basis for Decision

Author: St. Paul Public Schools

Keywords: district change policy decision making school boards long range plan administrative administration reform

Target Audience: District Administrators

Abstract: This document is a community workbook about the St. Paul public schools. It reviews certain needs of the schools, both immediate and long range. It also presents alternative ways of meeting those needs. The purpose of the publication is to help the community participate in making decisions. It is useful as a model for district wide change.

Title: Belle Case La Follette, 1859–1931: A Resource Guide

Author: Riley, Jocelyn

Keywords: women writers language arts history literature social studies government woman

Target Audience: Primary Students and Teachers

Abstract: This publication is designed for use by general readers, program presenters and classroom teachers. Two profiles; one written in 1924 and one written in our own time, introduce the reader to Belle Case La Follette and give a context for her work. Discussion questions follow all sections. The series of resource guides includes Mountain Wolf Woman, Votes for Women, Pioneer Women's Diaries, and Zona Gale: Her Life and Writings and may be borrowed individually or as a set.

Title: Bridges and Boundaries : African Americans and American Jews

Author: The Jewish Museum New York

Keywords: african american cultural identity lesson plans curriculum units of study social studies jewish jews blacks religion resource guide human rights civil rights holocaust history persecution oppression division

Target Audience: High School Students and Teachers

Abstract: This resource guide enables educators who were unable to bring their students to the Jewish Museum in New York's exhibit of Bridges and Boundaries, to address in the classroom stereotyping, discrimination and prejudice, using a format similar to that of the exhibit. The guide contains introductory essays that have been excerpted from presentations made to teachers at the museum and are applicable to any multicultural learning experience. It also includes lesson plans with objectives, historical background, procedure information, visual literacy information, follow-up activities, student handouts, questions for discussion, student build bridges projects and resources for further investigation. This is an excellent high school curriculum piece and may be adapted for other grade levels.

Call No. CD.0100.1

Title: Partners for Learning: Preparing Teachers to Involve Families

Author: Partnership for Family Involvement in Education

Keywords: parent involvement family community program administrator teacher professional development in service teacher preparation assistance district local school

Target Audience: District and School Teachers and Administrators

Abstract: This disk contains presentation materials on educator preparation for family involvement in education that include: speaker's notes and overheads in Microsoft PowerPoint 7.0, a QuickTime video clip from a teleconference hosted by Vice President Al Gore and U.S. Secretary of Education Richard W. Riley, and an HTML publication with examples of effective practice. These materials include work done by Teachers College Columbia University under contract to the US Dept. of Education.

Chapter 1 - Bibliographies and Catalogs

Title: 1999 Arts Resource Directory: Arts Education

Showcases

Author: Kentucky Center for the Arts

Keywords: kentucky artist directory resources

Target Audience: Teachers, Districts, Counselors, Parents and Communities

Abstract: This directory showcases artists available to work in the schools in Kentucky. It outlines their medium, contract fees, facility requirements and contact information.

Call No: BC.301.1

Title: Diversity Directory

Author: The Humanitarium Center for Culture and Diversity

Keywords: organizations directory catalog multiculturalism honor heritage diverse communities fayette county bluegrass lexington community involvement network resources culturally diverse

Target Audience: All of the General Population

Abstract: The Humanitarium Center for Culture and Diversity provides this September, 2000 issue of the Diversity Directory for the Bluegrass Region. This comprehensive resource provides the reader with information such as name, telephone #, fax #, address, website and a brief synopsis of organizations that promote multiculturalism and honor the rich heritage of Fayette County. This is a wonderful and up-to-date guide for locating organizations that represent community efforts in Fayette County. Educators attempting to get community involvement and input for diverse projects may want to look at this guide in order to get ideas for community contacts throughout the state. Fayette County educators will find this helpful as a map toward locating diverse community groups.

Title: Educational Programs That Work : The Catalogue of the National Diffusion Network

Author: National Diffusion Network

Keywords: education programs strategies projects approaches intervention enrichment math literacy mentoring intergenerational extended school services community programs even start plan

Target Audience: All Ages of the General Public

Abstract: This National Diffusion Network resource was compiled to help public and private schools and districts identify suitable and workable programs. It identifies state programs and facilitators and provides highlights, contact numbers, office hours and names. Each of the identified programs within the catalog identifies the suitable audience, a program description, evidence of effectiveness, requirements of the program, cost, services and contacts. Programs are broken down into sections that include Gifted and Talented, Special Education, Migrant/ Adult / Higher Education, Career/ Vocational, Approved Programs that are no longer available, programs by state and programs by content area.

Title: Multicultural Projects Index

Author: Pilger, Mary Anne

Keywords: multicultural projects festivals cultures holidays international crafts guide

Target Audience: Teachers, Students and Parents

Abstract: This index to multicultural handicrafts, foods, games, and activities may be used by educators at all levels to assist children and young adults in finding the information they need to make items from different cultures of the world. The rewards of learning about the culture of one's own heritage, as well as that of others, will result in better understanding. This book will make the task of finding that special item an easier and more fruitful quest.

Title: Resource Center Directory

Author: McComb, Jean

Keywords: bibliography catalog resources curriculum reading material videos films abstracts information

Target Audience: General Public

Abstract: This annotated bibliography provides the reader with abstracts, target audience, author and title of all of the information contained in the Kentucky Department of Education's Division of Equity Resource Center lending library. It contains a glossary of terms and an index of the materials.

Title: Selected Publications of the U.S. Department of Education 1999 Catalog

Author: U.S. Department of Education

Keywords: federal publications education resources list civil rights college financial aid postsecondary institutions early childhood elementary secondary education reform improvement statistics research family business community parent involvement mathematics science reading literacy safe drug-free schools spanish language products teacher quality special education rehabilitative services technology town meetings

Target Audience: Adult Administrators, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: ED Publications is the Education Publications Center for the U.S. Department of Education. This catalog has information for anyone interested in education, including, teachers, parents, students, administrators, policymakers, teacher educators, researchers, journalists, librarians, and others. The catalog presents a list of selected Department products, most of which were published between 1996 and 1998, that are available free from ED Pubs while supplies last. These products are offered to help individuals, schools, colleges and communities address pressing education issues.

Title: The Access Resource Guide: An International Directory of Information on War, Peace and Security

Author: Kincade, William H / Hayner, Priscilla B.

Keywords: access war peace national security

Target Audience: Researchers, Teachers and General Public

Abstract: Recent decades have witnessed the emergence around the world of hundreds of new organizations and research centers concerned with security and peace. This resource guide is an annotated compilation of agencies and organizations with similar security and peace debates. The information is drawn from a computerized Resource Base (currently monitoring more than 1400 organizations and information resources across the spectrum of views.

Title: What Every Girl in School Needs to Know

Author: National Coalition of Girls' Schools

Keywords: education university college women girls gender,

Target Audience: High School Students, Counselors and Parents

Abstract: This publication is designed to offer information to girls researching college or alternative school settings. Parents and counselors will appreciate this information. This publication can help the reader find the way to some of the best places for girls to learn. The National Coalition of Girls' Schools is an organization of 65 girls' boarding and day, private and public schools from across the United States with affiliates in Canada and Australia. While differing in history, tradition, location, academic rigor, extracurricular activities, religious affiliation, size, and philosophies, coalition schools share a core belief in and commitment to the values and advantages of an all-girls school. The coalition is located at 228 Main Street in Concord, Massachusetts, 01742 and their telephone # is (508) 369-3452.

Chapter 2 - Development and Resources

CD-ROM

Title: Reducing Youth Violence : A Comprehensive Approach

Author: University of California, Office of Educational and Community Initiatives

Keywords: violence prevention crime juvenile justice system gangs guns drugs youth research contacts training technical assistance district local state school delinquency delinquent violent

Target Audience: Adult Teachers and Administrators

Abstract: The Minimum Requirements for using this CD ROM are Microsoft Windows 95, Windows 98 or Windows NT, Sound card, 16 bit color graphics (thousands of colors), 16x speed CD-ROM drive (32x recommended) and 32 MB RAM (64 MB recommended)

Reducing youth violence requires a comprehensive approach. This multimedia CD-ROM is organized around a range of strategies (improving the juvenile justice system; reducing gang, gun, and drug violence; providing opportunities for youth; strengthening families; and mobilizing communities) that together offer a comprehensive approach. Under each of these key strategies, thousands of pages offer useful information on youth violence and delinquency prevention, including (1) information derived from illustrative operational programs; (2) current data and information about research and evaluation; and (3) contacts for additional resources, training, and technical assistance. The CD-ROM provides the user with several easy ways to access the information, including searching by types of programs, documents, resources, and services. Users can download text and graphics and use them as templates for their own efforts to reduce youth violence and victimization in their communities. This CD ROM is provided by the US Department of Justice, Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention.

Print:

Title: 10 Effective Steps for Teaching At-Risk Students

Author: Epps, Elvis

Keywords: at risk motivate teaching students steps

Target Audience: Adult Teachers and Counselors

Abstract: This booklet is designed to provide the reader with ways to teach at-risk students. It is developed to be a useful tool in benefiting both teacher and student as learners together. Effective steps that will enhance teaching in a multicultural environment are provided.

Title: A.C.T.I.V.E. Sex Equity in Elementary School Physical Education

Author: Arnett, Chappelle / Adelberger, Audra

Keywords: sex equity women gender physical education

Target Audience: Adult Students and Teachers

Abstract: This packet includes two publications, a competency-based teacher education program and a workshop workbook. The information is developed to attain sex equity in elementary school physical education. The objectives are two fold: to develop a competency standard for physical education teachers in elementary schools and to develop a competency –based teacher education program. The workshop is designed for use as a one-day in-service session, a three to four day in-service course or a five to six session in-service course.

Call No. DR.220.1

Title: A Call to Commitment: Fathers' Involvement in Children's Learning

Author: U.S. Department of Education

Keywords: parent involvement father influence family participation education learning commitment mentor role models male

Target Audience: Parents, Teachers, Administrators and Community Leaders

Abstract: This publication is designed to inform, promote and celebrate fathers' increased participation in children's learning. The U.S. has seen a growth in programs to support fathers in becoming actively involved in their children's learning at school, at early childhood development centers, at childcare centers and throughout the community. The question is, How can we increase this momentum based upon what we have learned and accomplished? Section I of this publication provides the research content for the topic of fathers' involvement. Section II provides a discussion of strategies for improving and extending fathers' involvement in their children's education, whether they are resident or nonresident dads. Section III provides examples of programs that involve fathers in children's learning and their practices. A fact sheet on the Partnership for Family Involvement in Education and a form the reader may fill out to receive more information is included.

Title: A Costly Proposition, Sexual Harassment at Work

Author: BNA Communications Inc.

Keywords: sexual harassment work women equity violence

Target Audience: Professionals, Women, General Public, Districts and Teachers

Abstract: This participant's manual contains information on sexual harassment in the workplace. The manual will help the reader recognize and prevent sexual harassment at work. Sexual harassment is a form of sexual discrimination and, as such, is prohibited by Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the federal law that outlaws discrimination in employment on the basis of race, creed, color, national origin, or sex. This publication is designed to explore both the spirit and the letter of the law on sexual harassment at work. No single program can solve the complex behavior and organizational problems that give rise to sexual harassment and complicated work relationships. This program, however, offers you the opportunity to become more aware of the issues involved, and to understand the importance of resolving them.

Title: A Handbook for Teaching Vietnamese - Speaking

Students

Author: California State Department of Education

Keywords: vietnamese esl english second language limited proficiency asian

Target Audience: Teachers

Abstract: The rapid increase of minority language populations poses significant challenges to school districts. There have been insufficient bilingual resources to assist these children. To meet the need, the Department of Education, Office of Bilingual Bi-cultural Education of California developed a series of handbooks designed to assist bilingual/ESL teachers, counselors, school administrators, and teacher training institutions in establishing programmatic, curricular and instructional policies. These handbooks address the unique historical, sociocultural and linguistic characteristics of each group. They also provide educational resources such as community organizations and classroom instructional materials. It is the department's hope that these handbooks will help us improve educational services to Vietnamese language minority children. It is our intent to address some of those concerns.

Title: A Mindset for Math: Techniques for Identifying and Working with Math-Anxious Girls

Author: Genshaft, Judy / Naglieri, Jack / The Ohio State University / Women's Educational Equity Act Program, U.S. Department of Education

Keywords: girls women math anxiety treatment programs identifying fear intimidation

Target Audience: Teachers, Counselors and Administrators

Abstract: Math anxiety has been defined as an unspecified fear related to a mathematical experience. Girls in particular are affected by this anxiety. Described in this guide are the techniques used in a math-anxiety treatment project. All eighth- and tenth-grade students in two junior high schools and two high schools in a large urban school district were evaluated to determine their math-anxiety and math-achievement levels. 45 junior high and 45 high school girls were selected from this large pool of students. These young women participated in a six-week, twelve-lesson project designed to reduce anxiety and improve attitudes toward and achievement in mathematics.

Title: A World of Difference : Anti-bias Study Guide Secondary Level

Author: Anti-Defamation League

Keywords: anti bias bigotry prejudice hate violence name calling curriculum lesson plans high school study guide discrimination conflict

Age: High School Students and Teachers

Abstract: A World of Difference Institute Anti-Bias Study Guide has been prepared for educators to use primarily with students in grades 9-12 as supplementary material to enhance existing curricula. The materials have been designed to assist educators and students in exploring ways to ensure that the tenets of freedom and equality on which this country was built become realities. The Study Guide provides teachers with lessons in skills to encourage students to 1/ explore societal issues arising from bias, bigotry and discrimination 2/ improve critical-thinking skills 3/ examine diverse viewpoints and 4/ take leadership roles in promoting justice and equity in their schools, communities and society at large.

Title: A World of Difference : Anti-bias Study Guide Primary Level

Author: Anti-Defamation League

Keywords: anti bias bigotry prejudice hate violence name calling curriculum lesson plans primary study guide discrimination conflict

Age: Primary Students and Teachers

Abstract: A World of Difference Institute Anti-Bias Study Guide has been prepared for educators to use primarily with students in primary grades as supplementary material to enhance existing curricula. The materials have been designed to assist educators and students in exploring ways to ensure that the tenets of freedom and equality on which this country was built become realities. The Study Guide provides teachers with lessons in skills to encourage students to 1/ explore societal issues arising from bias, bigotry and discrimination 2/ improve critical-thinking skills 3/ examine diverse viewpoints and 4/ take leadership roles in promoting justice and equity in their schools, communities and society at large.

Title: Afro-American Literature: Drama, Nonfiction, Fiction,

Poetry

Author: Adams, William / Conn, Peter / Slepian, Barry

Keywords: black african american history literature drama nonfiction poetry writers

Target Audience: Middle School Students and Teachers

Abstract: This selection of African American literature is written by and about black americans. The aim is to present interesting works by well-known and respected writers rather than an historical approach to the study of literature. A series of questions for discussion and composition are presented to provoke thinking around the general themes of the works presented. The set includes a teachers guide and student guide for fiction, nonfiction, and drama and poetry. There are four drama teacher's guides and two student guides, three fiction teachers guides and one student guide, three nonfiction teacher guides and one student guide and three teachers guides for poetry. The set is appropriate for middle school.

Title: After-School Program: Keeping Children Safe and Smart

Author: Chung, An-Me

Keywords: extended school after school programs latch key kids children safety achievement learning community at-risk

Target Audience: Adult Administrators, Teachers, Parents, Community Leaders and Districts

Abstract: Today, more than 28 million school-age children have parents who work outside the home. An estimated five to seven million, and as many as 15 million "latch key children" return to an empty home after school. When the school bell rings, the anxiety for parents often just begins. They worry about whether their children are safe, whether they are susceptible to drugs and crime. In response to this pressing concern, many communities have created after-school programs to keep children and youth out of trouble and engaged in activities that help them learn. This focuses exclusively on the benefits children receive in terms of increased safety, reduced risk-taking, and improved learning. Topics covered include the potential of after school programs for keeping children on the right track, enhancing academic achievement, supporting social development and relationships with adults and peers, strengthening schools, families and communities and components of exemplary programs that work. The publication provides additional resources for communities who are considering putting programs together. Included in resources are names, addresses and websites

Title: AlphaBlack Culture Beginning Activity Book

Author: Isaac, Mia

Keywords: beginning culture pre-school kindergarten alphabet self esteem

Target Audience: K - Primary Students and Teachers

Abstract: This publication is written from an African American point of view and will provide an alphabet with statements on each card to aid in the development of self-esteem. It will rebuild and rekindle respect, allow us to dream, set goals, and accomplish what we set out to do. It will help teachers and parents help children recognize what is in all of us as well as where we have come from. This resource is appropriate for preschool - primary grades.

Title: Americans All

Author: National Education Program

Keywords: immigration immigrants asian european mexican latino african native indian photographs puerto rican black timeline teacher's guide curriculum resource books ethnic student materials ellis island statue of liberty angel island simulation the peopling of america synoptic history music posters

Target Audience: Middle School Teachers and Students

Abstract: This extensive teacher tool kit contains a teacher's manual, a teacher's guide, information on American immigration, a timeline, sheet music for America's people, a collection of photographs and posters, information on African Americans, Native Americans, Asian Americans, European Americans, Mexican Americans and Puerto Rican Americans. It also includes information on the Statue of Liberty, Ellis Island, Angel Island, simulation of the people coming to and living within America and a synoptic history. The entire packet comes in an easy to handle toolkit with identification tabs for easy access. The teacher's guide, resource books, ethnic booklets and student materials will prove useful in grades 7 - 9.

Title: An Antiracist / Multicultural Education Interdisciplinary curriculum development and implementation Pilot-Study with Teachers

Author: Donaldson, Karen

Keywords: racism racist antiracist multicultural education interdisciplinary curriculum units of study university research teacher bias black african american minority institutional racism

Target Audience: Adult Researchers, Teachers, Educators and Administrators

Abstract: The purpose of this handbook is to assist teachers in addressing racism within themselves, their students, the curriculum, and the total school environment. In today's society, it is necessary to include the contributions and experiences of many cultures, thereby enabling the future success of all students; however, many teachers are not equipped to teach a multicultural or issue-related curriculum. With regard to racism, most teachers are unaware of the existence of racism in schools, how it is manifested, and how it may affect student learning. Yet, throughout our nation, schools report racist acts on a regular basis. Although many institutions and educators desire anti-racist alternatives, very little research and even less instruction exists in the areas of teacher and student racism awareness and anti-racist curriculum implementation. It is, therefore, imperative to begin such research and implementation, thus creating models to be used nation-wide. This handbook is one such model. The four components in the handbook will be (1) Racism Awareness, (2) Racism in United States Schools, (3) Understanding Racism Through Students' Eyes, and (4) Antiracist Lesson Ideas for K-12 Classrooms. Each component is designed to enhance racism awareness and antiracist instruction.

Call No. DR.219.1

Title: An Idea Book on Planning : Implementing Schoolwide Programs

Author: Pechman, Ellen

Keywords: programs research based practices goals planning district consolidated planning team technical assistance data collection analysis goal setting funds school improvement accountability standards tools resources

Target Audience: Adult Administrators, Policy Makers, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: This book focuses on the issues of school wide program planning and combining resources. It contains many examples from various schools that illustrate the issues discussed. Thorough assessment of needs and school wide planning are essential for comprehensively upgrading the effectiveness of a school. Two appendices in Volume 1 provide tools for planning school wide programs and extensive information about print, video, and internet resources available to planners. This resource may be drawn upon for guidance examples of successes within schools that include low achieving students toward improvement and the meeting challenges of current standards.

Call No. DR.217.1

Title: Anti-Bias Curriculum : Tools for Empowering Young Children

Author: Derman-Sparks, Louise

Keywords: prejudice racism curriculum tools empower early childhood education oppression fairness units of study resource teacher primary climate disabilities gender cultural stereotype activism holiday celebrations parents problem solving implementation evaluation strategies clubs support groups plan stories themes sexism

Target Audience: Pre-K – Primary Teachers and Parents

Abstract: Anti-bias curriculum embraces an educational philosophy as well as specific techniques and content. The publication is value base: Differences are good; oppressive ideas and behaviors are not. It sets up a creative tension between respecting differences and not accepting unfair beliefs and acts. It asks teachers and children to confront troublesome issues rather than covering them up. An anti-bias perspective is integral to all aspects of daily classroom life. This publication is not a recipe book. Using its principles and methodology, teachers (and parents who choose to use the book) must recreate anti-bias curriculum in their setting in relation to specific groups of children and families. Through anti-bias curriculum, teachers enable every child to achieve the ultimate goal of early childhood education; the development of each child to her or his fullest potential.

Title: Appalachian Idea Book

Author: Costanzo, Tina / Napier, Felicia / Voris, Connie / Sapona, Regina / Lane, Chet / Starner, Nancy / DuPriest, Cheryl / Knipfer, Brenda

Keywords: appalachian activities urban appalachia eastern kentucky heritage

Target Audience: Primary Students, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: This publication is a collection of ideas that will help teachers as they work toward developing an awareness of the Appalachian culture within their students. Many sources were used; books, songs, poetry, personal accounts of urban Appalachians and ideas from committee members. The book includes activities targeted for students in kindergarten through third grade. Teachers at other grade levels are welcome to use the book.

Title: Around the World with Western Union
Author: Glover, Terry
Keywords: learning journal international work book western union study buddies
Target Audience: Primary Students, Teachers and Parents
Abstract: This booklet is intended primarily for use by students participating in the Western Union Study Buddies tutoring program. Western Union has granted permission for reproduction of this booklet for use with students.

Title: Assertion Skills for Young Women
Author: NiCarthy, Ginny
Keywords: assertion skills women gender social communication
Target Audience: High School – Adult Students and Teachers
Abstract: This publication is for anyone who wants to help young women become assertive and especially for people who work with young women in trouble. It is for people who want to teach assertiveness to individuals or groups and people who have had some training as well as those who are new to the subject.

Title: Basis for Decision
Author: St. Paul Public Schools
Keywords: district change policy decision making school boards long range plan administrative administration reform
Target Audience: District Administrators
Abstract: This document is a community workbook about the St. Paul public schools. It reviews certain needs of the schools, both immediate and long range. It also presents alternative ways of meeting those needs. The purpose of the publication is to help the community participate in making decisions. It is useful as a model for district wide change.

Title: Belle Case La Follette, 1859–1931: A Resource Guide
Author: Riley, Jocelyn
Keywords: women writers language arts history literature social studies government woman
Target Audience: Primary Students and Teachers
Abstract: This publication is designed for use by general readers, program presenters and classroom teachers. Two profiles; one written in 1924 and one written in our own time, introduce the reader to Belle Case La Follette and give a context for her work. Discussion questions follow all sections. The series of resource guides includes Mountain Wolf Woman, Votes for Women, Pioneer Women's Diaries, and Zona Gale: Her Life and Writings and may be borrowed individually or as a set.

Title: Bridges and Boundaries : African Americans and American Jews
Author: The Jewish Museum New York
Keywords: african american cultural identity lesson plans curriculum units of study social studies jewish jews blacks religion resource guide human rights civil rights holocaust history persecution oppression division

Target Audience: High School Students and Teachers

Abstract:: This resource guide enables educators who were unable to bring their students to the Jewish Museum in New York's exhibit of Bridges and Boundaries, to address in the classroom stereotyping, discrimination and prejudice, using a format similar to that of the exhibit. The guide contains introductory essays that have been excerpted from presentations made to teachers at the museum and are applicable to any multicultural learning experience. It also includes lesson plans with objectives, historical background, procedure information, visual literacy information, follow-up activities, student handouts, questions for discussion, student build bridges projects and resources for further investigation. This is an excellent high school curriculum piece and may be adapted for other grade levels.

Tit

CD ROM's

Call No. CD.0100.1

Title: Partners for Learning: Preparing Teachers to Involve Families

Author: Partnership for Family Involvement in Education

Keywords: parent involvement family community program administrator teacher professional development in service teacher preparation assistance district local school

Target Audience: District and School Teachers and Administrators

Abstract: This disk contains presentation materials on educator preparation for family involvement in education that include: speaker's notes and overheads in Microsoft PowerPoint 7.0, a QuickTime video clip from a teleconference hosted by Vice President Al Gore and U.S. Secretary of Education Richard W. Riley, and an HTML publication with examples of effective practice. These materials include work done by Teachers College Columbia University under contract to the US Dept. of Education.

Chapter 1 - Bibliographies and Catalogs

Title: 1999 Arts Resource Directory: Arts Education

Showcases

Author: Kentucky Center for the Arts

Keywords: kentucky artist directory resources

Target Audience: Teachers, Districts, Counselors, Parents and Communities

Abstract: This directory showcases artists available to work in the schools in Kentucky. It outlines their medium, contract fees, facility requirements and contact information.

Call No: BC.301.1

Title: Diversity Directory

Author: The Humanitarian Center for Culture and Diversity

Keywords: organizations directory catalog multiculturalism honor heritage diverse communities fayette county bluegrass lexington community involvement network resources culturally diverse

Target Audience: All of the General Population

Abstract: The Humanitarian Center for Culture and Diversity provides this September, 2000 issue of the Diversity Directory for the Bluegrass Region. This comprehensive resource provides the reader with information such as name, telephone #, fax #, address, website and a brief synopsis of organizations that promote multiculturalism and honor the rich heritage of Fayette County. This is a wonderful and up-to-date guide for locating organizations that represent community efforts in Fayette County. Educators attempting to get community involvement and input for diverse projects may want to look at this guide in order to get ideas for community contacts throughout the state. Fayette County educators will find this helpful as a map toward locating diverse community groups.

Title: Educational Programs That Work : The Catalogue of the National Diffusion Network

Author: National Diffusion Network

Keywords: education programs strategies projects approaches intervention enrichment math literacy mentoring intergenerational extended school services community programs even start plan

Target Audience: All Ages of the General Public

Abstract: This National Diffusion Network resource was compiled to help public and private schools and districts identify suitable and workable programs. It identifies state programs and facilitators and provides highlights, contact numbers, office hours and names. Each of the identified programs within the catalog identifies the suitable audience, a program description, evidence of effectiveness, requirements of the program, cost, services and contacts. Programs are broken down into sections that include Gifted and Talented, Special Education, Migrant/ Adult / Higher Education, Career/ Vocational, Approved Programs that are no longer available, programs by state and programs by content area.

Title: Multicultural Projects Index

Author: Pilger, Mary Anne

Keywords: multicultural projects festivals cultures holidays international crafts guide

Target Audience: Teachers, Students and Parents

Abstract: This index to multicultural handicrafts, foods, games, and activities may be used by educators at all levels to assist children and young adults in finding the information they need to make items from different cultures of the world. The rewards of learning about the culture of one's own heritage, as well as that of others, will result in better understanding. This book will make the task of finding that special item an easier and more fruitful quest.

Title: Resource Center Directory

Author: McComb, Jean

Keywords: bibliography catalog resources curriculum reading material videos films abstracts information

Target Audience: General Public

Abstract: This annotated bibliography provides the reader with abstracts, target audience, author and title of all of the information contained in the Kentucky Department of Education's Division of Equity Resource Center lending library. It contains a glossary of terms and an index of the materials.

Title: Selected Publications of the U.S. Department of Education 1999 Catalog

Author: U.S. Department of Education

Keywords: federal publications education resources list civil rights college financial aid postsecondary institutions early childhood elementary secondary education reform improvement statistics research family business community parent involvement mathematics science reading literacy safe drug-free schools spanish language products teacher quality special education rehabilitative services technology town meetings

Target Audience: Adult Administrators, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: ED Publications is the Education Publications Center for the U.S. Department of Education. This catalog has information for anyone interested in education, including, teachers, parents, students, administrators, policymakers, teacher educators, researchers, journalists, librarians, and others. The catalog presents a list of selected Department products, most of which were published between 1996 and 1998, that are available free from ED Pubs while supplies last. These products are offered to help individuals, schools, colleges and communities address pressing education issues.

Title: The Access Resource Guide: An International Directory of Information on War, Peace and Security

Author: Kincade, William H / Hayner, Priscilla B.

Keywords: access war peace national security

Target Audience: Researchers, Teachers and General Public

Abstract: Recent decades have witnessed the emergence around the world of hundreds of new organizations and research centers concerned with security and peace. This resource guide is an annotated compilation of agencies and organizations with similar security and peace debates. The information is drawn from a computerized Resource Base (currently monitoring more than 1400 organizations and information resources across the spectrum of views.

Title: What Every Girl in School Needs to Know

Author: National Coalition of Girls' Schools

Keywords: education university college women girls gender,

Target Audience: High School Students, Counselors and Parents

Abstract: This publication is designed to offer information to girls researching college or alternative school settings. Parents and counselors will appreciate this information. This publication can help the reader find the way to some of the best places for girls to learn. The National Coalition of Girls' Schools is an organization of 65 girls' boarding and day, private and public schools from across the United States with affiliates in Canada and Australia. While differing in history, tradition, location, academic rigor, extracurricular activities, religious affiliation, size, and philosophies, coalition schools share a core belief in and commitment to the values and advantages of an all-girls school. The coalition is located at 228 Main Street in Concord, Massachusetts, 01742 and their telephone # is (508) 369-3452.

Chapter 2 - Development and Resources

CD-ROM

Title: Reducing Youth Violence : A Comprehensive Approach

Author: University of California, Office of Educational and Community Initiatives

Keywords: violence prevention crime juvenile justice system gangs guns drugs youth research contacts training technical assistance district local state school delinquency delinquent violent

Target Audience: Adult Teachers and Administrators

Abstract: The Minimum Requirements for using this CD ROM are Microsoft Windows 95, Windows

98 or Windows NT, Sound card, 16 bit color graphics (thousands of colors), 16x speed CD-ROM drive (32x recommended) and 32 MB RAM (64 MB recommended)

Reducing youth violence requires a comprehensive approach. This multimedia CD-ROM is organized around a range of strategies (improving the juvenile justice system; reducing gang, gun, and drug violence; providing opportunities for youth; strengthening families; and mobilizing communities) that together offer a comprehensive approach. Under each of these key strategies, thousands of pages offer useful information on youth violence and delinquency prevention, including (1) information derived from illustrative operational programs; (2) current data and information about research and evaluation; and (3) contacts for additional resources, training, and technical assistance. The CD-ROM provides the user with several easy ways to access the information, including searching by types of programs, documents, resources, and services. Users can download text and graphics and use them as templates for their own efforts to reduce youth violence and victimization in their communities. This CD ROM is provided by the US Department of Justice, Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention.

Print:

Title: 10 Effective Steps for Teaching At-Risk Students

Author: Epps, Elvis

Keywords: at risk motivate teaching students steps

Target Audience: Adult Teachers and Counselors

Abstract: This booklet is designed to provide the reader with ways to teach at-risk students. It is developed to be a useful tool in benefiting both teacher and student as learners together. Effective steps that will enhance teaching in a multicultural environment are provided.

Title: A.C.T.I.V.E. Sex Equity in Elementary School Physical Education

Author: Arnett, Chappelle / Adelberger, Audra

Keywords: sex equity women gender physical education

Target Audience: Adult Students and Teachers

Abstract: This packet includes two publications, a competency-based teacher education program and a workshop workbook. The information is developed to attain sex equity in elementary school physical education. The objectives are two fold: to develop a competency standard for physical education teachers in elementary schools and to develop a competency –based teacher education program. The workshop is designed for use as a one-day in-service session, a three to four day in-service course or a five to six session in-service course.

Call No. DR.220.1

Title: A Call to Commitment: Fathers' Involvement in Children's Learning

Author: U.S. Department of Education

Keywords: parent involvement father influence family participation education learning commitment mentor role models male

Target Audience: Parents, Teachers, Administrators and Community Leaders

Abstract: This publication is designed to inform, promote and celebrate fathers' increased participation in children's learning. The U.S. has seen a growth in programs to support fathers in becoming actively involved in their children's learning at school, at early childhood development centers, at childcare centers and throughout the community. The question is, How can we increase this momentum based upon what we have learned and accomplished? Section I of this publication provides the research content for the topic of fathers' involvement. Section II provides a discussion of strategies for improving and extending fathers' involvement in their children's education, whether they are resident or nonresident dads. Section III provides examples of programs that involve fathers in children's learning and their practices. A fact sheet on the Partnership for Family Involvement in Education and a form the reader may fill out to receive more information is included.

Title: A Costly Proposition, Sexual Harassment at Work

Author: BNA Communications Inc.

Keywords: sexual harassment work women equity violence

Target Audience: Professionals, Women, General Public, Districts and Teachers

Abstract: This participant's manual contains information on sexual harassment in the workplace. The manual will help the reader recognize and prevent sexual harassment at work. Sexual harassment is a form of sexual discrimination and, as such, is prohibited by Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the federal law that outlaws discrimination in employment on the basis of race, creed, color, national origin, or sex. This publication is designed to explore both the spirit and the letter of the law on sexual harassment at work. No single program can solve the complex behavior and organizational problems that give rise to sexual harassment and complicated work relationships. This program, however, offers you the opportunity to become more aware of the issues involved, and to understand the importance of resolving them.

Title: A Handbook for Teaching Vietnamese - Speaking
Students

Author: California State Department of Education

Keywords: vietnamese esl english second language limited proficiency asian

Target Audience: Teachers

Abstract: The rapid increase of minority language populations poses significant challenges to school districts. There have been insufficient bilingual resources to assist these children. To meet the need, the Department of Education, Office of Bilingual Bi-cultural Education of California developed a series of handbooks designed to assist bilingual/ESL teachers, counselors, school administrators, and teacher training institutions in establishing programmatic, curricular and instructional policies. These handbooks address the unique historical, sociocultural and linguistic characteristics of each group. They also provide educational resources such as community organizations and classroom instructional materials. It is the department's hope that these handbooks will help us improve educational services to Vietnamese language minority children. It is our intent to address some of those concerns.

Title: A Mindset for Math: Techniques for Identifying and Working with Math-Anxious Girls

Author: Genshaft, Judy / Naglieri, Jack / The Ohio State University / Women's Educational Equity Act Program, U.S. Department of Education

Keywords: girls women math anxiety treatment programs identifying fear intimidation

Target Audience: Teachers, Counselors and Administrators

Abstract: Math anxiety has been defined as an unspecified fear related to a mathematical experience. Girls in particular are affected by this anxiety. Described in this guide are the techniques used in a math-anxiety treatment project. All eighth- and tenth-grade students in two junior high schools and two high schools in a large urban school district were evaluated to determine their math-anxiety and math-achievement levels. 45 junior high and 45 high school girls were selected from this large pool of students. These young women participated in a six-week, twelve-lesson project designed to reduce anxiety and improve attitudes toward and achievement in mathematics.

Title: A World of Difference : Anti-bias Study Guide Secondary Level

Author: Anti-Defamation League

Keywords: anti bias bigotry prejudice hate violence name calling curriculum lesson plans high school study guide discrimination conflict

Age: High School Students and Teachers

Abstract: A World of Difference Institute Anti-Bias Study Guide has been prepared for educators to use primarily with students in grades 9-12 as supplementary material to enhance existing curricula. The materials have been designed to assist educators and students in exploring ways to ensure that the tenets of freedom and equality on which this country was built become realities. The Study Guide provides teachers with lessons in skills to encourage students to 1/ explore societal issues arising from bias, bigotry and discrimination 2/ improve critical-thinking skills 3/ examine diverse viewpoints and 4/ take leadership roles in promoting justice and equity in their schools, communities and society at large.

Title: A World of Difference : Anti-bias Study Guide Primary Level

Author: Anti-Defamation League

Keywords: anti bias bigotry prejudice hate violence name calling curriculum lesson plans primary study guide discrimination conflict

Age: Primary Students and Teachers

Abstract: A World of Difference Institute Anti-Bias Study Guide has been prepared for educators to use primarily with students in primary grades as supplementary material to enhance existing curricula. The materials have been designed to assist educators and students in exploring ways to ensure that the tenets of freedom and equality on which this country was built become realities. The Study Guide provides teachers with lessons in skills to encourage students to 1/ explore societal issues arising from bias, bigotry and discrimination 2/ improve critical-thinking skills 3/ examine diverse viewpoints and 4/ take leadership roles in promoting justice and equity in their schools, communities and society at large.

Title: Afro-American Literature: Drama, Nonfiction, Fiction,
Poetry

Author: Adams, William / Conn, Peter / Slepian, Barry

Keywords: black african american history literature drama nonfiction poetry writers

Target Audience: Middle School Students and Teachers

Abstract: This selection of African American literature is written by and about black americans. The aim is to present interesting works by well-known and respected writers rather than an historical approach to the study of literature. A series of questions for discussion and composition are presented to provoke thinking around the general themes of the works presented. The set includes a teachers guide and student guide for fiction, nonfiction, and drama and poetry. There are four drama teacher's guides and two student guides, three fiction teachers guides and one student guide, three nonfiction teacher guides and one student guide and three teachers guides for poetry. The set is appropriate for middle school.

Title: After-School Program: Keeping Children Safe and Smart

Author: Chung, An-Me

Keywords: extended school after school programs latch key kids children safety achievement learning community at-risk

Target Audience: Adult Administrators, Teachers, Parents, Community Leaders and Districts

Abstract: Today, more than 28 million school-age children have parents who work outside the home. An estimated five to seven million, and as many as 15 million "latch key children" return to an empty home after school. When the school bell rings, the anxiety for parents often just begins. They worry about whether their children are safe, whether they are susceptible to drugs and crime. In response to this pressing concern, many communities have created after-school programs to keep children and youth out of trouble and engaged in activities that help them learn. This focuses exclusively on the benefits children receive in terms of increased safety, reduced risk-taking, and improved learning. Topics covered include the potential of after school programs for keeping children on the right track, enhancing academic achievement, supporting social development and relationships with adults and peers, strengthening schools, families and communities and components of exemplary programs that work. The publication provides additional resources for communities who are considering putting programs together. Included in resources are names, addresses and websites

Title: AlphaBlack Culture Beginning Activity Book

Author: Isaac, Mia

Keywords: beginning culture pre-school kindergarten alphabet self esteem

Target Audience: K - Primary Students and Teachers

Abstract: This publication is written from an African American point of view and will provide an alphabet with statements on each card to aid in the development of self-esteem. It will rebuild and rekindle respect, allow us to dream, set goals, and accomplish what we set out to do. It will help teachers and parents help children recognize what is in all of us as well as where we have come from. This resource is appropriate for preschool - primary grades.

Title: Americans All

Author: National Education Program

Keywords: immigration immigrants asian european mexican latino african native indian photographs puerto rican black timeline teacher's guide curriculum resource books ethnic student materials ellis island statue of liberty angel island simulation the peopling of america synoptic history music posters

Target Audience: Middle School Teachers and Students

Abstract: This extensive teacher tool kit contains a teacher's manual, a teacher's guide, information on American immigration, a timeline, sheet music for America's people, a collection of photographs and posters, information on African Americans, Native Americans, Asian Americans, European Americans, Mexican Americans and Puerto Rican Americans. It also includes information on the Statue of Liberty, Ellis Island, Angel Island, simulation of the people coming to and living within America and a synoptic history. The entire packet comes in an easy to handle toolkit with identification tabs for easy access. The teacher's guide, resource books, ethnic booklets and student materials will prove useful in grades 7 - 9.

Title: An Antiracist / Multicultural Education Interdisciplinary curriculum development and implementation Pilot-Study with Teachers

Author: Donaldson, Karen

Keywords: racism racist antiracist multicultural education interdisciplinary curriculum units of study university research teacher bias black african american minority institutional racism

Target Audience: Adult Researchers, Teachers, Educators and Administrators

Abstract: The purpose of this handbook is to assist teachers in addressing racism within themselves, their students, the curriculum, and the total school environment. In today's society, it is necessary to include the contributions and experiences of many cultures, thereby enabling the future success of all students; however, many teachers are not equipped to teach a multicultural or issue-related curriculum. With regard to racism, most teachers are unaware of the existence of racism in schools, how it is manifested, and how it may affect student learning. Yet, throughout our nation, schools report racist acts on a regular basis. Although many institutions and educators desire anti-racist alternatives, very little research and even less instruction exists in the areas of teacher and student racism awareness and anti-racist curriculum implementation. It is, therefore, imperative to begin such research and implementation, thus creating models to be used nation-wide. This handbook is one such model. The four components in the handbook will be (1) Racism Awareness, (2) Racism in United States Schools, (3) Understanding Racism Through Students' Eyes, and (4) Antiracist Lesson Ideas for K-12 Classrooms. Each component is designed to enhance racism awareness and antiracist instruction.

Call No. DR.219.1

Title: An Idea Book on Planning : Implementing Schoolwide Programs

Author: Pechman, Ellen

Keywords: programs research based practices goals planning district consolidated planning team technical assistance data collection analysis goal setting funds school improvement accountability standards tools resources

Target Audience: Adult Administrators, Policy Makers, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: This book focuses on the issues of school wide program planning and combining resources. It contains many examples from various schools that illustrate the issues discussed. Thorough assessment of needs and school wide planning are essential for comprehensively upgrading the effectiveness of a school. Two appendices in Volume 1 provide tools for planning school wide programs and extensive information about print, video, and internet resources available to planners. This resource may be drawn upon for guidance examples of successes within schools that include low achieving students toward improvement and the meeting challenges of current standards.

Call No. DR.217.1

Title: Anti-Bias Curriculum : Tools for Empowering Young Children

Author: Derman-Sparks, Louise

Keywords: prejudice racism curriculum tools empower early childhood education oppression fairness units of study resource teacher primary climate disabilities gender cultural stereotype activism holiday celebrations parents problem solving implementation evaluation strategies clubs support groups plan stories themes sexism

Target Audience: Pre-K – Primary Teachers and Parents

Abstract: Anti-bias curriculum embraces an educational philosophy as well as specific techniques and content. The publication is value base: Differences are good; oppressive ideas and behaviors are not. It sets up a creative tension between respecting differences and not accepting unfair beliefs and acts. It asks teachers and children to confront troublesome issues rather than covering them up. An anti-bias perspective is integral to all aspects of daily classroom life. This publication is not a recipe book. Using its principles and methodology, teachers (and parents who choose to use the book) must recreate anti-bias curriculum in their setting in relation to specific groups of children and families. Through anti-bias curriculum, teachers enable every child to achieve the ultimate goal of early childhood education; the development of each child to her or his fullest potential.

Title: Appalachian Idea Book

Author: Costanzo, Tina / Napier, Felicia / Voris, Connie / Sapona, Regina / Lane, Chet / Starner, Nancy / DuPriest, Cheryl / Knipfer, Brenda

Keywords: appalachian activities urban appalachia eastern kentucky heritage

Target Audience: Primary Students, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: This publication is a collection of ideas that will help teachers as they work toward developing an awareness of the Appalachian culture within their students. Many sources were used; books, songs, poetry, personal accounts of urban Appalachians and ideas from committee members. The book includes activities targeted for students in kindergarten through third grade. Teachers at other grade levels are welcome to use the book.

Title: Around the World with Western Union

Author: Glover, Terry

Keywords: learning journal international work book western union study buddies

Target Audience: Primary Students, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: This booklet is intended primarily for use by students participating in the Western Union Study Buddies tutoring program. Western Union has granted permission for reproduction of this booklet for use with students.

Title: Assertion Skills for Young Women

Author: NiCarthy, Ginny

Keywords: assertion skills women gender social communication

Target Audience: High School – Adult Students and Teachers

Abstract: This publication is for anyone who wants to help young women become assertive and especially for people who work with young women in trouble. It is for people who want to teach assertiveness to individuals or groups and people who have had some training as well as those who are new to the subject.

Title: Basis for Decision

Author: St. Paul Public Schools

Keywords: district change policy decision making school boards long range plan administrative administration reform

Target Audience: District Administrators

Abstract: This document is a community workbook about the St. Paul public schools. It reviews certain needs of the schools, both immediate and long range. It also presents alternative ways of meeting those needs. The purpose of the publication is to help the community participate in making decisions. It is useful as a model for district wide change.

Title: Belle Case La Follette, 1859–1931: A Resource Guide

Author: Riley, Jocelyn

Keywords: women writers language arts history literature social studies government woman

Target Audience: Primary Students and Teachers

Abstract: This publication is designed for use by general readers, program presenters and classroom teachers. Two profiles; one written in 1924 and one written in our own time, introduce the reader to Belle Case La Follette and give a context for her work. Discussion questions follow all sections. The series of resource guides includes Mountain Wolf Woman, Votes for Women, Pioneer Women's Diaries, and Zona Gale: Her Life and Writings and may be borrowed individually or as a set.

Title: Bridges and Boundaries : African Americans and American Jews

Author: The Jewish Museum New York

Keywords: african american cultural identity lesson plans curriculum units of study social studies jewish jews blacks religion resource guide human rights civil rights holocaust history persecution oppression division

Target Audience: High School Students and Teachers

Abstract:: This resource guide enables educators who were unable to bring their students to the Jewish Museum in New York's exhibit of Bridges and Boundaries, to address in the classroom stereotyping, discrimination and prejudice, using a format similar to that of the exhibit. The guide contains introductory essays that have been excerpted from presentations made to teachers at the museum and are applicable to any multicultural learning experience. It also includes lesson plans with objectives, historical background, procedure information, visual literacy information, follow-up activities, student handouts, questions for discussion, student build bridges projects and resources for further investigation. This is an excellent high school curriculum piece and may be adapted for other grade levels.

Tit

CD ROM's

Call No. CD.0100.1

Title: Partners for Learning: Preparing Teachers to Involve Families

Author: Partnership for Family Involvement in Education

Keywords: parent involvement family community program administrator teacher professional development in service teacher preparation assistance district local school

Target Audience: District and School Teachers and Administrators

Abstract: This disk contains presentation materials on educator preparation for family involvement in education that include: speaker's notes and overheads in Microsoft PowerPoint 7.0, a QuickTime video clip from a teleconference hosted by Vice President Al Gore and U.S. Secretary of Education Richard W. Riley, and an HTML publication with examples of effective practice. These materials include work done by Teachers College Columbia University under contract to the US Dept. of Education.

Chapter 1 - Bibliographies and Catalogs

Title: 1999 Arts Resource Directory: Arts Education
Showcases

Author: Kentucky Center for the Arts

Keywords: kentucky artist directory resources

Target Audience: Teachers, Districts, Counselors, Parents and Communities

Abstract: This directory showcases artists available to work in the schools in Kentucky. It outlines their medium, contract fees, facility requirements and contact information.

Call No: BC.301.1

Title: Diversity Directory

Author: The Humanitarium Center for Culture and Diversity

Keywords: organizations directory catalog multiculturalism honor heritage diverse communities
fayette county bluegrass lexington community involvement network resources culturally diverse

Target Audience: All of the General Population

Abstract: The Humanitarium Center for Culture and Diversity provides this September, 2000 issue of the Diversity Directory for the Bluegrass Region. This comprehensive resource provides the reader with information such as name, telephone #, fax #, address, website and a brief synopsis of organizations that promote multiculturalism and honor the rich heritage of Fayette County. This is a wonderful and up-to-date guide for locating organizations that represent community efforts in Fayette County. Educators attempting to get community involvement and input for diverse projects may want to look at this guide in order to get ideas for community contacts throughout the state. Fayette County educators will find this helpful as a map toward locating diverse community groups.

Title: Educational Programs That Work : The Catalogue of the National Diffusion Network

Author: National Diffusion Network

Keywords: education programs strategies projects approaches intervention enrichment math
literacy mentoring intergenerational extended school services community programs even start plan

Target Audience: All Ages of the General Public

Abstract: This National Diffusion Network resource was compiled to help public and private schools and districts identify suitable and workable programs. It identifies state programs and facilitators and provides highlights, contact numbers, office hours and names. Each of the identified programs within the catalog identifies the suitable audience, a program description, evidence of effectiveness, requirements of the program, cost, services and contacts. Programs are broken down into sections that include Gifted and Talented, Special Education, Migrant/ Adult / Higher Education, Career/ Vocational, Approved Programs that are no longer available, programs by state and programs by content area.

Title: Multicultural Projects Index

Author: Pilger, Mary Anne

Keywords: multicultural projects festivals cultures holidays international crafts guide

Target Audience: Teachers, Students and Parents

Abstract: This index to multicultural handicrafts, foods, games, and activities may be used by educators at all levels to assist children and young adults in finding the information they need to make items from different cultures of the world. The rewards of learning about the culture of one's own heritage, as well as that of others, will result in better understanding. This book will make the task of finding that special item an easier and more fruitful quest.

Title: Resource Center Directory

Author: McComb, Jean

Keywords: bibliography catalog resources curriculum reading material videos films abstracts information

Target Audience: General Public

Abstract: This annotated bibliography provides the reader with abstracts, target audience, author and title of all of the information contained in the Kentucky Department of Education's Division of Equity Resource Center lending library. It contains a glossary of terms and an index of the materials.

Title: Selected Publications of the U.S. Department of Education 1999 Catalog

Author: U.S. Department of Education

Keywords: federal publications education resources list civil rights college financial aid postsecondary institutions early childhood elementary secondary education reform improvement statistics research family business community parent involvement mathematics science reading literacy safe drug-free schools spanish language products teacher quality special education rehabilitative services technology town meetings

Target Audience: Adult Administrators, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: ED Publications is the Education Publications Center for the U.S. Department of Education. This catalog has information for anyone interested in education, including, teachers, parents, students, administrators, policymakers, teacher educators, researchers, journalists, librarians, and others. The catalog presents a list of selected Department products, most of which were published between 1996 and 1998, that are available free from ED Pubs while supplies last. These products are offered to help individuals, schools, colleges and communities address pressing education issues.

Title: The Access Resource Guide: An International Directory of Information on War, Peace and Security

Author: Kincade, William H / Hayner, Priscilla B.

Keywords: access war peace national security

Target Audience: Researchers, Teachers and General Public

Abstract: Recent decades have witnessed the emergence around the world of hundreds of new organizations and research centers concerned with security and peace. This resource guide is an annotated compilation of agencies and organizations with similar security and peace debates. The information is drawn from a computerized Resource Base (currently monitoring more than 1400 organizations and information resources across the spectrum of views.

Title: What Every Girl in School Needs to Know

Author: National Coalition of Girls' Schools

Keywords: education university college women girls gender,

Target Audience: High School Students, Counselors and Parents

Abstract: This publication is designed to offer information to girls researching college or alternative school settings. Parents and counselors will appreciate this information. This publication can help the reader find the way to some of the best places for girls to learn. The National Coalition of Girls'

Schools is an organization of 65 girls' boarding and day, private and public schools from across the United States with affiliates in Canada and Australia. While differing in history, tradition, location, academic rigor, extracurricular activities, religious affiliation, size, and philosophies, coalition schools share a core belief in and commitment to the values and advantages of an all-girls school. The coalition is located at 228 Main Street in Concord, Massachusetts, 01742 and their telephone # is (508) 369-3452.

Chapter 2 - Development and Resources

CD-ROM

Title: Reducing Youth Violence : A Comprehensive Approach

Author: University of California, Office of Educational and Community Initiatives

Keywords: violence prevention crime juvenile justice system gangs guns drugs youth research contacts training technical assistance district local state school delinquency delinquent violent

Target Audience: Adult Teachers and Administrators

Abstract: The Minimum Requirements for using this CD ROM are Microsoft Windows 95, Windows 98 or Windows NT, Sound card, 16 bit color graphics (thousands of colors), 16x speed CD-ROM drive (32x recommended) and 32 MB RAM (64 MB recommended)

Reducing youth violence requires a comprehensive approach. This multimedia CD-ROM is organized around a range of strategies (improving the juvenile justice system; reducing gang, gun, and drug violence; providing opportunities for youth; strengthening families; and mobilizing communities) that together offer a comprehensive approach. Under each of these key strategies, thousands of pages offer useful information on youth violence and delinquency prevention, including (1) information derived from illustrative operational programs; (2) current data and information about research and evaluation; and (3) contacts for additional resources, training, and technical assistance. The CD-ROM provides the user with several easy ways to access the information, including searching by types of programs, documents, resources, and services. Users can download text and graphics and use them as templates for their own efforts to reduce youth violence and victimization in their communities. This CD ROM is provided by the US Department of Justice, Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention.

Print:

Title: 10 Effective Steps for Teaching At-Risk Students

Author: Epps, Elvis

Keywords: at risk motivate teaching students steps

Target Audience: Adult Teachers and Counselors

Abstract: This booklet is designed to provide the reader with ways to teach at-risk students. It is developed to be a useful tool in benefiting both teacher and student as learners together. Effective steps that will enhance teaching in a multicultural environment are provided.

Title: A.C.T.I.V.E. Sex Equity in Elementary School Physical Education

Author: Arnett, Chappelle / Adelberger, Audra

Keywords: sex equity women gender physical education

Target Audience: Adult Students and Teachers

Abstract: This packet includes two publications, a competency-based teacher education program and a workshop workbook. The information is developed to attain sex equity in elementary school physical education. The objectives are two fold: to develop a competency standard for physical education teachers in elementary schools and to develop a competency –based teacher education program. The workshop is designed for use as a one-day in-service session, a three to four day in-service course or a five to six session in-service course.

Call No. DR.220.1

Title: A Call to Commitment: Fathers' Involvement in Children's Learning

Author: U.S. Department of Education

Keywords: parent involvement father influence family participation education learning commitment mentor role models male

Target Audience:Parents, Teachers, Administrators and Community Leaders

Abstract: This publication is designed to inform, promote and celebrate fathers' increased participation in children's learning. The U.S. has seen a growth in programs to support fathers in becoming actively involved in their children's learning at school, at early childhood development centers, at childcare centers and throughout the community. The question is, How can we increase this momentum based upon what we have learned and accomplished? Section I of this publication provides the research content for the topic of fathers' involvement. Section II provides a discussion of strategies for improving and extending fathers' involvement in their children's education, whether they are resident or nonresident dads. Section III provides examples of programs that involve fathers in children's learning and their practices. A fact sheet on the Partnership for Family Involvement in Education and a form the reader may fill out to receive more information is included.

Title: A Costly Proposition, Sexual Harassment at Work

Author: BNA Communications Inc.

Keywords: sexual harassment work women equity violence

Target Audience: Professionals, Women, General Public, Districts and Teachers

Abstract: This participant's manual contains information on sexual harassment in the workplace. The manual will help the reader recognize and prevent sexual harassment at work. Sexual harassment is a form of sexual discrimination and, as such, is prohibited by Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the federal law that outlaws discrimination in employment on the basis of race, creed, color, national origin, or sex. This publication is designed to explore both the spirit and the letter of the law on sexual harassment at work. No single program can solve the complex behavior and organizational problems that give rise to sexual harassment and complicated work relationships. This program, however, offers you the opportunity to become more aware of the issues involved, and to understand the importance of resolving them.

Title: A Handbook for Teaching Vietnamese - Speaking

Students

Author: California State Department of Education

Keywords: vietnamese esl english second language limited proficiency asian

Target Audience: Teachers

Abstract: The rapid increase of minority language populations poses significant challenges to school districts. There have been insufficient bilingual resources to assist these children. To meet the need, the Department of Education, Office of Bilingual Bi-cultural Education of California developed a series of handbooks designed to assist bilingual/ESL teachers, counselors, school administrators, and teacher training institutions in establishing programmatic, curricular and instructional policies. These handbooks address the unique historical, sociocultural and linguistic characteristics of each group. They also provide educational resources such as community organizations and classroom instructional materials. It is the department's hope that these handbooks will help us improve educational services to Vietnamese language minority children. It is our intent to address some of those concerns.

Title: A Mindset for Math: Techniques for Identifying and Working with Math-Anxious Girls

Author: Genshaft, Judy / Naglieri, Jack / The Ohio State University / Women's Educational Equity Act Program, U.S. Department of Education

Keywords: girls women math anxiety treatment programs identifying fear intimidation

Target Audience: Teachers, Counselors and Administrators

Abstract: Math anxiety has been defined as an unspecified fear related to a mathematical experience. Girls in particular are affected by this anxiety. Described in this guide are the techniques used in a math-anxiety treatment project. All eighth- and tenth-grade students in two junior high schools and two high schools in a large urban school district were evaluated to determine their math-anxiety and math-achievement levels. 45 junior high and 45 high school girls were selected from this large pool of students. These young women participated in a six-week, twelve-lesson project designed to reduce anxiety and improve attitudes toward and achievement in mathematics.

Title: A World of Difference : Anti-bias Study Guide Secondary Level

Author: Anti-Defamation League

Keywords: anti bias bigotry prejudice hate violence name calling curriculum lesson plans high school study guide discrimination conflict

Age: High School Students and Teachers

Abstract: A World of Difference Institute Anti-Bias Study Guide has been prepared for educators to use primarily with students in grades 9-12 as supplementary material to enhance existing curricula. The materials have been designed to assist educators and students in exploring ways to ensure that the tenets of freedom and equality on which this country was built become realities. The Study Guide provides teachers with lessons in skills to encourage students to 1/ explore societal issues arising from bias, bigotry and discrimination 2/ improve critical-thinking skills 3/ examine diverse viewpoints and 4/ take leadership roles in promoting justice and equity in their schools, communities and society at large.

Title: A World of Difference : Anti-bias Study Guide Primary Level

Author: Anti-Defamation League

Keywords: anti bias bigotry prejudice hate violence name calling curriculum lesson plans primary study guide discrimination conflict

Age: Primary Students and Teachers

Abstract: A World of Difference Institute Anti-Bias Study Guide has been prepared for educators to use primarily with students in primary grades as supplementary material to enhance existing curricula. The materials have been designed to assist educators and students in exploring ways to ensure that the tenets of freedom and equality on which this country was built become realities. The Study Guide provides teachers with lessons in skills to encourage students to 1/ explore societal issues arising from bias, bigotry and discrimination 2/ improve critical-thinking skills 3/ examine diverse viewpoints and 4/ take leadership roles in promoting justice and equity in their schools, communities and society at large.

Title: Afro-American Literature: Drama, Nonfiction, Fiction,
Poetry

Author: Adams, William / Conn, Peter / Slepian, Barry

Keywords: black african american history literature drama nonfiction poetry writers

Target Audience: Middle School Students and Teachers

Abstract: This selection of African American literature is written by and about black americans. The aim is to present interesting works by well-known and respected writers rather than an historical approach to the study of literature. A series of questions for discussion and composition are presented to provoke thinking around the general themes of the works presented. The set includes a teachers guide and student guide for fiction, nonfiction, and drama and poetry. There are four drama teacher's guides and two student guides, three fiction teachers guides and one student guide, three nonfiction teacher guides and one student guide and three teachers guides for poetry. The set is appropriate for middle school.

Title: After-School Program: Keeping Children Safe and Smart

Author: Chung, An-Me

Keywords: extended school after school programs latch key kids children safety achievement learning community at-risk

Target Audience: Adult Administrators, Teachers, Parents, Community Leaders and Districts

Abstract: Today, more than 28 million school-age children have parents who work outside the home. An estimated five to seven million, and as many as 15 million "latch key children" return to an empty home after school. When the school bell rings, the anxiety for parents often just begins. They worry about whether their children are safe, whether they are susceptible to drugs and crime. In response to this pressing concern, many communities have created after-school programs to keep children and youth out of trouble and engaged in activities that help them learn. This focuses exclusively on the benefits children receive in terms of increased safety, reduced risk-taking, and improved learning. Topics covered include the potential of after school programs for keeping children on the right track, enhancing academic achievement, supporting social development and relationships with adults and peers, strengthening schools, families and communities and components of exemplary programs that work. The publication provides additional resources for communities who are considering putting programs together. Included in resources are names, addresses and websites

Title: AlphaBlack Culture Beginning Activity Book

Author: Isaac, Mia

Keywords: beginning culture pre-school kindergarten alphabet self esteem

Target Audience: K - Primary Students and Teachers

Abstract: This publication is written from an African American point of view and will provide an alphabet with statements on each card to aid in the development of self -esteem. It will rebuild and rekindle respect, allow us to dream, set goals, and accomplish what we set out to do. It will help teachers and parents help children recognize what is in all of us as well as where we have come from. This resource is appropriate for preschool - primary grades.

Title: Americans All

Author: National Education Program

Keywords: immigration immigrants asian european mexican latino african native indian photographs puerto rican black timeline teacher's guide curriculum resource books ethnic student materials ellis island statue of liberty angel island simulation the peopling of america synoptic history music posters

Target Audience: Middle School Teachers and Students

Abstract: This extensive teacher tool kit contains a teacher's manual, a teacher's guide, information on American immigration, a timeline, sheet music for America's people, a collection of photographs and posters, information on African Americans, Native Americans, Asian Americans, European Americans, Mexican Americans and Puerto Rican Americans. It also includes information on the Statue of Liberty, Ellis Island, Angel Island, simulation of the people coming to and living within America and a synoptic history. The entire packet comes in an easy to handle toolkit with identification tabs for easy access. The teacher's guide, resource books, ethnic booklets and student materials will prove useful in grades 7 - 9.

Title: An Antiracist / Multicultural Education Interdisciplinary curriculum development and implementation Pilot-Study with Teachers

Author: Donaldson, Karen

Keywords: racism racist antiracist multicultural education interdisciplinary curriculum units of study university research teacher bias black african american minority institutional racism

Target Audience: Adult Researchers, Teachers, Educators and Administrators

Abstract: The purpose of this handbook is to assist teachers in addressing racism within themselves, their students, the curriculum, and the total school environment. In today's society, it is necessary to include the contributions and experiences of many cultures, thereby enabling the future success of all students; however, many teachers are not equipped to teach a multicultural or issue-related curriculum. With regard to racism, most teachers are unaware of the existence of racism in schools, how it is manifested, and how it may affect student learning. Yet, throughout our nation, schools report racist acts on a regular basis. Although many institutions and educators desire anti-racist alternatives, very little research and even less instruction exists in the areas of teacher and student racism awareness and anti-racist curriculum implementation. It is, therefore, imperative to begin such research and implementation, thus creating models to be used nation-wide. This handbook is one such model. The four components in the handbook will be (1) Racism Awareness, (2) Racism in United States Schools, (3) Understanding Racism Through Students' Eyes, and (4) Antiracist Lesson Ideas for K-12 Classrooms. Each component is designed to enhance racism awareness and antiracist instruction.

Call No. DR.219.1

Title: An Idea Book on Planning : Implementing Schoolwide Programs

Author: Pechman, Ellen

Keywords: programs research based practices goals planning district consolidated planning team

technical assistance data collection analysis goal setting funds school improvement accountability standards tools resources

Target Audience: Adult Administrators, Policy Makers, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: This book focuses on the issues of school wide program planning and combining resources. It contains many examples from various schools that illustrate the issues discussed. Thorough assessment of needs and school wide planning are essential for comprehensively upgrading the effectiveness of a school. Two appendices in Volume 1 provide tools for planning school wide programs and extensive information about print, video, and internet resources available to planners. This resource may be drawn upon for guidance examples of successes within schools that include low achieving students toward improvement and the meeting challenges of current standards.

Call No. DR.217.1

Title: Anti-Bias Curriculum : Tools for Empowering Young Children

Author: Derman-Sparks, Louise

Keywords: prejudice racism curriculum tools empower early childhood education oppression fairness units of study resource teacher primary climate disabilities gender cultural stereotype activism holiday celebrations parents problem solving implementation evaluation strategies clubs support groups plan stories themes sexism

Target Audience: Pre-K – Primary Teachers and Parents

Abstract: Anti-bias curriculum embraces an educational philosophy as well as specific techniques and content. The publication is value base: Differences are good; oppressive ideas and behaviors are not. It sets up a creative tension between respecting differences and not accepting unfair beliefs and acts. It asks teachers and children to confront troublesome issues rather than covering them up. An anti-bias perspective is integral to all aspects of daily classroom life. This publication is not a recipe book. Using its principles and methodology, teachers (and parents who choose to use the book) must recreate anti-bias curriculum in their setting in relation to specific groups of children and families. Through anti-bias curriculum, teachers enable every child to achieve the ultimate goal of early childhood education; the development of each child to her or his fullest potential.

Title: Appalachian Idea Book

Author: Costanzo, Tina / Napier, Felicia / Voris, Connie / Sapona, Regina / Lane, Chet / Starner, Nancy / DuPriest, Cheryl / Knipfer, Brenda

Keywords: appalachian activities urban appalachia eastern kentucky heritage

Target Audience: Primary Students, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: This publication is a collection of ideas that will help teachers as they work toward developing an awareness of the Appalachian culture within their students. Many sources were used; books, songs, poetry, personal accounts of urban Appalachians and ideas from committee members. The book includes activities targeted for students in kindergarten through third grade. Teachers at other grade levels are welcome to use the book.

Title: Around the World with Western Union

Author: Glover, Terry

Keywords: learning journal international work book western union study buddies

Target Audience: Primary Students, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: This booklet is intended primarily for use by students participating in the Western Union Study Buddies tutoring program. Western Union has granted permission for reproduction of this booklet for use with students.

Title: Assertion Skills for Young Women
Author: NiCarthy, Ginny
Keywords: assertion skills women gender social communication
Target Audience: High School – Adult Students and Teachers

Abstract: This publication is for anyone who wants to help young women become assertive and especially for people who work with young women in trouble. It is for people who want to teach assertiveness to individuals or groups and people who have had some training as well as those who are new to the subject.

Title: Basis for Decision
Author: St. Paul Public Schools
Keywords: district change policy decision making school boards long range plan administrative administration reform

Target Audience: District Administrators
Abstract: This document is a community workbook about the St. Paul public schools. It reviews certain needs of the schools, both immediate and long range. It also presents alternative ways of meeting those needs. The purpose of the publication is to help the community participate in making decisions. It is useful as a model for district wide change.

Title: Belle Case La Follette, 1859–1931: A Resource Guide
Author: Riley, Jocelyn
Keywords: women writers language arts history literature social studies government woman
Target Audience: Primary Students and Teachers
Abstract: This publication is designed for use by general readers, program presenters and classroom teachers. Two profiles; one written in 1924 and one written in our own time, introduce the reader to Belle Case La Follette and give a context for her work. Discussion questions follow all sections. The series of resource guides includes Mountain Wolf Woman, Votes for Women, Pioneer Women's Diaries, and Zona Gale: Her Life and Writings and may be borrowed individually or as a set.

Title: Bridges and Boundaries : African Americans and American Jews
Author: The Jewish Museum New York
Keywords: african american cultural identity lesson plans curriculum units of study social studies jewish jews blacks religion resource guide human rights civil rights holocaust history persecution oppression division

Target Audience: High School Students and Teachers
Abstract:: This resource guide enables educators who were unable to bring their students to the Jewish Museum in New York's exhibit of Bridges and Boundaries, to address in the classroom stereotyping, discrimination and prejudice, using a format similar to that of the exhibit. The guide contains introductory essays that have been excerpted from presentations made to teachers at the museum and are applicable to any multicultural learning experience. It also includes lesson plans with objectives, historical background, procedure information, visual literacy information, follow-up activities, student handouts, questions for discussion, student build bridges projects and resources for further investigation. This is an excellent high school curriculum piece and may be adapted for other grade levels.

Tit
CD ROM's

Call No. CD.0100.1

Title: Partners for Learning: Preparing Teachers to Involve Families

Author: Partnership for Family Involvement in Education

Keywords: parent involvement family community program administrator teacher professional development in service teacher preparation assistance district local school

Target Audience: District and School Teachers and Administrators

Abstract: This disk contains presentation materials on educator preparation for family involvement in education that include: speaker's notes and overheads in Microsoft PowerPoint 7.0, a QuickTime video clip from a teleconference hosted by Vice President Al Gore and U.S. Secretary of Education Richard W. Riley, and an HTML publication with examples of effective practice. These materials include work done by Teachers College Columbia University under contract to the US Dept. of Education.

Chapter 1 - Bibliographies and Catalogs

Title: 1999 Arts Resource Directory: Arts Education

Showcases

Author: Kentucky Center for the Arts

Keywords: kentucky artist directory resources

Target Audience: Teachers, Districts, Counselors, Parents and Communities

Abstract: This directory showcases artists available to work in the schools in Kentucky. It outlines their medium, contract fees, facility requirements and contact information.

Call No: BC.301.1

Title: Diversity Directory

Author: The Humanitarium Center for Culture and Diversity

Keywords: organizations directory catalog multiculturalism honor heritage diverse communities fayette county bluegrass lexington community involvement network resources culturally diverse

Target Audience: All of the General Population

Abstract: The Humanitarium Center for Culture and Diversity provides this September, 2000 issue of the Diversity Directory for the Bluegrass Region. This comprehensive resource provides the reader with information such as name, telephone #, fax #, address, website and a brief synopsis of organizations that promote multiculturalism and honor the rich heritage of Fayette County. This is a wonderful and up-to-date guide for locating organizations that represent community efforts in Fayette County. Educators attempting to get community involvement and input for diverse projects may want to look at this guide in order to get ideas for community contacts throughout the state. Fayette County educators will find this helpful as a map toward locating diverse community groups.

Title: Educational Programs That Work : The Catalogue of the National Diffusion Network

Author: National Diffusion Network

Keywords: education programs strategies projects approaches intervention enrichment math literacy mentoring intergenerational extended school services community programs even start plan
Target Audience: All Ages of the General Public

Abstract: This National Diffusion Network resource was compiled to help public and private schools and districts identify suitable and workable programs. It identifies state programs and facilitators and provides highlights, contact numbers, office hours and names. Each of the identified programs within the catalog identifies the suitable audience, a program description, evidence of effectiveness, requirements of the program, cost, services and contacts. Programs are broken down into sections that include Gifted and Talented, Special Education, Migrant/ Adult / Higher Education, Career/ Vocational, Approved Programs that are no longer available, programs by state and programs by content area.

Title: Multicultural Projects Index

Author: Pilger, Mary Anne

Keywords: multicultural projects festivals cultures holidays international crafts guide

Target Audience: Teachers, Students and Parents

Abstract: This index to multicultural handicrafts, foods, games, and activities may be used by educators at all levels to assist children and young adults in finding the information they need to make items from different cultures of the world. The rewards of learning about the culture of one's own heritage, as well as that of others, will result in better understanding. This book will make the task of finding that special item an easier and more fruitful quest.

Title: Resource Center Directory

Author: McComb, Jean

Keywords: bibliography catalog resources curriculum reading material videos films abstracts information

Target Audience: General Public

Abstract: This annotated bibliography provides the reader with abstracts, target audience, author and title of all of the information contained in the Kentucky Department of Education's Division of Equity Resource Center lending library. It contains a glossary of terms and an index of the materials.

Title: Selected Publications of the U.S. Department of Education 1999 Catalog

Author: U.S. Department of Education

Keywords: federal publications education resources list civil rights college financial aid postsecondary institutions early childhood elementary secondary education reform improvement statistics research family business community parent involvement mathematics science reading literacy safe drug-free schools spanish language products teacher quality special education rehabilitative services technology town meetings

Target Audience: Adult Administrators, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: ED Publications is the Education Publications Center for the U.S. Department of Education. This catalog has information for anyone interested in education, including, teachers, parents, students, administrators, policymakers, teacher educators, researchers, journalists, librarians, and others. The catalog presents a list of selected Department products, most of which were published between 1996 and 1998, that are available free from ED Pubs while supplies last. These products are offered to help individuals, schools, colleges and communities address pressing education issues.

Title: The Access Resource Guide: An International Directory of Information on War, Peace and Security

Author: Kincade, William H / Hayner, Priscilla B.

Keywords: access war peace national security

Target Audience: Researchers, Teachers and General Public

Abstract: Recent decades have witnessed the emergence around the world of hundreds of new organizations and research centers concerned with security and peace. This resource guide is an annotated compilation of agencies and organizations with similar security and peace debates. The information is drawn from a computerized Resource Base (currently monitoring more than 1400 organizations and information resources across the spectrum of views.

Title: What Every Girl in School Needs to Know

Author: National Coalition of Girls' Schools

Keywords: education university college women girls gender,

Target Audience: High School Students, Counselors and Parents

Abstract: This publication is designed to offer information to girls researching college or alternative school settings. Parents and counselors will appreciate this information. This publication can help the reader find the way to some of the best places for girls to learn. The National Coalition of Girls' Schools is an organization of 65 girls' boarding and day, private and public schools from across the United States with affiliates in Canada and Australia. While differing in history, tradition, location, academic rigor, extracurricular activities, religious affiliation, size, and philosophies, coalition schools share a core belief in and commitment to the values and advantages of an all-girls school. The coalition is located at 228 Main Street in Concord, Massachusetts, 01742 and their telephone # is (508) 369-3452.

Chapter 2 - Development and Resources

CD-ROM

Title: Reducing Youth Violence : A Comprehensive Approach

Author: University of California, Office of Educational and Community Initiatives

Keywords: violence prevention crime juvenile justice system gangs guns drugs youth research contacts training technical assistance district local state school delinquency delinquent violent

Target Audience: Adult Teachers and Administrators

Abstract: The Minimum Requirements for using this CD ROM are Microsoft Windows 95, Windows 98 or Windows NT, Sound card, 16 bit color graphics (thousands of colors), 16x speed CD-ROM drive (32x recommended) and 32 MB RAM (64 MB recommended)

Reducing youth violence requires a comprehensive approach. This multimedia CD-ROM is organized around a range of strategies (improving the juvenile justice system; reducing gang, gun, and drug violence; providing opportunities for youth; strengthening families; and mobilizing communities) that together offer a comprehensive approach. Under each of these key strategies, thousands of pages offer useful information on youth violence and delinquency prevention, including (1) information derived from illustrative operational programs; (2) current data and information about research and evaluation; and (3) contacts for additional resources, training, and technical assistance. The CD-ROM provides the user with several easy ways to access the information, including searching by types of programs, documents, resources, and services. Users can download text and graphics and use them as templates for their own efforts to reduce youth violence and victimization in their communities. This CD ROM is provided by the US Department of Justice, Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention.

Print:

Title: 10 Effective Steps for Teaching At-Risk Students

Author: Epps, Elvis

Keywords: at risk motivate teaching students steps

Target Audience: Adult Teachers and Counselors

Abstract: This booklet is designed to provide the reader with ways to teach at-risk students. It is developed to be a useful tool in benefiting both teacher and student as learners together. Effective steps that will enhance teaching in a multicultural environment are provided.

Title: A.C.T.I.V.E. Sex Equity in Elementary School Physical Education

Author: Arnett, Chappelle / Adelberger, Audra

Keywords: sex equity women gender physical education

Target Audience: Adult Students and Teachers

Abstract: This packet includes two publications, a competency-based teacher education program and a workshop workbook. The information is developed to attain sex equity in elementary school physical education. The objectives are two fold: to develop a competency standard for physical education teachers in elementary schools and to develop a competency –based teacher education program. The workshop is designed for use as a one-day in-service session, a three to four day in-service course or a five to six session in-service course.

Call No. DR.220.1

Title: A Call to Commitment: Fathers' Involvement in Children's Learning

Author: U.S. Department of Education

Keywords: parent involvement father influence family participation education learning commitment mentor role models male

Target Audience: Parents, Teachers, Administrators and Community Leaders

Abstract: This publication is designed to inform, promote and celebrate fathers' increased participation in children's learning. The U.S. has seen a growth in programs to support fathers in becoming actively involved in their children's learning at school, at early childhood development centers, at childcare centers and throughout the community. The question is, How can we increase this momentum based upon what we have learned and accomplished? Section I of this publication provides the research content for the topic of fathers' involvement. Section II provides a discussion of strategies for improving and extending fathers' involvement in their children's education, whether they are resident or nonresident dads. Section III provides examples of programs that involve fathers in children's learning and their practices. A fact sheet on the Partnership for Family Involvement in Education and a form the reader may fill out to receive more information is included.

Title: A Costly Proposition, Sexual Harassment at Work

Author: BNA Communications Inc.

Keywords: sexual harassment work women equity violence

Target Audience: Professionals, Women, General Public, Districts and Teachers

Abstract: This participant's manual contains information on sexual harassment in the workplace. The manual will help the reader recognize and prevent sexual harassment at work. Sexual harassment is a form of sexual discrimination and, as such, is prohibited by Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the federal law that outlaws discrimination in employment on the basis of race, creed, color, national origin, or sex. This publication is designed to explore both the spirit and the letter of the law on sexual harassment at work. No single program can solve the complex behavior and organizational problems that give rise to sexual harassment and complicated work relationships. This program, however, offers you the opportunity to become more aware of the issues involved, and to understand the importance of resolving them.

Title: A Handbook for Teaching Vietnamese - Speaking
Students

Author: California State Department of Education

Keywords: vietnamese esl english second language limited proficiency asian

Target Audience: Teachers

Abstract: The rapid increase of minority language populations poses significant challenges to school districts. There have been insufficient bilingual resources to assist these children. To meet the need, the Department of Education, Office of Bilingual Bi-cultural Education of California developed a series of handbooks designed to assist bilingual/ESL teachers, counselors, school administrators, and teacher training institutions in establishing programmatic, curricular and instructional policies. These handbooks address the unique historical, sociocultural and linguistic characteristics of each group. They also provide educational resources such as community organizations and classroom instructional materials. It is the department's hope that these handbooks will help us improve educational services to Vietnamese language minority children. It is our intent to address some of those concerns.

Title: A Mindset for Math: Techniques for Identifying and Working with Math-Anxious Girls

Author: Genshaft, Judy / Naglieri, Jack / The Ohio State University / Women's Educational Equity Act Program, U.S. Department of Education

Keywords: girls women math anxiety treatment programs identifying fear intimidation

Target Audience: Teachers, Counselors and Administrators

Abstract: Math anxiety has been defined as an unspecified fear related to a mathematical experience. Girls in particular are affected by this anxiety. Described in this guide are the techniques used in a math-anxiety treatment project. All eighth- and tenth-grade students in two junior high schools and two high schools in a large urban school district were evaluated to determine their math-anxiety and math-achievement levels. 45 junior high and 45 high school girls were selected from this large pool of students. These young women participated in a six-week, twelve-lesson project designed to reduce anxiety and improve attitudes toward and achievement in mathematics.

Title: A World of Difference : Anti-bias Study Guide Secondary Level

Author: Anti-Defamation League

Keywords: anti bias bigotry prejudice hate violence name calling curriculum lesson plans high school study guide discrimination conflict

Age: High School Students and Teachers

Abstract: A World of Difference Institute Anti-Bias Study Guide has been prepared for educators to use primarily with students in grades 9-12 as supplementary material to enhance existing curricula. The materials have been designed to assist educators and students in exploring ways to ensure that the tenets of freedom and equality on which this country was built become realities. The Study Guide provides teachers with lessons in skills to encourage students to 1/ explore societal issues arising from bias, bigotry and discrimination 2/ improve critical-thinking skills 3/ examine diverse viewpoints and 4/ take leadership roles in promoting justice and equity in their schools, communities and society at large.

Title: A World of Difference : Anti-bias Study Guide Primary Level

Author: Anti-Defamation League

Keywords: anti bias bigotry prejudice hate violence name calling curriculum lesson plans primary study guide discrimination conflict

Age: Primary Students and Teachers

Abstract: A World of Difference Institute Anti-Bias Study Guide has been prepared for educators to use primarily with students in primary grades as supplementary material to enhance existing curricula. The materials have been designed to assist educators and students in exploring ways to ensure that the tenets of freedom and equality on which this country was built become realities. The Study Guide provides teachers with lessons in skills to encourage students to 1/ explore societal issues arising from bias, bigotry and discrimination 2/ improve critical-thinking skills 3/ examine diverse viewpoints and 4/ take leadership roles in promoting justice and equity in their schools, communities and society at large.

Title: Afro-American Literature: Drama, Nonfiction, Fiction,
Poetry

Author: Adams, William / Conn, Peter / Slepian, Barry

Keywords: black african american history literature drama nonfiction poetry writers

Target Audience: Middle School Students and Teachers

Abstract: This selection of African American literature is written by and about black americans. The aim is to present interesting works by well-known and respected writers rather than an historical approach to the study of literature. A series of questions for discussion and composition are presented to provoke thinking around the general themes of the works presented. The set includes a teachers guide and student guide for fiction, nonfiction, and drama and poetry. There are four drama teacher's guides and two student guides, three fiction teachers guides and one student guide, three nonfiction teacher guides and one student guide and three teachers guides for poetry. The set is appropriate for middle school.

Title: After-School Program: Keeping Children Safe and Smart

Author: Chung, An-Me

Keywords: extended school after school programs latch key kids children safety achievement learning community at-risk

Target Audience: Adult Administrators, Teachers, Parents, Community Leaders and Districts

Abstract: Today, more than 28 million school-age children have parents who work outside the home. An estimated five to seven million, and as many as 15 million "latch key children" return to an empty home after school. When the school bell rings, the anxiety for parents often just begins. They worry about whether their children are safe, whether they are susceptible to drugs and crime. In response to this pressing concern, many communities have created after-school programs to keep children and youth out of trouble and engaged in activities that help them learn. This focuses exclusively on the benefits children receive in terms of increased safety, reduced risk-taking, and improved learning. Topics covered include the potential of after school programs for keeping children on the right track, enhancing academic achievement, supporting social development and relationships with adults and peers, strengthening schools, families and communities and components of exemplary programs that work. The publication provides additional resources for communities who are considering putting programs together. Included in resources are names, addresses and websites

Title: AlphaBlack Culture Beginning Activity Book

Author: Isaac, Mia

Keywords: beginning culture pre-school kindergarten alphabet self esteem

Target Audience: K - Primary Students and Teachers

Abstract: This publication is written from an African American point of view and will provide an alphabet with statements on each card to aid in the development of self -esteem. It will rebuild and rekindle respect, allow us to dream, set goals, and accomplish what we set out to do. It will help teachers and parents help children recognize what is in all of us as well as where we have come from. This resource is appropriate for preschool - primary grades.

Title: Americans All

Author: National Education Program

Keywords: immigration immigrants asian european mexican latino african native indian photographs puerto rican black timeline teacher's guide curriculum resource books ethnic student materials ellis island statue of liberty angel island simulation the peopling of america synoptic history music posters

Target Audience: Middle School Teachers and Students

Abstract: This extensive teacher tool kit contains a teacher's manual, a teacher's guide, information on American immigration, a timeline, sheet music for America's people, a collection of photographs and posters, information on African Americans, Native Americans, Asian Americans, European Americans, Mexican Americans and Puerto Rican Americans. It also includes information on the Statue of Liberty, Ellis Island, Angel Island, simulation of the people coming to and living within America and a synoptic history. The entire packet comes in an easy to handle toolkit with identification tabs for easy access. The teacher's guide, resource books, ethnic booklets and student materials will prove useful in grades 7 - 9.

Title: An Antiracist / Multicultural Education Interdisciplinary curriculum development and implementation Pilot-Study with Teachers

Author: Donaldson, Karen

Keywords: racism racist antiracist multicultural education interdisciplinary curriculum units of study university research teacher bias black african american minority institutional racism

Target Audience: Adult Researchers, Teachers, Educators and Administrators

Abstract: The purpose of this handbook is to assist teachers in addressing racism within themselves, their students, the curriculum, and the total school environment. In today's society, it is necessary to include the contributions and experiences of many cultures, thereby enabling the future success of all students; however, many teachers are not equipped to teach a multicultural or issue-related curriculum. With regard to racism, most teachers are unaware of the existence of racism in schools, how it is manifested, and how it may affect student learning. Yet, throughout our nation, schools report racist acts on a regular basis. Although many institutions and educators desire anti-racist alternatives, very little research and even less instruction exists in the areas of teacher and student racism awareness and anti-racist curriculum implementation. It is, therefore, imperative to begin such research and implementation, thus creating models to be used nation-wide. This handbook is one such model. The four components in the handbook will be (1) Racism Awareness, (2) Racism in United States Schools, (3) Understanding Racism Through Students' Eyes, and (4) Antiracist Lesson Ideas for K-12 Classrooms. Each component is designed to enhance racism awareness and antiracist instruction.

Call No. DR.219.1

Title: An Idea Book on Planning : Implementing Schoolwide Programs

Author: Pechman, Ellen

Keywords: programs research based practices goals planning district consolidated planning team technical assistance data collection analysis goal setting funds school improvement accountability standards tools resources

Target Audience: Adult Administrators, Policy Makers, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: This book focuses on the issues of school wide program planning and combining resources. It contains many examples from various schools that illustrate the issues discussed. Thorough assessment of needs and school wide planning are essential for comprehensively upgrading the effectiveness of a school. Two appendices in Volume 1 provide tools for planning school wide programs and extensive information about print, video, and internet resources available to planners. This resource may be drawn upon for guidance examples of successes within schools that include low achieving students toward improvement and the meeting challenges of current standards.

Call No. DR.217.1

Title: Anti-Bias Curriculum : Tools for Empowering Young Children

Author: Derman-Sparks, Louise

Keywords: prejudice racism curriculum tools empower early childhood education oppression fairness units of study resource teacher primary climate disabilities gender cultural stereotype activism holiday celebrations parents problem solving implementation evaluation strategies clubs support groups plan stories themes sexism

Target Audience: Pre-K – Primary Teachers and Parents

Abstract: Anti-bias curriculum embraces an educational philosophy as well as specific techniques and content. The publication is value base: Differences are good; oppressive ideas and behaviors are not. It sets up a creative tension between respecting differences and not accepting unfair beliefs and acts. It asks teachers and children to confront troublesome issues rather than covering them up. An anti-bias perspective is integral to all aspects of daily classroom life. This publication is not a recipe book. Using its principles and methodology, teachers (and parents who choose to use the book) must recreate anti-bias curriculum in their setting in relation to specific groups of children and families. Through anti-bias curriculum, teachers enable every child to achieve the ultimate goal of early childhood education; the development of each child to her or his fullest potential.

Title: Appalachian Idea Book

Author: Costanzo, Tina / Napier, Felicia / Voris, Connie / Sapona, Regina / Lane, Chet / Starnes, Nancy / DuPriest, Cheryl / Knipfer, Brenda

Keywords: appalachian activities urban appalachia eastern kentucky heritage

Target Audience: Primary Students, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: This publication is a collection of ideas that will help teachers as they work toward developing an awareness of the Appalachian culture within their students. Many sources were used; books, songs, poetry, personal accounts of urban Appalachians and ideas from committee members. The book includes activities targeted for students in kindergarten through third grade. Teachers at other grade levels are welcome to use the book.

Title: Around the World with Western Union

Author: Glover, Terry

Keywords: learning journal international work book western union study buddies

Target Audience: Primary Students, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: This booklet is intended primarily for use by students participating in the Western Union Study Buddies tutoring program. Western Union has granted permission for reproduction of this booklet for use with students.

Title: Assertion Skills for Young Women

Author: NiCarthy, Ginny

Keywords: assertion skills women gender social communication

Target Audience: High School – Adult Students and Teachers

Abstract: This publication is for anyone who wants to help young women become assertive and especially for people who work with young women in trouble. It is for people who want to teach assertiveness to individuals or groups and people who have had some training as well as those who are new to the subject.

Title: Basis for Decision

Author: St. Paul Public Schools

Keywords: district change policy decision making school boards long range plan administrative administration reform

Target Audience: District Administrators

Abstract: This document is a community workbook about the St. Paul public schools. It reviews certain needs of the schools, both immediate and long range. It also presents alternative ways of meeting those needs. The purpose of the publication is to help the community participate in making decisions. It is useful as a model for district wide change.

Title: Belle Case La Follette, 1859–1931: A Resource Guide

Author: Riley, Jocelyn

Keywords: women writers language arts history literature social studies government woman

Target Audience: Primary Students and Teachers

Abstract: This publication is designed for use by general readers, program presenters and classroom teachers. Two profiles; one written in 1924 and one written in our own time, introduce the reader to Belle Case La Follette and give a context for her work. Discussion questions follow all sections. The series of resource guides includes Mountain Wolf Woman, Votes for Women, Pioneer Women's Diaries, and Zona Gale: Her Life and Writings and may be borrowed individually or as a set.

Title: Bridges and Boundaries : African Americans and American Jews

Author: The Jewish Museum New York

Keywords: african american cultural identity lesson plans curriculum units of study social studies jewish jews blacks religion resource guide human rights civil rights holocaust history persecution oppression division

Target Audience: High School Students and Teachers

Abstract:: This resource guide enables educators who were unable to bring their students to the Jewish Museum in New York's exhibit of Bridges and Boundaries, to address in the classroom stereotyping, discrimination and prejudice, using a format similar to that of the exhibit. The guide contains introductory essays that have been excerpted from presentations made to teachers at the museum and are applicable to any multicultural learning experience. It also includes lesson plans with objectives, historical background, procedure information, visual literacy information, follow-up activities, student handouts, questions for discussion, student build bridges projects and resources for further investigation. This is an excellent high school curriculum piece and may be adapted for other grade levels.

Tit

CD ROM's

Call No. CD.0100.1

Title: Partners for Learning: Preparing Teachers to Involve Families

Author: Partnership for Family Involvement in Education

Keywords: parent involvement family community program administrator teacher professional development in service teacher preparation assistance district local school

Target Audience: District and School Teachers and Administrators

Abstract: This disk contains presentation materials on educator preparation for family involvement in education that include: speaker's notes and overheads in Microsoft PowerPoint 7.0, a QuickTime video clip from a teleconference hosted by Vice President Al Gore and U.S. Secretary of Education Richard W. Riley, and an HTML publication with examples of effective practice. These materials include work done by Teachers College Columbia University under contract to the US Dept. of Education.

Chapter 1 - Bibliographies and Catalogs

Title: 1999 Arts Resource Directory: Arts Education
Showcases

Author: Kentucky Center for the Arts

Keywords: kentucky artist directory resources

Target Audience: Teachers, Districts, Counselors, Parents and Communities

Abstract: This directory showcases artists available to work in the schools in Kentucky. It outlines their medium, contract fees, facility requirements and contact information.

Call No: BC.301.1

Title: Diversity Directory

Author: The Humanitarium Center for Culture and Diversity

Keywords: organizations directory catalog multiculturalism honor heritage diverse communities
fayette county bluegrass lexington community involvement network resources culturally diverse

Target Audience: All of the General Population

Abstract: The Humanitarium Center for Culture and Diversity provides this September, 2000 issue of the Diversity Directory for the Bluegrass Region. This comprehensive resource provides the reader with information such as name, telephone #, fax #, address, website and a brief synopsis of organizations that promote multiculturalism and honor the rich heritage of Fayette County. This is a wonderful and up-to-date guide for locating organizations that represent community efforts in Fayette County. Educators attempting to get community involvement and input for diverse projects may want to look at this guide in order to get ideas for community contacts throughout the state. Fayette County educators will find this helpful as a map toward locating diverse community groups.

Title: Educational Programs That Work : The Catalogue of the National Diffusion Network

Author: National Diffusion Network

Keywords: education programs strategies projects approaches intervention enrichment math
literacy mentoring intergenerational extended school services community programs even start plan

Target Audience: All Ages of the General Public

Abstract: This National Diffusion Network resource was compiled to help public and private schools and districts identify suitable and workable programs. It identifies state programs and facilitators and provides highlights, contact numbers, office hours and names. Each of the identified programs within the catalog identifies the suitable audience, a program description, evidence of effectiveness, requirements of the program, cost, services and contacts. Programs are broken down into sections that include Gifted and Talented, Special Education, Migrant/ Adult / Higher Education, Career/ Vocational, Approved Programs that are no longer available, programs by state and programs by content area.

Title: Multicultural Projects Index

Author: Pilger, Mary Anne

Keywords: multicultural projects festivals cultures holidays international crafts guide

Target Audience: Teachers, Students and Parents

Abstract: This index to multicultural handicrafts, foods, games, and activities may be used by educators at all levels to assist children and young adults in finding the information they need to make items from different cultures of the world. The rewards of learning about the culture of one's own heritage, as well as that of others, will result in better understanding. This book will make the task of finding that special item an easier and more fruitful quest.

Title: Resource Center Directory

Author: McComb, Jean

Keywords: bibliography catalog resources curriculum reading material videos films abstracts
information

Target Audience: General Public

Abstract: This annotated bibliography provides the reader with abstracts, target audience, author and title of all of the information contained in the Kentucky Department of Education's Division of Equity Resource Center lending library. It contains a glossary of terms and an index of the materials.

Title: Selected Publications of the U.S. Department of Education 1999 Catalog

Author: U.S. Department of Education

Keywords: federal publications education resources list civil rights college financial aid postsecondary institutions early childhood elementary secondary education reform improvement statistics research family business community parent involvement mathematics science reading literacy safe drug-free schools spanish language products teacher quality special education rehabilitative services technology town meetings

Target Audience: Adult Administrators, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: ED Publications is the Education Publications Center for the U.S. Department of Education. This catalog has information for anyone interested in education, including, teachers, parents, students, administrators, policymakers, teacher educators, researchers, journalists, librarians, and others. The catalog presents a list of selected Department products, most of which were published between 1996 and 1998, that are available free from ED Pubs while supplies last. These products are offered to help individuals, schools, colleges and communities address pressing education issues.

Title: The Access Resource Guide: An International Directory of Information on War, Peace and Security

Author: Kincade, William H / Hayner, Priscilla B.

Keywords: access war peace national security

Target Audience: Researchers, Teachers and General Public

Abstract: Recent decades have witnessed the emergence around the world of hundreds of new organizations and research centers concerned with security and peace. This resource guide is an annotated compilation of agencies and organizations with similar security and peace debates. The information is drawn from a computerized Resource Base (currently monitoring more than 1400 organizations and information resources across the spectrum of views.

Title: What Every Girl in School Needs to Know

Author: National Coalition of Girls' Schools

Keywords: education university college women girls gender,

Target Audience: High School Students, Counselors and Parents

Abstract: This publication is designed to offer information to girls researching college or alternative school settings. Parents and counselors will appreciate this information. This publication can help the reader find the way to some of the best places for girls to learn. The National Coalition of Girls' Schools is an organization of 65 girls' boarding and day, private and public schools from across the United States with affiliates in Canada and Australia. While differing in history, tradition, location, academic rigor, extracurricular activities, religious affiliation, size, and philosophies, coalition schools share a core belief in and commitment to the values and advantages of an all-girls school. The coalition is located at 228 Main Street in Concord, Massachusetts, 01742 and their telephone # is (508) 369-3452.

CD-ROM

Title: Reducing Youth Violence : A Comprehensive Approach

Author: University of California, Office of Educational and Community Initiatives

Keywords: violence prevention crime juvenile justice system gangs guns drugs youth research contacts training technical assistance district local state school delinquency delinquent violent

Target Audience: Adult Teachers and Administrators

Abstract: The Minimum Requirements for using this CD ROM are Microsoft Windows 95, Windows 98 or Windows NT, Sound card, 16 bit color graphics (thousands of colors), 16x speed CD-ROM drive (32x recommended) and 32 MB RAM (64 MB recommended)

Reducing youth violence requires a comprehensive approach. This multimedia CD-ROM is organized around a range of strategies (improving the juvenile justice system; reducing gang, gun, and drug violence; providing opportunities for youth; strengthening families; and mobilizing communities) that together offer a comprehensive approach. Under each of these key strategies, thousands of pages offer useful information on youth violence and delinquency prevention, including (1) information derived from illustrative operational programs; (2) current data and information about research and evaluation; and (3) contacts for additional resources, training, and technical assistance. The CD-ROM provides the user with several easy ways to access the information, including searching by types of programs, documents, resources, and services. Users can download text and graphics and use them as templates for their own efforts to reduce youth violence and victimization in their communities. This CD ROM is provided by the US Department of Justice, Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention.

Print:

Title: 10 Effective Steps for Teaching At-Risk Students

Author: Epps, Elvis

Keywords: at risk motivate teaching students steps

Target Audience: Adult Teachers and Counselors

Abstract: This booklet is designed to provide the reader with ways to teach at-risk students. It is developed to be a useful tool in benefiting both teacher and student as learners together. Effective steps that will enhance teaching in a multicultural environment are provided.

Title: A.C.T.I.V.E. Sex Equity in Elementary School Physical Education

Author: Arnett, Chappelle / Adelberger, Audra

Keywords: sex equity women gender physical education

Target Audience: Adult Students and Teachers

Abstract: This packet includes two publications, a competency-based teacher education program and a workshop workbook. The information is developed to attain sex equity in elementary school physical education. The objectives are two fold: to develop a competency standard for physical education teachers in elementary schools and to develop a competency –based teacher education program. The workshop is designed for use as a one-day in-service session, a three to four day in-service course or a five to six session in-service course.

Call No. DR.220.1

Title: A Call to Commitment: Fathers' Involvement in Children's Learning

Author: U.S. Department of Education

Keywords: parent involvement father influence family participation education learning commitment mentor role models male

Target Audience: Parents, Teachers, Administrators and Community Leaders

Abstract: This publication is designed to inform, promote and celebrate fathers' increased participation in children's learning. The U.S. has seen a growth in programs to support fathers in becoming actively involved in their children's learning at school, at early childhood development centers, at childcare centers and throughout the community. The question is, How can we increase this momentum based upon what we have learned and accomplished? Section I of this publication provides the research content for the topic of fathers' involvement. Section II provides a discussion of strategies for improving and extending fathers' involvement in their children's education, whether they are resident or nonresident dads. Section III provides examples of programs that involve fathers in children's learning and their practices. A fact sheet on the Partnership for Family Involvement in Education and a form the reader may fill out to receive more information is included.

Title: A Costly Proposition, Sexual Harassment at Work

Author: BNA Communications Inc.

Keywords: sexual harassment work women equity violence

Target Audience: Professionals, Women, General Public, Districts and Teachers

Abstract: This participant's manual contains information on sexual harassment in the workplace. The manual will help the reader recognize and prevent sexual harassment at work. Sexual harassment is a form of sexual discrimination and, as such, is prohibited by Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the federal law that outlaws discrimination in employment on the basis of race, creed, color, national origin, or sex. This publication is designed to explore both the spirit and the letter of the law on sexual harassment at work. No single program can solve the complex behavior and organizational problems that give rise to sexual harassment and complicated work relationships. This program, however, offers you the opportunity to become more aware of the issues involved, and to understand the importance of resolving them.

Title: A Handbook for Teaching Vietnamese - Speaking
Students

Author: California State Department of Education

Keywords: vietnamese esl english second language limited proficiency asian

Target Audience: Teachers

Abstract: The rapid increase of minority language populations poses significant challenges to school districts. There have been insufficient bilingual resources to assist these children. To meet the need, the Department of Education, Office of Bilingual Bi-cultural Education of California developed a series of handbooks designed to assist bilingual/ESL teachers, counselors, school administrators, and teacher training institutions in establishing programmatic, curricular and instructional policies. These handbooks address the unique historical, sociocultural and linguistic characteristics of each group. They also provide educational resources such as community organizations and classroom instructional materials. It is the department's hope that these handbooks will help us improve educational services to Vietnamese language minority children. It is our intent to address some of those concerns.

Title: A Mindset for Math: Techniques for Identifying and Working with Math-Anxious Girls
Author: Genshaft, Judy / Naglieri, Jack / The Ohio State University / Women's Educational Equity Act Program, U.S. Department of Education
Keywords: girls women math anxiety treatment programs identifying fear intimidation

Target Audience: Teachers, Counselors and Administrators

Abstract: Math anxiety has been defined as an unspecified fear related to a mathematical experience. Girls in particular are affected by this anxiety. Described in this guide are the techniques used in a math-anxiety treatment project. All eighth- and tenth-grade students in two junior high schools and two high schools in a large urban school district were evaluated to determine their math-anxiety and math-achievement levels. 45 junior high and 45 high school girls were selected from this large pool of students. These young women participated in a six-week, twelve-lesson project designed to reduce anxiety and improve attitudes toward and achievement in mathematics.

Title: A World of Difference : Anti-bias Study Guide Secondary Level

Author: Anti-Defamation League

Keywords: anti bias bigotry prejudice hate violence name calling curriculum lesson plans high school study guide discrimination conflict

Age: High School Students and Teachers

Abstract: A World of Difference Institute Anti-Bias Study Guide has been prepared for educators to use primarily with students in grades 9-12 as supplementary material to enhance existing curricula. The materials have been designed to assist educators and students in exploring ways to ensure that the tenets of freedom and equality on which this country was built become realities. The Study Guide provides teachers with lessons in skills to encourage students to 1/ explore societal issues arising from bias, bigotry and discrimination 2/ improve critical-thinking skills 3/ examine diverse viewpoints and 4/ take leadership roles in promoting justice and equity in their schools, communities and society at large.

Title: A World of Difference : Anti-bias Study Guide Primary Level

Author: Anti-Defamation League

Keywords: anti bias bigotry prejudice hate violence name calling curriculum lesson plans primary study guide discrimination conflict

Age: Primary Students and Teachers

Abstract: A World of Difference Institute Anti-Bias Study Guide has been prepared for educators to use primarily with students in primary grades as supplementary material to enhance existing curricula. The materials have been designed to assist educators and students in exploring ways to ensure that the tenets of freedom and equality on which this country was built become realities. The Study Guide provides teachers with lessons in skills to encourage students to 1/ explore societal issues arising from bias, bigotry and discrimination 2/ improve critical-thinking skills 3/ examine diverse viewpoints and 4/ take leadership roles in promoting justice and equity in their schools, communities and society at large.

Title: Afro-American Literature: Drama, Nonfiction, Fiction,

Poetry

Author: Adams, William / Conn, Peter / Slepian, Barry

Keywords: black african american history literature drama nonfiction poetry writers

Target Audience: Middle School Students and Teachers

Abstract: This selection of African American literature is written by and about black americans. The aim is to present interesting works by well-known and respected writers rather than an historical approach to the study of literature. A series of questions for discussion and composition are presented to provoke thinking around the general themes of the works presented. The set includes a teachers guide and student guide for fiction, nonfiction, and drama and poetry. There are four drama teacher's guides and two student guides, three fiction teachers guides and one student guide, three nonfiction teacher guides and one student guide and three teachers guides for poetry. The set is appropriate for middle school.

Title: After-School Program: Keeping Children Safe and Smart

Author: Chung, An-Me

Keywords: extended school after school programs latch key kids children safety achievement learning community at-risk

Target Audience: Adult Administrators, Teachers, Parents, Community Leaders and Districts

Abstract: Today, more than 28 million school-age children have parents who work outside the home. An estimated five to seven million, and as many as 15 million "latch key children" return to an empty home after school. When the school bell rings, the anxiety for parents often just begins. They worry about whether their children are safe, whether they are susceptible to drugs and crime. In response to this pressing concern, many communities have created after-school programs to keep children and youth out of trouble and engaged in activities that help them learn. This focuses exclusively on the benefits children receive in terms of increased safety, reduced risk-taking, and improved learning. Topics covered include the potential of after school programs for keeping children on the right track, enhancing academic achievement, supporting social development and relationships with adults and peers, strengthening schools, families and communities and components of exemplary programs that work. The publication provides additional resources for communities who are considering putting programs together. Included in resources are names, addresses and websites

Title: AlphaBlack Culture Beginning Activity Book

Author: Isaac, Mia

Keywords: beginning culture pre-school kindergarten alphabet self esteem

Target Audience: K - Primary Students and Teachers

Abstract: This publication is written from an African American point of view and will provide an alphabet with statements on each card to aid in the development of self -esteem. It will rebuild and rekindle respect, allow us to dream, set goals, and accomplish what we set out to do. It will help teachers and parents help children recognize what is in all of us as well as where we have come from. This resource is appropriate for preschool - primary grades.

Title: Americans All

Author: National Education Program

Keywords: immigration immigrants asian european mexican latino african native indian photographs puerto rican black timeline teacher's guide curriculum resource books ethnic student materials ellis island statue of liberty angel island simulation the peopling of america synoptic history music posters

Target Audience: Middle School Teachers and Students

Abstract: This extensive teacher tool kit contains a teacher's manual, a teacher's guide, information

on American immigration, a timeline, sheet music for America's people, a collection of photographs and posters, information on African Americans, Native Americans, Asian Americans, European Americans, Mexican Americans and Puerto Rican Americans. It also includes information on the Statue of Liberty, Ellis Island, Angel Island, simulation of the people coming to and living within America and a synoptic history. The entire packet comes in an easy to handle toolkit with identification tabs for easy access. The teacher's guide, resource books, ethnic booklets and student materials will prove useful in grades 7 - 9.

Title: An Antiracist / Multicultural Education Interdisciplinary curriculum development and implementation Pilot-Study with Teachers

Author: Donaldson, Karen

Keywords: racism racist antiracist multicultural education interdisciplinary curriculum units of study university research teacher bias black african american minority institutional racism

Target Audience: Adult Researchers, Teachers, Educators and Administrators

Abstract: The purpose of this handbook is to assist teachers in addressing racism within themselves, their students, the curriculum, and the total school environment. In today's society, it is necessary to include the contributions and experiences of many cultures, thereby enabling the future success of all students; however, many teachers are not equipped to teach a multicultural or issue-related curriculum. With regard to racism, most teachers are unaware of the existence of racism in schools, how it is manifested, and how it may affect student learning. Yet, throughout our nation, schools report racist acts on a regular basis. Although many institutions and educators desire anti-racist alternatives, very little research and even less instruction exists in the areas of teacher and student racism awareness and anti-racist curriculum implementation. It is, therefore, imperative to begin such research and implementation, thus creating models to be used nation-wide. This handbook is one such model. The four components in the handbook will be (1) Racism Awareness, (2) Racism in United States Schools, (3) Understanding Racism Through Students' Eyes, and (4) Antiracist Lesson Ideas for K-12 Classrooms. Each component is designed to enhance racism awareness and antiracist instruction.

Call No. DR.219.1

Title: An Idea Book on Planning : Implementing Schoolwide Programs

Author: Pechman, Ellen

Keywords: programs research based practices goals planning district consolidated planning team technical assistance data collection analysis goal setting funds school improvement accountability standards tools resources

Target Audience: Adult Administrators, Policy Makers, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: This book focuses on the issues of school wide program planning and combining resources. It contains many examples from various schools that illustrate the issues discussed. Thorough assessment of needs and school wide planning are essential for comprehensively upgrading the effectiveness of a school. Two appendices in Volume 1 provide tools for planning school wide programs and extensive information about print, video, and internet resources available to planners. This resource may be drawn upon for guidance examples of successes within schools that include low achieving students toward improvement and the meeting challenges of current standards.

Call No. DR.217.1

Title: Anti-Bias Curriculum : Tools for Empowering Young Children

Author: Derman-Sparks, Louise

Keywords: prejudice racism curriculum tools empower early childhood education oppression fairness units of study resource teacher primary climate disabilities gender cultural stereotype activism holiday celebrations parents problem solving implementation evaluation strategies clubs support groups plan stories themes sexism

Target Audience: Pre-K – Primary Teachers and Parents

Abstract: Anti-bias curriculum embraces an educational philosophy as well as specific techniques and content. The publication is value base: Differences are good; oppressive ideas and behaviors are not. It sets up a creative tension between respecting differences and not accepting unfair beliefs and acts. It asks teachers and children to confront troublesome issues rather than covering them up. An anti-bias perspective is integral to all aspects of daily classroom life. This publication is not a recipe book. Using its principles and methodology, teachers (and parents who choose to use the book) must recreate anti-bias curriculum in their setting in relation to specific groups of children and families. Through anti-bias curriculum, teachers enable every child to achieve the ultimate goal of early childhood education; the development of each child to her or his fullest potential.

Title: Appalachian Idea Book

Author: Costanzo, Tina / Napier, Felicia / Voris, Connie / Sapona, Regina / Lane, Chet / Starner, Nancy / DuPriest, Cheryl / Knipfer, Brenda

Keywords: appalachian activities urban appalachia eastern kentucky heritage

Target Audience: Primary Students, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: This publication is a collection of ideas that will help teachers as they work toward developing an awareness of the Appalachian culture within their students. Many sources were used; books, songs, poetry, personal accounts of urban Appalachians and ideas from committee members. The book includes activities targeted for students in kindergarten through third grade. Teachers at other grade levels are welcome to use the book.

Title: Around the World with Western Union

Author: Glover, Terry

Keywords: learning journal international work book western union study buddies

Target Audience: Primary Students, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: This booklet is intended primarily for use by students participating in the Western Union Study Buddies tutoring program. Western Union has granted permission for reproduction of this booklet for use with students.

Title: Assertion Skills for Young Women

Author: NiCarthy, Ginny

Keywords: assertion skills women gender social communication

Target Audience: High School – Adult Students and Teachers

Abstract: This publication is for anyone who wants to help young women become assertive and especially for people who work with young women in trouble. It is for people who want to teach assertiveness to individuals or groups and people who have had some training as well as those who are new to the subject.

Title: Basis for Decision

Author: St. Paul Public Schools

Keywords: district change policy decision making school boards long range plan administrative administration reform

Target Audience: District Administrators

Abstract: This document is a community workbook about the St. Paul public schools. It reviews certain needs of the schools, both immediate and long range. It also presents alternative ways of meeting those needs. The purpose of the publication is to help the community participate in making decisions. It is useful as a model for district wide change.

Title: Belle Case La Follette, 1859–1931: A Resource Guide

Author: Riley, Jocelyn

Keywords: women writers language arts history literature social studies government woman

Target Audience: Primary Students and Teachers

Abstract: This publication is designed for use by general readers, program presenters and classroom teachers. Two profiles; one written in 1924 and one written in our own time, introduce the reader to Belle Case La Follette and give a context for her work. Discussion questions follow all sections. The series of resource guides includes Mountain Wolf Woman, Votes for Women, Pioneer Women's Diaries, and Zona Gale: Her Life and Writings and may be borrowed individually or as a set.

Title: Bridges and Boundaries : African Americans and American Jews

Author: The Jewish Museum New York

Keywords: african american cultural identity lesson plans curriculum units of study social studies jewish jews blacks religion resource guide human rights civil rights holocaust history persecution oppression division

Target Audience: High School Students and Teachers

Abstract:: This resource guide enables educators who were unable to bring their students to the Jewish Museum in New York's exhibit of Bridges and Boundaries, to address in the classroom stereotyping, discrimination and prejudice, using a format similar to that of the exhibit. The guide contains introductory essays that have been excerpted from presentations made to teachers at the museum and are applicable to any multicultural learning experience. It also includes lesson plans with objectives, historical background, procedure information, visual literacy information, follow-up activities, student handouts, questions for discussion, student build bridges projects and resources for further investigation. This is an excellent high school curriculum piece and may be adapted for other grade levels.

Tit

CD ROM's

Call No. CD.0100.1

Title: Partners for Learning: Preparing Teachers to Involve Families

Author: Partnership for Family Involvement in Education

Keywords: parent involvement family community program administrator teacher professional development in service teacher preparation assistance district local school

Target Audience: District and School Teachers and Administrators

Abstract: This disk contains presentation materials on educator preparation for family involvement in education that include: speaker's notes and overheads in Microsoft PowerPoint 7.0, a QuickTime video clip from a teleconference hosted by Vice President Al Gore and U.S. Secretary of Education Richard W. Riley, and an HTML publication with examples of effective practice. These materials include work done by Teachers College Columbia University under contract to the US Dept. of Education.

Chapter 1 - Bibliographies and Catalogs

Title: 1999 Arts Resource Directory: Arts Education

Showcases

Author: Kentucky Center for the Arts

Keywords: kentucky artist directory resources

Target Audience: Teachers, Districts, Counselors, Parents and Communities

Abstract: This directory showcases artists available to work in the schools in Kentucky. It outlines their medium, contract fees, facility requirements and contact information.

Call No: BC.301.1

Title: Diversity Directory

Author: The Humanitarian Center for Culture and Diversity

Keywords: organizations directory catalog multiculturalism honor heritage diverse communities fayette county bluegrass lexington community involvement network resources culturally diverse

Target Audience: All of the General Population

Abstract: The Humanitarian Center for Culture and Diversity provides this September, 2000 issue of the Diversity Directory for the Bluegrass Region. This comprehensive resource provides the reader with information such as name, telephone #, fax #, address, website and a brief synopsis of organizations that promote multiculturalism and honor the rich heritage of Fayette County. This is a wonderful and up-to-date guide for locating organizations that represent community efforts in Fayette County. Educators attempting to get community involvement and input for diverse projects may want to look at this guide in order to get ideas for community contacts throughout the state. Fayette County educators will find this helpful as a map toward locating diverse community groups.

Title: Educational Programs That Work : The Catalogue of the National Diffusion Network

Author: National Diffusion Network

Keywords: education programs strategies projects approaches intervention enrichment math literacy mentoring intergenerational extended school services community programs even start plan

Target Audience: All Ages of the General Public

Abstract: This National Diffusion Network resource was compiled to help public and private schools and districts identify suitable and workable programs. It identifies state programs and facilitators and provides highlights, contact numbers, office hours and names. Each of the identified programs within the catalog identifies the suitable audience, a program description, evidence of effectiveness, requirements of the program, cost, services and contacts. Programs are broken down into sections that include Gifted and Talented, Special Education, Migrant/ Adult / Higher Education, Career/ Vocational, Approved Programs that are no longer available, programs by state and programs by content area.

Title: Multicultural Projects Index
Author: Pilger, Mary Anne
Keywords: multicultural projects festivals cultures holidays international crafts guide
Target Audience: Teachers, Students and Parents
Abstract: This index to multicultural handicrafts, foods, games, and activities may be used by educators at all levels to assist children and young adults in finding the information they need to make items from different cultures of the world. The rewards of learning about the culture of one's own heritage, as well as that of others, will result in better understanding. This book will make the task of finding that special item an easier and more fruitful quest.

Title: Resource Center Directory
Author: McComb, Jean
Keywords: bibliography catalog resources curriculum reading material videos films abstracts information
Target Audience: General Public
Abstract: This annotated bibliography provides the reader with abstracts, target audience, author and title of all of the information contained in the Kentucky Department of Education's Division of Equity Resource Center lending library. It contains a glossary of terms and an index of the materials.

Title: Selected Publications of the U.S. Department of Education 1999 Catalog
Author: U.S. Department of Education
Keywords: federal publications education resources list civil rights college financial aid postsecondary institutions early childhood elementary secondary education reform improvement statistics research family business community parent involvement mathematics science reading literacy safe drug-free schools spanish language products teacher quality special education rehabilitative services technology town meetings
Target Audience: Adult Administrators, Teachers and Parents
Abstract: ED Publications is the Education Publications Center for the U.S. Department of Education. This catalog has information for anyone interested in education, including, teachers, parents, students, administrators, policymakers, teacher educators, researchers, journalists, librarians, and others. The catalog presents a list of selected Department products, most of which were published between 1996 and 1998, that are available free from ED Pubs while supplies last. These products are offered to help individuals, schools, colleges and communities address pressing education issues.

Title: The Access Resource Guide: An International Directory of Information on War, Peace and Security
Author: Kincade, William H / Hayner, Priscilla B.
Keywords: access war peace national security
Target Audience: Researchers, Teachers and General Public
Abstract: Recent decades have witnessed the emergence around the world of hundreds of new organizations and research centers concerned with security and peace. This resource guide is an annotated compilation of agencies and organizations with similar security and peace debates. The information is drawn from a computerized Resource Base (currently monitoring more than 1400 organizations and information resources across the spectrum of views.

Title: What Every Girl in School Needs to Know

Author: National Coalition of Girls' Schools

Keywords: education university college women girls gender,

Target Audience: High School Students, Counselors and Parents

Abstract: This publication is designed to offer information to girls researching college or alternative school settings. Parents and counselors will appreciate this information. This publication can help the reader find the way to some of the best places for girls to learn. The National Coalition of Girls' Schools is an organization of 65 girls' boarding and day, private and public schools from across the United States with affiliates in Canada and Australia. While differing in history, tradition, location, academic rigor, extracurricular activities, religious affiliation, size, and philosophies, coalition schools share a core belief in and commitment to the values and advantages of an all-girls school. The coalition is located at 228 Main Street in Concord, Massachusetts, 01742 and their telephone # is (508) 369-3452.

Chapter 2 - Development and Resources

CD-ROM

Title: Reducing Youth Violence : A Comprehensive Approach

Author: University of California, Office of Educational and Community Initiatives

Keywords: violence prevention crime juvenile justice system gangs guns drugs youth research contacts training technical assistance district local state school delinquency delinquent violent

Target Audience: Adult Teachers and Administrators

Abstract: The Minimum Requirements for using this CD ROM are Microsoft Windows 95, Windows 98 or Windows NT, Sound card, 16 bit color graphics (thousands of colors), 16x speed CD-ROM drive (32x recommended) and 32 MB RAM (64 MB recommended)

Reducing youth violence requires a comprehensive approach. This multimedia CD-ROM is organized around a range of strategies (improving the juvenile justice system; reducing gang, gun, and drug violence; providing opportunities for youth; strengthening families; and mobilizing communities) that together offer a comprehensive approach. Under each of these key strategies, thousands of pages offer useful information on youth violence and delinquency prevention, including (1) information derived from illustrative operational programs; (2) current data and information about research and evaluation; and (3) contacts for additional resources, training, and technical assistance. The CD-ROM provides the user with several easy ways to access the information, including searching by types of programs, documents, resources, and services. Users can download text and graphics and use them as templates for their own efforts to reduce youth violence and victimization in their communities. This CD ROM is provided by the US Department of Justice, Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention.

Print:

Title: 10 Effective Steps for Teaching At-Risk Students

Author: Epps, Elvis

Keywords: at risk motivate teaching students steps

Target Audience: Adult Teachers and Counselors

Abstract: This booklet is designed to provide the reader with ways to teach at-risk students. It is developed to be a useful tool in benefiting both teacher and student as learners together. Effective steps that will enhance teaching in a multicultural environment are provided.

Title: A.C.T.I.V.E. Sex Equity in Elementary School Physical Education

Author: Arnett, Chappelle / Adelberger, Audra

Keywords: sex equity women gender physical education

Target Audience: Adult Students and Teachers

Abstract: This packet includes two publications, a competency-based teacher education program and a workshop workbook. The information is developed to attain sex equity in elementary school physical education. The objectives are two fold: to develop a competency standard for physical education teachers in elementary schools and to develop a competency –based teacher education program. The workshop is designed for use as a one-day in-service session, a three to four day in-service course or a five to six session in-service course.

Call No. DR.220.1

Title: A Call to Commitment: Fathers' Involvement in Children's Learning

Author: U.S. Department of Education

Keywords: parent involvement father influence family participation education learning commitment mentor role models male

Target Audience: Parents, Teachers, Administrators and Community Leaders

Abstract: This publication is designed to inform, promote and celebrate fathers' increased participation in children's learning. The U.S. has seen a growth in programs to support fathers in becoming actively involved in their children's learning at school, at early childhood development centers, at childcare centers and throughout the community. The question is, How can we increase this momentum based upon what we have learned and accomplished? Section I of this publication provides the research content for the topic of fathers' involvement. Section II provides a discussion of strategies for improving and extending fathers' involvement in their children's education, whether they are resident or nonresident dads. Section III provides examples of programs that involve fathers in children's learning and their practices. A fact sheet on the Partnership for Family Involvement in Education and a form the reader may fill out to receive more information is included.

Title: A Costly Proposition, Sexual Harassment at Work

Author: BNA Communications Inc.

Keywords: sexual harassment work women equity violence

Target Audience: Professionals, Women, General Public, Districts and Teachers

Abstract: This participant's manual contains information on sexual harassment in the workplace. The manual will help the reader recognize and prevent sexual harassment at work. Sexual harassment is a form of sexual discrimination and, as such, is prohibited by Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the federal law that outlaws discrimination in employment on the basis of race, creed, color, national origin, or sex. This publication is designed to explore both the spirit and the letter of the law on sexual harassment at work. No single program can solve the complex behavior and organizational problems that give rise to sexual harassment and complicated work relationships. This program, however, offers you the opportunity to become more aware of the issues involved, and to understand the importance of resolving them.

Title: A Handbook for Teaching Vietnamese - Speaking
Students

Author: California State Department of Education

Keywords: vietnamese esl english second language limited proficiency asian

Target Audience: Teachers

Abstract: The rapid increase of minority language populations poses significant challenges to school districts. There have been insufficient bilingual resources to assist these children. To meet the need, the Department of Education, Office of Bilingual Bi-cultural Education of California developed a series of handbooks designed to assist bilingual/ESL teachers, counselors, school administrators, and teacher training institutions in establishing programmatic, curricular and instructional policies. These handbooks address the unique historical, sociocultural and linguistic characteristics of each group. They also provide educational resources such as community organizations and classroom instructional materials. It is the department's hope that these handbooks will help us improve educational services to Vietnamese language minority children. It is our intent to address some of those concerns.

Title: A Mindset for Math: Techniques for Identifying and Working with Math-Anxious Girls

Author: Genshaft, Judy / Naglieri, Jack / The Ohio State University / Women's Educational Equity Act Program, U.S. Department of Education

Keywords: girls women math anxiety treatment programs identifying fear intimidation

Target Audience: Teachers, Counselors and Administrators

Abstract: Math anxiety has been defined as an unspecified fear related to a mathematical experience. Girls in particular are affected by this anxiety. Described in this guide are the techniques used in a math-anxiety treatment project. All eighth- and tenth-grade students in two junior high schools and two high schools in a large urban school district were evaluated to determine their math-anxiety and math-achievement levels. 45 junior high and 45 high school girls were selected from this large pool of students. These young women participated in a six-week, twelve-lesson project designed to reduce anxiety and improve attitudes toward and achievement in mathematics.

Title: A World of Difference : Anti-bias Study Guide Secondary Level

Author: Anti-Defamation League

Keywords: anti bias bigotry prejudice hate violence name calling curriculum lesson plans high school study guide discrimination conflict

Age: High School Students and Teachers

Abstract: A World of Difference Institute Anti-Bias Study Guide has been prepared for educators to use primarily with students in grades 9-12 as supplementary material to enhance existing curricula. The materials have been designed to assist educators and students in exploring ways to ensure that the tenets of freedom and equality on which this country was built become realities. The Study Guide provides teachers with lessons in skills to encourage students to 1/ explore societal issues arising from bias, bigotry and discrimination 2/ improve critical-thinking skills 3/ examine diverse viewpoints and 4/ take leadership roles in promoting justice and equity in their schools, communities and society at large.

Title: A World of Difference : Anti-bias Study Guide Primary Level

Author: Anti-Defamation League

Keywords: anti bias bigotry prejudice hate violence name calling curriculum lesson plans primary study guide discrimination conflict

Age: Primary Students and Teachers

Abstract: A World of Difference Institute Anti-Bias Study Guide has been prepared for educators to use primarily with students in primary grades as supplementary material to enhance existing curricula. The materials have been designed to assist educators and students in exploring ways to ensure that the tenets of freedom and equality on which this country was built become realities. The Study Guide provides teachers with lessons in skills to encourage students to 1/ explore societal issues arising from bias, bigotry and discrimination 2/ improve critical-thinking skills 3/ examine diverse viewpoints and 4/ take leadership roles in promoting justice and equity in their schools, communities and society at large.

Title: Afro-American Literature: Drama, Nonfiction, Fiction,
Poetry

Author: Adams, William / Conn, Peter / Slepian, Barry

Keywords: black african american history literature drama nonfiction poetry writers

Target Audience: Middle School Students and Teachers

Abstract: This selection of African American literature is written by and about black americans. The aim is to present interesting works by well-known and respected writers rather than an historical approach to the study of literature. A series of questions for discussion and composition are presented to provoke thinking around the general themes of the works presented. The set includes a teachers guide and student guide for fiction, nonfiction, and drama and poetry. There are four drama teacher's guides and two student guides, three fiction teachers guides and one student guide, three nonfiction teacher guides and one student guide and three teachers guides for poetry. The set is appropriate for middle school.

Title: After-School Program: Keeping Children Safe and Smart

Author: Chung, An-Me

Keywords: extended school after school programs latch key kids children safety achievement learning community at-risk

Target Audience: Adult Administrators, Teachers, Parents, Community Leaders and Districts

Abstract: Today, more than 28 million school-age children have parents who work outside the home. An estimated five to seven million, and as many as 15 million "latch key children" return to an empty home after school. When the school bell rings, the anxiety for parents often just begins. They worry about whether their children are safe, whether they are susceptible to drugs and crime. In response to this pressing concern, many communities have created after-school programs to keep children and youth out of trouble and engaged in activities that help them learn. This focuses exclusively on the benefits children receive in terms of increased safety, reduced risk-taking, and improved learning. Topics covered include the potential of after school programs for keeping children on the right track, enhancing academic achievement, supporting social development and relationships with adults and peers, strengthening schools, families and communities and components of exemplary programs that work. The publication provides additional resources for communities who are considering putting programs together. Included in resources are names, addresses and websites

Title: AlphaBlack Culture Beginning Activity Book
Author: Isaac, Mia
Keywords: beginning culture pre-school kindergarten alphabet self esteem
Target Audience: K - Primary Students and Teachers

Abstract: This publication is written from an African American point of view and will provide an alphabet with statements on each card to aid in the development of self-esteem. It will rebuild and rekindle respect, allow us to dream, set goals, and accomplish what we set out to do. It will help teachers and parents help children recognize what is in all of us as well as where we have come from. This resource is appropriate for preschool - primary grades.

Title: Americans All
Author: National Education Program
Keywords: immigration immigrants asian european mexican latino african native indian photographs puerto rican black timeline teacher's guide curriculum resource books ethnic student materials ellis island statue of liberty angel island simulation the peopling of america synoptic history music posters

Target Audience: Middle School Teachers and Students
Abstract: This extensive teacher tool kit contains a teacher's manual, a teacher's guide, information on American immigration, a timeline, sheet music for America's people, a collection of photographs and posters, information on African Americans, Native Americans, Asian Americans, European Americans, Mexican Americans and Puerto Rican Americans. It also includes information on the Statue of Liberty, Ellis Island, Angel Island, simulation of the people coming to and living within America and a synoptic history. The entire packet comes in an easy to handle toolkit with identification tabs for easy access. The teacher's guide, resource books, ethnic booklets and student materials will prove useful in grades 7 - 9.

Title: An Antiracist / Multicultural Education Interdisciplinary curriculum development and implementation Pilot-Study with Teachers
Author: Donaldson, Karen
Keywords: racism racist antiracist multicultural education interdisciplinary curriculum units of study university research teacher bias black african american minority institutional racism
Target Audience: Adult Researchers, Teachers, Educators and Administrators
Abstract: The purpose of this handbook is to assist teachers in addressing racism within themselves, their students, the curriculum, and the total school environment. In today's society, it is necessary to include the contributions and experiences of many cultures, thereby enabling the future success of all students; however, many teachers are not equipped to teach a multicultural or issue-related curriculum. With regard to racism, most teachers are unaware of the existence of racism in schools, how it is manifested, and how it may affect student learning. Yet, throughout our nation, schools report racist acts on a regular basis. Although many institutions and educators desire anti-racist alternatives, very little research and even less instruction exists in the areas of teacher and student racism awareness and anti-racist curriculum implementation. It is, therefore, imperative to begin such research and implementation, thus creating models to be used nation-wide. This handbook is one such model. The four components in the handbook will be (1) Racism Awareness, (2) Racism in United States Schools, (3) Understanding Racism Through Students' Eyes, and (4) Antiracist Lesson

Ideas for K-12 Classrooms. Each component is designed to enhance racism awareness and antiracist instruction.

Call No. DR.219.1

Title: An Idea Book on Planning : Implementing Schoolwide Programs

Author: Pechman, Ellen

Keywords: programs research based practices goals planning district consolidated planning team technical assistance data collection analysis goal setting funds school improvement accountability standards tools resources

Target Audience: Adult Administrators, Policy Makers, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: This book focuses on the issues of school wide program planning and combining resources. It contains many examples from various schools that illustrate the issues discussed. Thorough assessment of needs and school wide planning are essential for comprehensively upgrading the effectiveness of a school. Two appendices in Volume 1 provide tools for planning school wide programs and extensive information about print, video, and internet resources available to planners. This resource may be drawn upon for guidance examples of successes within schools that include low achieving students toward improvement and the meeting challenges of current standards.

Call No. DR.217.1

Title: Anti-Bias Curriculum : Tools for Empowering Young Children

Author: Derman-Sparks, Louise

Keywords: prejudice racism curriculum tools empower early childhood education oppression fairness units of study resource teacher primary climate disabilities gender cultural stereotype activism holiday celebrations parents problem solving implementation evaluation strategies clubs support groups plan stories themes sexism

Target Audience: Pre-K – Primary Teachers and Parents

Abstract: Anti-bias curriculum embraces an educational philosophy as well as specific techniques and content. The publication is value base: Differences are good; oppressive ideas and behaviors are not. It sets up a creative tension between respecting differences and not accepting unfair beliefs and acts. It asks teachers and children to confront troublesome issues rather than covering them up. An anti-bias perspective is integral to all aspects of daily classroom life. This publication is not a recipe book. Using its principles and methodology, teachers (and parents who choose to use the book) must recreate anti-bias curriculum in their setting in relation to specific groups of children and families. Through anti-bias curriculum, teachers enable every child to achieve the ultimate goal of early childhood education; the development of each child to her or his fullest potential.

Title: Appalachian Idea Book

Author: Costanzo, Tina / Napier, Felicia / Voris, Connie / Sapona, Regina / Lane, Chet / Starner, Nancy / DuPriest, Cheryl / Knipfer, Brenda

Keywords: appalachian activities urban appalachia eastern kentucky heritage

Target Audience: Primary Students, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: This publication is a collection of ideas that will help teachers as they work toward developing an awareness of the Appalachian culture within their students. Many sources were used; books, songs, poetry, personal accounts of urban Appalachians and ideas from committee members.

The book includes activities targeted for students in kindergarten through third grade. Teachers at other grade levels are welcome to use the book.

Title: Around the World with Western Union
Author: Glover, Terry
Keywords: learning journal international work book western union study buddies
Target Audience: Primary Students, Teachers and Parents
Abstract: This booklet is intended primarily for use by students participating in the Western Union Study Buddies tutoring program. Western Union has granted permission for reproduction of this booklet for use with students.

Title: Assertion Skills for Young Women
Author: NiCarthy, Ginny
Keywords: assertion skills women gender social communication
Target Audience: High School – Adult Students and Teachers
Abstract: This publication is for anyone who wants to help young women become assertive and especially for people who work with young women in trouble. It is for people who want to teach assertiveness to individuals or groups and people who have had some training as well as those who are new to the subject.

Title: Basis for Decision
Author: St. Paul Public Schools
Keywords: district change policy decision making school boards long range plan administrative administration reform
Target Audience: District Administrators
Abstract: This document is a community workbook about the St. Paul public schools. It reviews certain needs of the schools, both immediate and long range. It also presents alternative ways of meeting those needs. The purpose of the publication is to help the community participate in making decisions. It is useful as a model for district wide change.

Title: Belle Case La Follette, 1859–1931: A Resource Guide
Author: Riley, Jocelyn
Keywords: women writers language arts history literature social studies government woman
Target Audience: Primary Students and Teachers
Abstract: This publication is designed for use by general readers, program presenters and classroom teachers. Two profiles; one written in 1924 and one written in our own time, introduce the reader to Belle Case La Follette and give a context for her work. Discussion questions follow all sections. The series of resource guides includes Mountain Wolf Woman, Votes for Women, Pioneer Women's Diaries, and Zona Gale: Her Life and Writings and may be borrowed individually or as a set.

Title: Bridges and Boundaries : African Americans and American Jews
Author: The Jewish Museum New York
Keywords: african american cultural identity lesson plans curriculum units of study social studies jewish jews blacks religion resource guide human rights civil rights holocaust history persecution oppression division
Target Audience: High School Students and Teachers
Abstract:: This resource guide enables educators who were unable to bring their students to the Jewish Museum in New York's exhibit of Bridges and Boundaries, to address in the classroom stereotyping, discrimination and prejudice, using a format similar to that of the exhibit. The guide contains introductory essays that have been excerpted from presentations made to teachers at the museum and are applicable to any multicultural learning experience. It also includes lesson plans with objectives, historical background, procedure information, visual literacy information, follow-up activities, student handouts, questions for discussion, student build bridges projects and resources for further investigation. This is an excellent high school curriculum piece and may be adapted for other grade levels.

Tit
CD ROM's

Call No. CD.0100.1

Title: Partners for Learning: Preparing Teachers to Involve Families

Author: Partnership for Family Involvement in Education

Keywords: parent involvement family community program administrator teacher professional development in service teacher preparation assistance district local school

Target Audience: District and School Teachers and Administrators

Abstract: This disk contains presentation materials on educator preparation for family involvement in education that include: speaker's notes and overheads in Microsoft PowerPoint 7.0, a QuickTime video clip from a teleconference hosted by Vice President Al Gore and U.S. Secretary of Education Richard W. Riley, and an HTML publication with examples of effective practice. These materials include work done by Teachers College Columbia University under contract to the US Dept. of Education.

Chapter 1 - Bibliographies and Catalogs

Title: 1999 Arts Resource Directory: Arts Education
Showcases

Author: Kentucky Center for the Arts

Keywords: kentucky artist directory resources

Target Audience: Teachers, Districts, Counselors, Parents and Communities

Abstract: This directory showcases artists available to work in the schools in Kentucky. It outlines their medium, contract fees, facility requirements and contact information.

Call No: BC.301.1

Title: Diversity Directory

Author: The Humanitarium Center for Culture and Diversity

Keywords: organizations directory catalog multiculturalism honor heritage diverse communities fayette county bluegrass lexington community involvement network resources culturally diverse

Target Audience: All of the General Population

Abstract: The Humanitarium Center for Culture and Diversity provides this September, 2000 issue of the Diversity Directory for the Bluegrass Region. This comprehensive resource provides the reader with information such as name, telephone #, fax #, address, website and a brief synopsis of organizations that promote multiculturalism and honor the rich heritage of Fayette County. This is a wonderful and up-to-date guide for locating organizations that represent community efforts in Fayette County. Educators attempting to get community involvement and input for diverse projects may want to look at this guide in order to get ideas for community contacts throughout the state. Fayette County educators will find this helpful as a map toward locating diverse community groups.

Title: Educational Programs That Work : The Catalogue of the National Diffusion Network
Author: National Diffusion Network
Keywords: education programs strategies projects approaches intervention enrichment math literacy mentoring intergenerational extended school services community programs even start plan
Target Audience: All Ages of the General Public
Abstract: This National Diffusion Network resource was compiled to help public and private schools and districts identify suitable and workable programs. It identifies state programs and facilitators and provides highlights, contact numbers, office hours and names. Each of the identified programs within the catalog identifies the suitable audience, a program description, evidence of effectiveness, requirements of the program, cost, services and contacts. Programs are broken down into sections that include Gifted and Talented, Special Education, Migrant/ Adult / Higher Education, Career/ Vocational, Approved Programs that are no longer available, programs by state and programs by content area.

Title: Multicultural Projects Index
Author: Pilger, Mary Anne
Keywords: multicultural projects festivals cultures holidays international crafts guide
Target Audience: Teachers, Students and Parents
Abstract: This index to multicultural handicrafts, foods, games, and activities may be used by educators at all levels to assist children and young adults in finding the information they need to make items from different cultures of the world. The rewards of learning about the culture of one's own heritage, as well as that of others, will result in better understanding. This book will make the task of finding that special item an easier and more fruitful quest.

Title: Resource Center Directory
Author: McComb, Jean
Keywords: bibliography catalog resources curriculum reading material videos films abstracts information
Target Audience: General Public
Abstract: This annotated bibliography provides the reader with abstracts, target audience, author and title of all of the information contained in the Kentucky Department of Education's Division of Equity Resource Center lending library. It contains a glossary of terms and an index of the materials.

Title: Selected Publications of the U.S. Department of Education 1999 Catalog
Author: U.S. Department of Education

Keywords: federal publications education resources list civil rights college financial aid postsecondary institutions early childhood elementary secondary education reform improvement statistics research family business community parent involvement mathematics science reading literacy safe drug-free schools spanish language products teacher quality special education rehabilitative services technology town meetings

Target Audience: Adult Administrators, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: ED Publications is the Education Publications Center for the U.S. Department of Education. This catalog has information for anyone interested in education, including, teachers, parents, students, administrators, policymakers, teacher educators, researchers, journalists, librarians, and others. The catalog presents a list of selected Department products, most of which were published between 1996 and 1998, that are available free from ED Pubs while supplies last. These products are offered to help individuals, schools, colleges and communities address pressing education issues.

Title: The Access Resource Guide: An International Directory of Information on War, Peace and Security

Author: Kincade, William H / Hayner, Priscilla B.

Keywords: access war peace national security

Target Audience: Researchers, Teachers and General Public

Abstract: Recent decades have witnessed the emergence around the world of hundreds of new organizations and research centers concerned with security and peace. This resource guide is an annotated compilation of agencies and organizations with similar security and peace debates. The information is drawn from a computerized Resource Base (currently monitoring more than 1400 organizations and information resources across the spectrum of views.

Title: What Every Girl in School Needs to Know

Author: National Coalition of Girls' Schools

Keywords: education university college women girls gender,

Target Audience: High School Students, Counselors and Parents

Abstract: This publication is designed to offer information to girls researching college or alternative school settings. Parents and counselors will appreciate this information. This publication can help the reader find the way to some of the best places for girls to learn. The National Coalition of Girls' Schools is an organization of 65 girls' boarding and day, private and public schools from across the United States with affiliates in Canada and Australia. While differing in history, tradition, location, academic rigor, extracurricular activities, religious affiliation, size, and philosophies, coalition schools share a core belief in and commitment to the values and advantages of an all-girls school. The coalition is located at 228 Main Street in Concord, Massachusetts, 01742 and their telephone # is (508) 369-3452.

Chapter 2 - Development and Resources

CD-ROM

Title: Reducing Youth Violence : A Comprehensive Approach

Author: University of California, Office of Educational and Community Initiatives

Keywords: violence prevention crime juvenile justice system gangs guns drugs youth research contacts training technical assistance district local state school delinquency delinquent violent

Target Audience: Adult Teachers and Administrators

Abstract: The Minimum Requirements for using this CD ROM are Microsoft Windows 95, Windows 98 or Windows NT, Sound card, 16 bit color graphics (thousands of colors), 16x speed CD-ROM drive (32x recommended) and 32 MB RAM (64 MB recommended)

Reducing youth violence requires a comprehensive approach. This multimedia CD-ROM is organized around a range of strategies (improving the juvenile justice system; reducing gang, gun, and drug violence; providing opportunities for youth; strengthening families; and mobilizing communities) that together offer a comprehensive approach. Under each of these key strategies, thousands of pages offer useful information on youth violence and delinquency prevention, including (1) information derived from illustrative operational programs; (2) current data and information about research and evaluation; and (3) contacts for additional resources, training, and technical assistance. The CD-ROM provides the user with several easy ways to access the information, including searching by types of programs, documents, resources, and services. Users can download text and graphics and use them as templates for their own efforts to reduce youth violence and victimization in their communities. This CD ROM is provided by the US Department of Justice, Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention.

Print:

Title: 10 Effective Steps for Teaching At-Risk Students

Author: Epps, Elvis

Keywords: at risk motivate teaching students steps

Target Audience: Adult Teachers and Counselors

Abstract: This booklet is designed to provide the reader with ways to teach at-risk students. It is developed to be a useful tool in benefiting both teacher and student as learners together. Effective steps that will enhance teaching in a multicultural environment are provided.

Title: A.C.T.I.V.E. Sex Equity in Elementary School Physical Education

Author: Arnett, Chappelle / Adelberger, Audra

Keywords: sex equity women gender physical education

Target Audience: Adult Students and Teachers

Abstract: This packet includes two publications, a competency-based teacher education program and a workshop workbook. The information is developed to attain sex equity in elementary school physical education. The objectives are two fold: to develop a competency standard for physical education teachers in elementary schools and to develop a competency –based teacher education program. The workshop is designed for use as a one-day in-service session, a three to four day in-service course or a five to six session in-service course.

Call No. DR.220.1

Title: A Call to Commitment: Fathers' Involvement in Children's Learning

Author: U.S. Department of Education

Keywords: parent involvement father influence family participation education learning commitment mentor role models male

Target Audience: Parents, Teachers, Administrators and Community Leaders

Abstract: This publication is designed to inform, promote and celebrate fathers' increased participation in children's learning. The U.S. has seen a growth in programs to support fathers in becoming actively involved in their children's learning at school, at early childhood development centers, at childcare centers and throughout the community. The question is, How can we increase this momentum based upon what we have learned and accomplished? Section I of this publication provides the research content for the topic of fathers' involvement. Section II provides a discussion of strategies for improving and extending fathers' involvement in their children's education, whether they are resident or nonresident dads. Section III provides examples of programs that involve fathers in children's learning and their practices. A fact sheet on the Partnership for Family Involvement in Education and a form the reader may fill out to receive more information is included.

Title: A Costly Proposition, Sexual Harassment at Work

Author: BNA Communications Inc.

Keywords: sexual harassment work women equity violence

Target Audience: Professionals, Women, General Public, Districts and Teachers

Abstract: This participant's manual contains information on sexual harassment in the workplace. The manual will help the reader recognize and prevent sexual harassment at work. Sexual harassment is a form of sexual discrimination and, as such, is prohibited by Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the federal law that outlaws discrimination in employment on the basis of race, creed, color, national origin, or sex. This publication is designed to explore both the spirit and the letter of the law on sexual harassment at work. No single program can solve the complex behavior and organizational problems that give rise to sexual harassment and complicated work relationships. This program, however, offers you the opportunity to become more aware of the issues involved, and to understand the importance of resolving them.

Title: A Handbook for Teaching Vietnamese - Speaking

Students

Author: California State Department of Education

Keywords: vietnamese esl english second language limited proficiency asian

Target Audience: Teachers

Abstract: The rapid increase of minority language populations poses significant challenges to school districts. There have been insufficient bilingual resources to assist these children. To meet the need, the Department of Education, Office of Bilingual Bi-cultural Education of California developed a series of handbooks designed to assist bilingual/ESL teachers, counselors, school administrators, and teacher training institutions in establishing programmatic, curricular and instructional policies. These handbooks address the unique historical, sociocultural and linguistic characteristics of each group. They also provide educational resources such as community organizations and classroom instructional materials. It is the department's hope that these handbooks will help us improve educational services to Vietnamese language minority children. It is our intent to address some of those concerns.

Title: A Mindset for Math: Techniques for Identifying and Working with Math-Anxious Girls

Author: Genshaft, Judy / Naglieri, Jack / The Ohio State University / Women's Educational Equity Act Program, U.S. Department of Education

Keywords: girls women math anxiety treatment programs identifying fear intimidation

Target Audience: Teachers, Counselors and Administrators

Abstract: Math anxiety has been defined as an unspecified fear related to a mathematical experience.

Girls in particular are affected by this anxiety. Described in this guide are the techniques used in a math-anxiety treatment project. All eighth- and tenth-grade students in two junior high schools and two high schools in a large urban school district were evaluated to determine their math-anxiety and math-achievement levels. 45 junior high and 45 high school girls were selected from this large pool of students. These young women participated in a six-week, twelve-lesson project designed to reduce anxiety and improve attitudes toward and achievement in mathematics.

Title: A World of Difference : Anti-bias Study Guide Secondary Level

Author: Anti-Defamation League

Keywords: anti bias bigotry prejudice hate violence name calling curriculum lesson plans high school study guide discrimination conflict

Age: High School Students and Teachers

Abstract: A World of Difference Institute Anti-Bias Study Guide has been prepared for educators to use primarily with students in grades 9-12 as supplementary material to enhance existing curricula. The materials have been designed to assist educators and students in exploring ways to ensure that the tenets of freedom and equality on which this country was built become realities. The Study Guide provides teachers with lessons in skills to encourage students to 1/ explore societal issues arising from bias, bigotry and discrimination 2/ improve critical-thinking skills 3/ examine diverse viewpoints and 4/ take leadership roles in promoting justice and equity in their schools, communities and society at large.

Title: A World of Difference : Anti-bias Study Guide Primary Level

Author: Anti-Defamation League

Keywords: anti bias bigotry prejudice hate violence name calling curriculum lesson plans primary study guide discrimination conflict

Age: Primary Students and Teachers

Abstract: A World of Difference Institute Anti-Bias Study Guide has been prepared for educators to use primarily with students in primary grades as supplementary material to enhance existing curricula. The materials have been designed to assist educators and students in exploring ways to ensure that the tenets of freedom and equality on which this country was built become realities. The Study Guide provides teachers with lessons in skills to encourage students to 1/ explore societal issues arising from bias, bigotry and discrimination 2/ improve critical-thinking skills 3/ examine diverse viewpoints and 4/ take leadership roles in promoting justice and equity in their schools, communities and society at large.

Title: Afro-American Literature: Drama, Nonfiction, Fiction,
Poetry

Author: Adams, William / Conn, Peter / Slepian, Barry

Keywords: black african american history literature drama nonfiction poetry writers

Target Audience: Middle School Students and Teachers

Abstract: This selection of African American literature is written by and about black americans. The aim is to present interesting works by well-known and respected writers rather than an historical approach to the study of literature. A series of questions for discussion and composition are presented to provoke thinking around the general themes of the works presented. The set includes a teachers guide and student guide for fiction, nonfiction, and drama and poetry. There are four drama teacher's guides and two student guides, three fiction teachers guides and one student guide, three nonfiction teacher guides and one student guide and three teachers guides for poetry. The set is appropriate for middle school.

Title: After-School Program: Keeping Children Safe and Smart

Author: Chung, An-Me

Keywords: extended school after school programs latch key kids children safety achievement learning community at-risk

Target Audience: Adult Administrators, Teachers, Parents, Community Leaders and Districts

Abstract: Today, more than 28 million school-age children have parents who work outside the home. An estimated five to seven million, and as many as 15 million "latch key children" return to an empty home after school. When the school bell rings, the anxiety for parents often just begins. They worry about whether their children are safe, whether they are susceptible to drugs and crime. In response to this pressing concern, many communities have created after-school programs to keep children and youth out of trouble and engaged in activities that help them learn. This focuses exclusively on the benefits children receive in terms of increased safety, reduced risk-taking, and improved learning. Topics covered include the potential of after school programs for keeping children on the right track, enhancing academic achievement, supporting social development and relationships with adults and peers, strengthening schools, families and communities and components of exemplary programs that work. The publication provides additional resources for communities who are considering putting programs together. Included in resources are names, addresses and websites

Title: AlphaBlack Culture Beginning Activity Book

Author: Isaac, Mia

Keywords: beginning culture pre-school kindergarten alphabet self esteem

Target Audience: K - Primary Students and Teachers

Abstract: This publication is written from an African American point of view and will provide an alphabet with statements on each card to aid in the development of self-esteem. It will rebuild and rekindle respect, allow us to dream, set goals, and accomplish what we set out to do. It will help teachers and parents help children recognize what is in all of us as well as where we have come from. This resource is appropriate for preschool - primary grades.

Title: Americans All

Author: National Education Program

Keywords: immigration immigrants asian european mexican latino african native indian photographs puerto rican black timeline teacher's guide curriculum resource books ethnic student materials ellis island statue of liberty angel island simulation the peopling of america synoptic history music posters

Target Audience: Middle School Teachers and Students

Abstract: This extensive teacher tool kit contains a teacher's manual, a teacher's guide, information on American immigration, a timeline, sheet music for America's people, a collection of photographs and posters, information on African Americans, Native Americans, Asian Americans, European Americans, Mexican Americans and Puerto Rican Americans. It also includes information on the Statue of Liberty, Ellis Island, Angel Island, simulation of the people coming to and living within America and a synoptic history. The entire packet comes in an easy to handle toolkit with identification tabs for easy access. The teacher's guide, resource books, ethnic booklets and student materials will prove useful in grades 7 - 9.

Title: An Antiracist / Multicultural Education Interdisciplinary curriculum development and implementation Pilot-Study with Teachers

Author: Donaldson, Karen

Keywords: racism racist antiracist multicultural education interdisciplinary curriculum units of study university research teacher bias black african american minority institutional racism

Target Audience: Adult Researchers, Teachers, Educators and Administrators

Abstract: The purpose of this handbook is to assist teachers in addressing racism within themselves, their students, the curriculum, and the total school environment. In today's society, it is necessary to include the contributions and experiences of many cultures, thereby enabling the future success of all students; however, many teachers are not equipped to teach a multicultural or issue-related curriculum. With regard to racism, most teachers are unaware of the existence of racism in schools, how it is manifested, and how it may affect student learning. Yet, throughout our nation, schools report racist acts on a regular basis. Although many institutions and educators desire anti-racist alternatives, very little research and even less instruction exists in the areas of teacher and student racism awareness and anti-racist curriculum implementation. It is, therefore, imperative to begin such research and implementation, thus creating models to be used nation-wide. This handbook is one such model. The four components in the handbook will be (1) Racism Awareness, (2) Racism in United States Schools, (3) Understanding Racism Through Students' Eyes, and (4) Antiracist Lesson Ideas for K-12 Classrooms. Each component is designed to enhance racism awareness and antiracist instruction.

Call No. DR.219.1

Title: An Idea Book on Planning : Implementing Schoolwide Programs

Author: Pechman, Ellen

Keywords: programs research based practices goals planning district consolidated planning team technical assistance data collection analysis goal setting funds school improvement accountability standards tools resources

Target Audience: Adult Administrators, Policy Makers, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: This book focuses on the issues of school wide program planning and combining resources. It contains many examples from various schools that illustrate the issues discussed. Thorough assessment of needs and school wide planning are essential for comprehensively upgrading the effectiveness of a school. Two appendices in Volume 1 provide tools for planning school wide programs and extensive information about print, video, and internet resources available to planners. This resource may be drawn upon for guidance examples of successes within schools that include low achieving students toward improvement and the meeting challenges of current standards.

Call No. DR.217.1

Title: Anti-Bias Curriculum : Tools for Empowering Young Children

Author: Derman-Sparks, Louise

Keywords: prejudice racism curriculum tools empower early childhood education oppression fairness units of study resource teacher primary climate disabilities gender cultural stereotype activism holiday celebrations parents problem solving implementation evaluation strategies clubs support groups plan stories themes sexism

Target Audience: Pre-K – Primary Teachers and Parents

Abstract: Anti-bias curriculum embraces an educational philosophy as well as specific techniques and content. The publication is value base: Differences are good; oppressive ideas and behaviors are not. It sets up a creative tension between respecting differences and not accepting unfair beliefs and acts. It asks teachers and children to confront troublesome issues rather than covering them up. An anti-bias perspective is integral to all aspects of daily classroom life. This publication is not a recipe book. Using its principles and methodology, teachers (and parents who choose to use the book) must recreate anti-bias curriculum in their setting in relation to specific groups of children and families. Through anti-bias curriculum, teachers enable every child to achieve the ultimate goal of early childhood education; the development of each child to her or his fullest potential.

Title: Appalachian Idea Book

Author: Costanzo, Tina / Napier, Felicia / Voris, Connie / Sapona, Regina / Lane, Chet / Starner, Nancy / DuPriest, Cheryl / Knipfer, Brenda

Keywords: appalachian activities urban appalachia eastern kentucky heritage

Target Audience: Primary Students, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: This publication is a collection of ideas that will help teachers as they work toward developing an awareness of the Appalachian culture within their students. Many sources were used; books, songs, poetry, personal accounts of urban Appalachians and ideas from committee members. The book includes activities targeted for students in kindergarten through third grade. Teachers at other grade levels are welcome to use the book.

Title: Around the World with Western Union

Author: Glover, Terry

Keywords: learning journal international work book western union study buddies

Target Audience: Primary Students, Teachers and Parents

Abstract: This booklet is intended primarily for use by students participating in the Western Union Study Buddies tutoring program. Western Union has granted permission for reproduction of this booklet for use with students.

Title: Assertion Skills for Young Women

Author: NiCarthy, Ginny

Keywords: assertion skills women gender social communication

Target Audience: High School – Adult Students and Teachers

Abstract: This publication is for anyone who wants to help young women become assertive and especially for people who work with young women in trouble. It is for people who want to teach assertiveness to individuals or groups and people who have had some training as well as those who are new to the subject.

Title: Basis for Decision

Author: St. Paul Public Schools

Keywords: district change policy decision making school boards long range plan administrative